BRITISH PROMISE TO LET JAPAN GO AHEAD IN CHINA

Disown 'Buy Hitler Peace' Scheme.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 24.—Prime Minister Chamberlain today promised the Japanese government that Great Britain will not obstruct the Japanese army in its war on China. He also disowned any plans to buy European peace with a 5 billion dollar loan to Adolf Hitler.

Neville Chamberlain.

The two statements were delivered in the house of commons.

The prime minister announced terms of a preliminary agreement with Japan, which grew out of a fierce campaign against Britain in Japan and in Japanese occupied areas of China.

Text of Agreement.

Chamberlain read the text of the agreement:

"His majesty's government in the United Kingdom fully recognize the actual situation in China, where hostilities on a large scale are in progress and note that as long as that state of affairs continues to exist the Japanese forces in China have special requirements for the purpose of safeguarding their own security and maintaining public order in the regions under their control and that they have to suppress or remove any such acts or causes as will obstruct them or benefit their enemy.

"His majesty's government have no intention of countenancing any acts or measures prejudicial to the attainment of the above mentioned objects by the Japanese forces and they will take this opportunity to confirm their policy in this respect by making it plain to British authorities and British nationals in China that they should refrain from such acts and measures."

[In Tokio government and military leaders warned the public against taking the British promise at its face value. The commander of the Japanese garrison at Tientsin announced the economic blockade of the British and French concessions would be continued.]

Faces Barrage of Questions.

Lieutenant Commander R. Fletcher, Laborite, demanded that nothing be arranged in talks between Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita of Japan and Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, British ambassador to Tokio, which might impair Chinese currency or the British government's right to extend credits to the Chinese government.

Chamberlain gave such assurance. He added that future discussions would be confined to the British-Japanese conflict at Tientsin.

Rejects Laborite's Hint.

The prime minister rejected a suggestion by Ernst Shinwell, Laborite, that the British government has abandoned the Chinese and now is ranged alongside the Japanese.

Chamberlain insisted the Tokio agreement did not constitute de facto recognition of Japanese sovereignty over territory under control of the Japanese, but refused to define what was meant by "effective Japanese control." He declared that British policy toward China was unchanged.

Instead of denouncing Robert Spear Hudson, overseas trade secretary, for discussing with a Nazi agent a plan to buy peace from Hitler, Chamberlain tried to explain away the incident. He told commons that Hudson was only putting forth his "personal view."

Sees No Harm In Talk.

Despite predictions that Hudson would be forced to resign, Chamberlain gave no indications of ousting him. He said he saw no harm in Hudson's talk last week with Dr. Helmuth Wohlthat, German trade emissary and right hand man of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, head of the reich's drive for self sufficiency.

The prime minister denied his government was considering making a loan to Hitler and said the cabinet

LILY PONS SINGS TO A PARK JAM FULL OF PEOPLE

Throng Dumfounds the Estimators.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

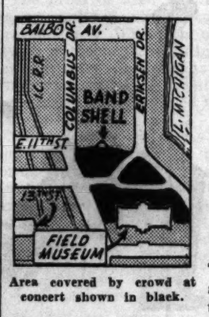
If Grant park had a roof it would have been raised last night. The greatest crowd in the history of the lake front concerts yelled "Bravo," "Brava," "Hey," and even "Whoa"—this last for no apparent reason. There were shrill whistles, loud hand clappings, and every sort of noise ever heard at an opera performance or a football game.



Area covered by crowd at concert shown in black.

The lures which drew this huge throng to Grant park were, first, Lily Pons, the comely little French soprano, and, second, her conductor-husband, Andre Kostelanetz. Other lures, it must be admitted, were the absence of an admission fee and the fact that Grant park was one of the most comfortable spots in the whole hot city last evening.

The Biggest! The Greatest!

This swarm of people dumfounded even the men whose business it is to estimate crowds at a glance. It was the biggest and the greatest and the record—and beyond this sort of statement they would not go. This was a crowd which started to come in the early morning and which stayed until close to 11 at night to see La Pons ride out and to strain ribs and sprain wrists in a successful effort to break the police lines for a last glimpse of her. There was great excitement in this crush, but no serious injuries.

These people came from every part of Chicagoland and from every condition of life. There were dowagers and tramps, a tattooed seaman and a flowerlike debutante. They filled the great sky roofed auditorium from 11th street to 13th and from Eriksen to Columbus drive. They sat upon the steps of the Field museum and clustered about the Columbus monument.

Crowd Waits All Day.

The first customer showed up at 7—and this means 7 a. m., mind you! All through the sunny day people straggled out to the lake front to establish their rights to seats and to spend the long hours talking or reading or embroidering or simply sunning themselves.

Toward 8 o'clock a murmur ran through the throng. The men of the Chicago City Opera orchestra began taking their places on the stage of the band shell. Electric lights went on, looking puny and unfestal under the broad evening sky. At 8 the announcer brought Mr. Kostelanetz to the stage, and for the first, but not the last time, the crowds cheered.

Lily—A Stunning Sight.

A few minutes later, at the words, "Lily Pons," a tremendous "O-o-o-h h" seemed to drown for the moment even the applause and cheers. As stunning a sight as Grant park has ever seen, Miss Pons walked upon the stage and bowed and bowed her acknowledgments.

The great coloratura seemed as nervous as anybody else would be as the crowds cheered and the lights blazed and the cameramen gathered clicking and flashing around her. She moistened her lips and pulled anxiously at her neckpiece. She began the Caro Nome from "Rigoletto" and went heroically through it, though bulbs continued to flash in her face and the click of cameras beat a novel rhythm to her song.

On and on through a heavy program of operatic and other display airs went the excellent little trouper. Every final note let loose a torrent of applause.

A climax of the evening came when Miss Pons and Mr. Kostelanetz brought to the stage with them James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians. He spoke of possible future improvements in Grant park music facilities.

Horner Leases Highland Park Home for Rest

Gov. Henry Horner will move to a lake front home in Highland Park for the months of August and September, it was learned yesterday. Preparations for his arrival are being made, and the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Holmes, have promised to move out by Monday. Holmes is a Chicago attorney.

The house where the governor will continue convalescing from his illness of last November is at 903 Sheridan road, about midway between the Moraine hotel and Fort Sheridan.

Residence Well Secluded.

Located on a bluff about 75 feet above the lake, the house is of English architecture. Trees and flowers cover the surrounding two acres, and the only approach is by a private road.

The house was built twelve years ago at a cost said to have been about $40,000. It has six bedrooms and four baths and is three stories high. The property has a lake frontage of 270 feet.

Study on Second Floor.

The second floor, where the governor is expected to spend much of his time, is on a level with the front door. On this floor are the master bedroom, with eight windows and an uninterrupted view of the lake, the study, and the one and a half story living room.

The house itself is covered with ivy and surrounded by shrubbery and flowers. There are roses, hollyhocks, petunias, zinnias, larkspur, marigolds, and many other blooms. It is not known how many of his staff the governor will bring with him. Springfield sources close to Mr. Horner said he probably would be busy considering recent legislation there for at least another week.

Flying Fortress Carries 5½ Tons 4½ Miles High

Washington, D. C., July 24 [Special.]—An army air corps flying fortress airplane today established a national record for altitude with a 11,023 pound load. Establishment of the record was announced by the war department. The fortress was operated from Langley field by the regular combat crew. Barographs calibrated by the bureau of standards indicate an altitude of 23,800 feet was reached.

TOO PUDGY, DR. DAFOE JOINS THE QUINTS IN REDUCING EXERCISES

CALLANDER, Ont., July 24 [Special].—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, concerned about his somewhat pudgy figure, has joined the Dionne quintuplets in physical training exercises. The quints long have gone through the motions of exercising, but since starting a diet the routine has become more rigid.

The quints and their doctor march on tip-toe and bend down to touch the floor to the rhythm of music from "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Dr. Dafoe said the diet and exercise will result in the quints' remaining at their present weight, which is just what he wants. Dr. Dafoe would not say what the result had been in his own case, but said he "was feeling right perky."

Now They're Charging $1 for a Look at White House

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—A tourist recently remarked that he'd paid $1 for a card to visit the executive mansion. Inquiry by the secret service disclosed that others also had purchased cards, which are distributed free of charge to friends of congressmen and other officials. They entitle the bearer to a more extensive White House tour than is given the ordinary visitor. Secret service agents want to find out who's been selling the cards, which are easily obtained, to gullible tourists.

Harold Lloyd, in Horseshoe Game, Gets Ringer on Nose

Hollywood, Cal., July 24 (AP).—Harold Lloyd, with a bandage between his eyes which covered three stitches, gave this explanation: He and his daughter, Gloria, were playing a game of indoor horseshoes Saturday night. The shoes were made of rubber—with a steel core. Gloria threw a ringer. The movie comedian, putting his face within a few inches of the peg, challenged Gloria to toss another ringer. She did, but around daddy's nose.

Plan New Color Scheme So Parkers Won't See Red

Wausau, Wis., July 24 [Special].—Police Chief Walter English suspects that the red hue of a parking ticket enrages a motorist and makes him resent the fine he has to pay. He asked policemen today to suggest more soothing colors.

Quiz Doctor's Son in Benton Porch Slaying

Benton, Ill., July 24 [Special].—The slaying of Mrs. George W. Gore Sr., second wife of a widely known surgeon, remained submerged in mystery tonight despite the long questioning of her stepson, George W. Gore Jr., and his wife, Kathryn. Both were detained in the county jail as witnesses.

The two denied any knowledge of the slaying and appeared to have an unbreakable alibi. They said they were with another couple week-ending in the Ozark mountains of Missouri when the slaying took place early Sunday.

New developments in the case were forecast by State's Attorney Rea Jones after he had talked with young Gore for several hours. Jones said he had obtained information which prompted a week's postponement of an inquest.

Investigators questioned the husband of the slain woman, Dr. George W. Gore, 65 years old, a wealthy surgical specialist with an extensive practice in a number of southern Illinois towns.

Mrs. Gore, who was 45, was killed when she arose from bed, being awakened by the shattering of a window in her sleeping porch bedroom, her husband said. Five shots struck her in the body. The doctor said he crouched beneath the bed, afraid to turn on lights for fear the slayer would fire at him.

Cousin Reviews Family History.

Young Gore, 30 years old and a former student at the University of Illinois, was brought here with his wife this afternoon from Cape Girardeau, Mo., where he managed a medical office for his father. He is being represented in the case by his cousin, Attorney Carl Choisser, publisher of the Benton Evening News and a former state representative.

Choisser said young Gore at first resented his father's marriage to the slain woman two years ago—a year after the death of his mother.

"Later, however, they became friends," Choisser said. "She visited him only two weeks ago in Cape Girardeau. She and Dr. Gore were rearing young Gore's daughter by his first marriage, Frances, 5 years old. Both young Gore and his wife were very grateful for this help and had no reason for animosity toward the slain woman."

Foils Holdup by Disarming Office Raider

For four years Policeman Edward Baker has been patroling a beat on south side streets. Seldom has anything eventful happened to color the routine of his duty. He has been assigned occasionally to track down stolen automobiles and to investigate burglaries, but mostly he has just stuck to his regular job.

Yesterday afternoon Policeman Baker was pounding his beat as usual. He was to be relieved in half an hour. Then he came to the Chicago City Bank and Trust company, 815 West 63d street.

At the same moment, in the second floor offices of the Local Loan company, 821 West 63d street, a gunman was leaning on the counter at the cashier's cage, poking a revolver between the bars at Miss Bernice Hale, the cashier.

Manager Sees Gunman.

She turned to get it for him. Forty-five customers and other employés were in the office. Of them all, only Millard C. White, office manager, saw what was happening.

White slipped out the door and ran downstairs. When he reached the sidewalk he saw Baker. The policeman ran back to the office with him.

As they entered, the robber wheeled, pointed his loaded revolver at Baker and shouted: "Stay away from me or I'll kill you!"

Baker, with his own gun drawn, advanced toward the gunman. Calmly he said: "You'd better not shoot, boy. I can shoot, too."

Policeman Grabs Bandit.

At the Englewood station the robber identified himself as John Curtin, alias Burke. He said he was 21 years old and lived at 706 Sheridan road.

Curtin told Capt. Eugene Barry that he had deserted from Fort Sheridan last May. Since then, he said, he has held up nine loan offices, two theaters, two drug stores, a Western Union branch office, and several other places, all on the south side. He said his total loot was $3,000. He was planning, he said, to rob three Indiana banks.

In a moment of boastfulness Curtin vowed he never would go to prison. "I'll escape somehow," he said.

But in a more sober moment he praised his captor. "You had lots of nerve," he told Policeman Baker. "I had my finger on the trigger."

"Routine Job," Says Captor.

"It was just a routine job," replied Baker.

Baker has been on the force four years, all of which time he has been assigned to the Englewood station. His father, John, is a retired police sergeant. His wife, Loretta, is the daughter of a retired policeman, John Clancy, and the sister of two policemen, Bernard, assigned to the South Park district, and Edward, assigned to the motorcycle division.

CONGRESSMEN HIT 800 MILLION HOUSING PLAN

Viewed as Scheme to Thwart Debt Limit.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—The 800 million dollar Wagner housing bill, a major part of President Roosevelt's multi-billion dollar lending-spending scheme, was shelved today by the house rules committee. The committee refused to grant a special rule to take the bill to the house floor.

Rep. Leo E. Allen reveals fears of New Deal trickery.

The committee's action caused concern on the part of administration leaders, not only because it probably means death for the housing bill at this session but because of the possibility that the whole 3 billion 460 million dollar lending-spending program will meet a similar fate.

The main bill, carrying 2 billion, 660 million dollars in lending-spending authorizations, has yet to be reported by the house banking and currency committee. If the bill gets over that hurdle, it will face the hostile rules committee.

Move to Slash 850 Millions.

The senate, which had been expected to begin debating the lending-spending bill today, occupied the entire day's session with other matters. The only action taken with reference to the lending-spending scheme was by Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], who introduced a series of amendments to lop another 850 millions from the total and to limit the program to one year.

The senate banking and currency committee cut the bill down to 2 billion 390 million dollars. Senator Byrd's amendments would eliminate 350 million for miscellaneous public works and 500 million for toll roads and bridges. Another amendment would subject all securities issued by the Reconstruction Finance corporation—to finance the lending-spending program—to federal, state, and local taxation.

Barkley Demands Speed.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], sponsor of the lending-spending bill, manifested impatience with the lack of progress on the proposed legislation. He said he had conferred with house leaders and hoped that congress could adjourn sine die by the middle of next week. But in order to dispose of the lending-spending bill by that time, he said it would be necessary to begin senate sessions an hour earlier and hold night sessions.

The house rules committee held up the housing bill after a series of witnesses had appeared to denounce it during an all day committee session. The measure, already passed by the senate, would increase the lending limit of the United States housing authority from 800 million to 1 billion 600 million dollars. Also, it would increase the annual subsidies paid by the federal government for rent reductions from 28 million to 73 million. These subsidies would continue for sixty years.

Debt Trap Feared.

Representative Leo E. Allen [R., Ill.], a member of the rules committee, declared the committee's decision had been prompted by a fear of both Democratic and Republican members that the proposal merely was one of the administration stratagems to pledge the government in excess of the 45 billion dollar national debt limitation.

"We feared the New Deal wants to obligate the government beyond the debt limitation and put congress in a spot where it cannot help but raise the 45 billion dollar limit," he said.

"If this bill passed, it would put the word of the government into a sixty year agreement calling for absolute contributions, without a chance of recovery, of four billions 380 millions of dollars."

"England gave up its housing program before it broke the exchequer."

Representative Albert A. Gore [D., Tenn.] told the committee.

Wage-Hour Decision Today.

Amendments to the wage-hour act will be considered by the rules committee tomorrow. In addition to exempting thousands of low wage workers in the south from the minimum wage provisions, the amendments propose the exemption of clerical and other workers in the white collar class who make more than $200 a month.

Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour administrator, withdrew his support last week from this proposal, saying that organized labor opposes it. Labor had performed such a good job of helping him in administration of the act, he remarked, that it would not be proper for him to support a labor-opposed amendment.

ORDER TWO HELD IN FATAL BEATING OF MYSTERY MAN

A coroner's jury in Elgin recommended yesterday that Christian Sell, 24 years old, and Russell Stewart, 20, be held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter for the death of William Modroch, 57. Modroch died last Saturday after he had been beaten in his room in the Washington hotel, 100 Division street, Elgin.

Russell Stewart.

His death revealed him as a man of mystery. For thirty-five years he had lived in Elgin under the name Jack Adams. During that time he had been receiving a private income from relatives in Cleveland. His sister, Mrs. Josephine Kohler, is the widow of a former mayor of Cleveland.

At the inquest yesterday Sell testified he struck Modroch in the latter's room during a quarrel. Sell said Modroch tried to strike him first. Stewart was with Sell, but had no part in the fight, he said. Modroch's relatives were represented by Arthur H. Mattmueller a Cleveland business man and nephew of Modroch. Asked why his uncle had lived in Elgin under an assumed name, Mattmueller said: "It probably was just a whim on his part."

C. I. O. ORDERS ARMOUR PLANT PROTEST TODAY

Stewards of the Packinghouse Workers' organizing committee, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, at a meeting last night ordered a walkout demonstration at the 31st street plant of Armour & Co. to take place at noon today. Union officials said that approximately 800 men would cease work.

Herbert March, district chief of the P. W. O. C., said the dispute arose over the company's refusal to meet with the union's grievance committee on the case of a union employé, who was transferred to a lower paid job.

At a meeting of national P. W. O. C. delegates last week union leaders were authorized to call a national strike against Armour & Co. in connection with the union's efforts to negotiate wage contracts for its members. The company maintains disputes should be placed before the National Labor Relations board.

Three Bullets Hit Woman's Porch; Arrest Neighbor

Three bullets crashed through the glassed-in rear porch of Mrs. Catherine Satala at 5724 South Richmond street late yesterday. Neighbors told Chicago Lawn police the shots were fired from the attic of the home of Joseph Cihak, 71 years old, at 5723 South Sacramento avenue, across the alley. Cihak said he knew nothing about the shots, but police found an antique Springfield army rifle in his attic. They said it had been fired recently and that the three bullets found on the Satala porch were of the type used in the gun. Cihak was charged with disorderly conduct.

Woman Calls the Cops, but They Rule Nudism Is O.K.

Boston, Mass., July 24 (AP).—The long arm of the law reached out hurriedly today when an indignant woman demanded that police stop a shocking display of nudity at the Russell Dore home. A cruising car loaded with officers sped to the scene—and found eleven month old Bruce Bugbee Dorr taking his sun bath in his birthday suit. The grinning officers, some fathers themselves, ruled that Bruce could continue his sun bathing, sans diapers or clothing, as long as he pleased.

HOUSING PROJECT CONTRACT AWARD HALTED BY WRIT

Seek to Open 8 Million Job to All Bidders.

The Chicago Housing authority was temporarily enjoined by Judge John J. Lupe yesterday from awarding all contracts for construction of the $8,000,000 Ida B. Wells housing project to one contractor. Bids on the project, at Vincennes avenue and 39th street, were to have been opened today.

Judge Lupe issued the injunction upon the petition of Attorneys Edgar A. and Frederick C. Jonas, representing Robert C. Geigel, 1431 Lunt avenue, an insurance broker, who filed the suit as a taxpayer. The petition accused the housing authority of unfair discrimination against most of the city's contractors.

The suit alleged that if the contract is awarded on a lump sum basis, construction costs will be increased greatly and rents will be higher for the 1,665 families of limited income who are to occupy the apartments. The petition declared that the housing authority is aware of this.

CHA Defense Cited.

The suit alleged that the CHA defends its plan on the ground that any other program would place additional work on its architects in separating the various contracts and in keeping separate records.

The attorneys contended that under the present program not more than six contractors will be able to submit bids. The suit said many responsible and competent bidders here and elsewhere have been shut out of competitive bidding by their inability to supply the necessary high bonds and by their inability to finance such a vast contract.

It also was asserted that if the bidding is opened to all types of contractors, covering all phases of construction, the costs can be lowered. As it is, the bill said, costs will be increased by the general contractor subleasing jobs for mechanical equipment, and for heating, electrical, and plumbing materials.

Separate Bidding Sought.

The suit said several mechanical equipment contractors have conferred with CHA officials seeking a separation of bids, on the ground that a saving of $200,000 or $400,000 could be achieved in mechanical work alone.

Joseph Grossman, assistant corporation counsel, as attorney for the housing authority, objected to the court "substituting his judgment for that of the authority when only the manner in which contracts are to be awarded is concerned."

Judge Lupe said the theories under which the injunction is sought should be examined in detail because taxpayers' money is involved.

9 NORTH SHORE GIRL SHOPLIFTERS WIN PROBATION

Nine North Shore girls, who said they wanted luxuries and stole them for a thrill, pleaded guilty to shoplifting charges in the Lake county court in Waukegan yesterday. Judge Perry L. Persons lectured them on the evils of crime and placed them on probation for a year.

The girls, all in their teens, were arrested July 11. They confessed they had been raiding Waukegan stores for more than a year.

The terms of the probation provide that the girls must stay out of taverns, live at home, and report once a month to the probation officer.

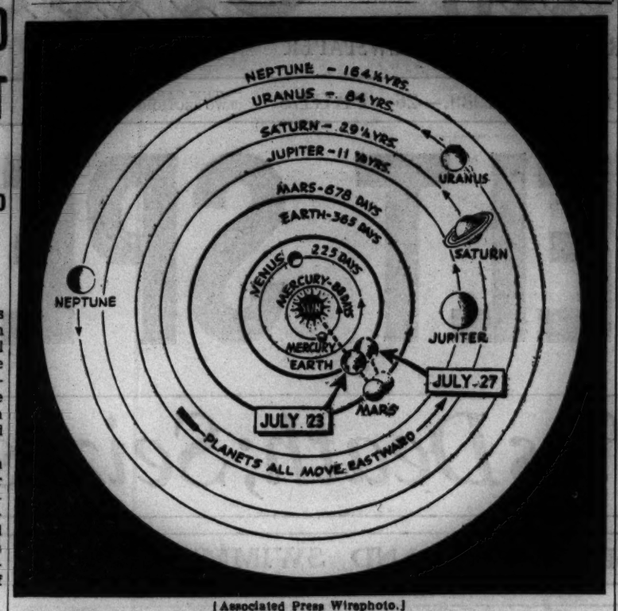
Astronomers Prepare to Study Mars



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Mars will be closer to the earth on Thursday than at any time in the last fifteen years, even closer than on last Sunday. Astronomers in the southern hemisphere are making preparations to study the planet. The figures opposite the names of the various planets indicate time required for each to complete its orbit around the sun.

Looking for Life

The planet Mars will be the closest to the earth in 15 years next Thursday night—a mere 36,033,000 miles—and astronomers are observing the reunion with interest because it may give them a chance to determine whether there is any life on our red neighbor of the night skies.

Mars and our earth move around the sun on neighboring paths, the earth at a speed of 18½ miles a second and Mars at 15 miles a second. Mars has the outside track.

The two planets are now on the same side of the sun, in fact, last Sunday they were exactly in line with the sun. At that time to a man on Mars, if there are any men there, the earth would have looked like a black spot traveling across the face of the sun.

The reason that the two planets will be closer together next Thursday than last Sunday is because their paths are not circles and they will reach a point where the paths bulge closest together on Thursday.

SEEK INCLUSION OF ALL BUILDINGS IN RAT BAN LAW

An effort will be made to broaden the proposed rat proofing ordinance to include existing buildings, Ald. Abraham H. Coher [4th], announced yesterday. He is chairman of a city council subcommittee which is working on a measure drafted by Corporation Counsel Hodes.

In its present form the proposed ordinance, which would be part of the building code, is designed to outlaw the construction of buildings that are not secure against vermin. To make the measure entirely effective, Ald. Cohen said, it should apply as well to structures already built.

Old buildings are favorite breeding places for rats, Ald. Cohen said. Property owners should be required to keep their buildings in a condition that would discourage this breeding, he said. The board of health recently estimated that rodents do approximately $7,000,000 worth of damage in Chicago every year.

$10 FINE IMPOSED FOR SELLING OF RACE SELECTIONS

A city ordinance against the sale of betting information was invoked yesterday against Daniel Brand, 52 years old, who was arrested Saturday at 6 North Clark street. Judge Joseph B. Hermes fined him $10 and costs in the South State Street court.

Detective John P. Lynch of the Central station, who made the arrest, said Brand stopped him on the sidewalk and offered to sell him a list of horses that were sure to win that day. Lynch said he went into an office in the building and paid Brand $2 for the selections.

"I am not in sympathy with this ordinance but I have no choice but to find you guilty on the evidence," Judge Hermes remarked.

PRESIDENT PUTS SECRECY LID ON FARLEY CONFAB

Just One of Usual Talks, Roosevelt Explains.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 24.—President Roosevelt kept a cloak of mystery today on his conference last night with Postmaster General James A. Farley on the 1940 presidential campaign.

At a special press conference under an old oak on a hay field which he deeded to the government today for a memorial to himself, Mr. Roosevelt attempted to dissuade reporters from speculating on his discussion with Farley, who, as chairman of the Democratic national committee, was the director of the successful 1932 and 1936 campaigns.

Conference Urged by Farley.

During the conference Farley, smiling broadly, stood at the side of the President, who was seated at the wheel of his low priced touring car.

Farley, who was in a hurry to leave for New York City because he sails for Europe Wednesday, brought about the special press conference. Twice during the President's deed signing ceremony the cabinet member asked whether Mr. Roosevelt would see the reporters. Farley plainly showed he wanted to hear what the President would say.

Before the press conference Farley said he had had a highly interesting and constructive talk, but would leave all comment to the President. The Farley-Roosevelt meeting had attracted wide political attention because it came on the heels of reports the postmaster general was opposed to a third term for Mr. Roosevelt.

Calls Results Fairly Effective.

The President told reporters that if he were writing the story he would have to make it very uninteresting; that he couldn't speculate and would have to stick to what he called the truth.

It was just another of his regular talks with Farley that they have been having since 1928, the President said. They continue, he remarked, along the same tenor that they have for the last eleven years and there is no story in that except that the results on the whole have been fairly effective and will continue to be fairly effective. At this remark Farley's eyebrows went up.

The President, who last week denied a story that he and Secretary of State Cordell Hull had split on the wordage of his special message to the senate on neutrality, did not deny the stories which came from Hyde Park that he and Farley had come to the parting of the ways on the third term issue.

Not until after Farley had left the scene did he make any reference to the stories and then he said somewhat casually it was strange what is being written these days.

Indicates All Is Well.

The President gave the impression that all was well between himself and Farley. During the signing of the deeds of conveyance of the land for the memorial library he shouted to Farley some yards away that he had forgotten to bring the green ink. Farley traditionally signs all letters and papers with green ink.

When Farley was about to leave the President remarked that what he had said was all reporters would get out of either of them on the conference. Farley remarked that he was going to sail so the reporters could not catch up with him.

He then turned to the President with a "Good-by, boss."

"Good-by, Jim," Mr. Roosevelt said, "have a good trip."

The President, who left for Washington tonight aboard his special train, told of his plans to return to Hyde Park for five or six days after congress adjourns, then board the cruiser Tuscaloosa and sail for northern waters where he could find cool weather. He said he would not make his projected trip to the west coast until late in September.

The library exercises were held largely for movie camera men. Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt signed deeds of conveyance, which were accepted by Dr. R. D. W. Connor, national archivist.

PLANS FOR RED REVOLT TOLD AT BRIDGES' TRIAL

Threats to a Witness Bring Warning.

San Francisco, Cal., July 24 [Special.]—Testimony that the communist party advocates overthrow of the United States government by force and violence, and a warning to a labor newspaper representative charged with having intimidated a government witness, marked resumption of the Harry Bridges deportation hearing on Angel Island today.

Theodore Stark, the government's tenth witness, a former communist organizer in the state of Washington, testified there was a communist unit on the battleship Oklahoma in 1936 which sent regular reports to the Daily Worker, communist newspaper, and that there were communist units at Fort Lawton and in the Bremerton Navy Yard, and at the Boeing Airport, Seattle.

Tells Penetration of Unions.

Stark's testimony was introduced by Thomas B. Shoemaker, chief government counsel, to support the contention the communist party advocates overthrow of the government by force and violence and that the Australian born west coast C. I. O. director, if proved a communist, should be deported.

During 1937, said the witness, he was told the communist party was going to change its strategy to meet changed conditions, and that members were ordered to penetrate A. F. of L. unions whenever possible.

Need Armed Strength.

Stark stressed propaganda in the army and navy, saying they need to win the armed forces to help them in the revolution.

After a brief cross-examination Stark was questioned by Examiner Landis on communist plans for "the revolution." He said the tactics used were similar to those leading to the 1917 Russian revolution.

"When is the revolution coming?" asked Examiner James M. Landis.

"No date has been set for it," said the witness. "It will depend on how capably the party penetrates into the masses. I believe the first step would be a general strike in key industries."

Opening today's session Examiner Landis called in William Bailey, representative of the Voice of Federation, weekly newspaper published by the Maritime Federation of the Pacific.

Questioned About Letter.

Bailey said he was questioned about a letter written to Landis by John L. Leppold, a government witness last week. Leppold charged, according to Bailey, that while he was testifying, Bailey, seated at a press table, clenched and unclenched his fist, which, Leppold said, was a waterfront signal that he was going to be attacked.

Leppold also complained that in the hearing room Bailey had hit him on the back and muttered a threat. Bailey denied the charge. He said Landis warned him to avoid even the appearance of making obscure signals at government witnesses.

FIELD RESERVED FOR THRILL SHOW ON JULY 14, 1940

Here is a date to be remembered: July 14, 1940. Promptly at 2 p. m. on that Sunday afternoon the brazen voice of a fire siren will launch the third annual Police and Fire Thrill show in Soldiers' field.

This was decided yesterday by members of the thrill show committee, who reserved the great lakefront amphitheater and made other preliminary arrangements. More than 70,000 persons attended the second annual show held a week ago last Sunday. Many were turned away for lack of seats.

As a result there are discussions of holding two shows next year, one on Saturday night and another on Sunday afternoon. Fire alarm responses at a night show could be made even more spectacular than in daylight, committee members agreed.

The annual Police and Fire Thrill show is sponsored by the police departments, the park district police, and THE TRIBUNE.

WOMAN WOUNDED IN PRISON BATTLE LEAVES HOSPITAL

Mrs. Ruth Joiner, welfare worker who was held as hostage on June 27 by three convicts who attempted to escape from the Indiana state prison at Michigan City, was convalescing yesterday in her home at Crawfordsville, Ind.

Mrs. Joiner was released Sunday from St. Anthony hospital at Michigan City. She was shot twice in the right shoulder when state troopers battled and captured the convicts, who held Mrs. Joiner behind a barricade in the office of the prison physician. Physicians said the bullets injured a major nerve in the shoulder.

The convicts, Richard Sweet, Alphonse Skusewich, and Earl Niverson, have been indicted on charges of kidnaping for ransom. Conviction carries a possible death penalty.

WPA CHIEF ACTS TO PUT STRIKERS BACK ON THE JOB

Miner Seeks to Remove Rehiring Delays.

BY WILL O'NEIL.

Charles E. Miner, Illinois administrator of the Work Projects administration, said yesterday that he is trying to find some way to put discharged WPA strikers back to work without requiring that they first be reapproved as eligible for jobs. WPA rules state that every worker who is dismissed for being absent from his project for more than five consecutive working days must be reapproved or recertified by relief authorities as being in need before he can reclaim a job.

When the recent strikes began against the 130 hour a month work provision in the WPA law Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner, ordered that strikers were to be discharged and their certificates of eligibility for jobs canceled. Miner said that between 7,000 and 8,000 men in Illinois had been affected by this order.

Proposes Temporary Jobs.

"Some of the men who remained away from their projects have, we hope, obtained private employment," Miner said. "Those who were dismissed and want to return to work can do so as soon as they can be recertified and assigned to jobs.

"I'd like to put these men [the strikers] back to work while we are waiting for them to be recertified. This would be only a temporary measure to meet their needs until the formality of recertification is completed. I've asked Washington [WPA offices] to let me work out something so this can be done."

The proof of need required before an unemployed person can be approved for a WPA job usually includes a thorough investigation and takes at least two weeks to complete. The certifications of the strikers automatically were canceled when they were discharged.

Miner was asked if the men had not wilfully incurred the penalty of losing their jobs and the penalty of time before they could be recertified and reassigned to the WPA.

"Yes, I think they did," he replied. "But there are a good many WPA job opportunities in Illinois and I would like to fill them all."

Study State Relief Plan.

The Illinois legislative council, a branch of the state legislature, yesterday ordered its staff to make a study of a permanent relief program for Illinois. The legislature has turned down every attempt to put through such a program in the last five years.

Joel Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities, a private social agency, denied reports that he had asked the governor to call a special legislative session to provide additional relief funds. He said that neither he nor his organization had ever made such a request, and that none was contemplated now.

After a meeting with the superintendents of his offices Hunter asserted that relief conditions are "intolerable" in Chicago now. He said that his agency has received many calls for aid, particularly in medical cases where the Chicago Relief administration could not provide correct diets.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Should a reliefer do work for government aid? If so, how many hours should he work a week?

Where Answered.

The Answer.

Stanley Pytel, 5025 Ogden avenue, Cicero, industrial foreman.—It is no more than right that they work for the relief they receive. I believe reliefers should work about forty hours a week. That seems to be a reasonable number. However, I believe they should be given a living wage, say about $75 a month. I don't think a family can live on less.

C. R. Birkemeier, 3814 North Hamilton avenue, salesman.—I believe those who receive relief should work for their keep as long as they are healthy and able. The number of hours should be determined by the amount of money they receive. In other words, reliefers, I believe, should be paid by the hour and the man with a large family should work longer than one with a smaller family.

Chester Bellavia, 240 West 31st street, musician.—I believe those on relief should work. If they get money and don't work for it, the government will be encouraging laziness. A reliefer should work at least thirty-five hours a week, although forty hours seems to be the accepted number to work. My motto has always been: Those who eat must work.

W. A. Robinson, 122 South Michigan avenue, business man.—Any man with self-respect should be willing to work for his living. A reliefer should work the same as the next person, but he should not be given a job that will put another paid employé out of work unless he is given the same wages. A reliefer should work about thirty-five or forty hours a week.

Michael Dominick, 1185 South Highland avenue, Oak Park, printing business. — I believe any man who needs relief should get it, but he should work for the money he receives. In my opinion, all relief clients should be treated equally — that is, given the same amount of money and work the same number of hours. I don't think they should be given jobs that will supplant skilled laborers and mechanics.

Chicagoans flocked to Lake Michigan for a cooling swim yesterday as the temperature climbed to 88. Hot as it was, Forecaster J. R. Lloyd had some words of comfort: It wasn't near so hot as it was on July 24, 1934, when the thermometer registered 104.8. The weather man had something else pleasnnt to say: Today will be somewhat cooler.

BATTLE IN COURT TO SAVE GRAVES AT LAKE PROJECT

Crab Orchard Injunction Weighed by Judge.

Marion, Ill., July 24 [Special].—Relatives of the dead whose graves have been condemned by the government to make way for its Crab Orchard lake experiment gathered in the Williamson country court house today to hear legal arguments on the subject.

Circuit Judge Lloyd M. Bradley took under advisement until Aug. 7 the petition of Attorney George W. Dowell that an injunction be issued restraining government agents from moving bodies from cemeteries in the area.

Dowell represents fifty-five landowners and relatives of persons buried in twenty-two cemeteries between Marion and Carbondale. The burial grounds, which contain 1,867 graves, are part of the territory condemned by the government to make way for the lake project.

Some Graves Century Old.

Attorney Dowell told the court that removal of the bodies will cause untold anguish and losses that cannot be estimated because of sentimental attachments. Some of the dead whose graves will be inundated have lain there for 100 years.

G. R. Schwartz of Jerseyville, a special attorney for the department of justice, made a motion to dismiss Dowell's petition. He contended the court does not have jurisdiction either as to the subject matter or the defendants because the federal court has ruled on the case in condemnation proceedings.

Suit Directed at Wallace.

Schwartz also argued that the federal government cannot be made a defendant in legal suits without its consent, and that such consent never had been asked or granted in this case.

Attorney Dowell replied that the government had not been named a party defendant in the action, that it was directed against Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and Charles Hamilton of Carbondale, manager of the Crab Orchard project.

He charged further that the secretary of agriculture is attempting to carry out a program in connection with the project that was not duly authorized by congress.

W-G-N WILL CLOSE AUDIENCE STUDIO TO MAKE ALTERATIONS

The W-G-N audience studio is to be closed during the remainder of the summer for alterations and renovations, it was announced yesterday. Henry Weber's Friday Night Promenade will be the last regular public show until after Labor day. An exception will be made for The Northerners' program which will be presented in the studio next Tuesday night, Aug. 1.

This is the first time the audience studio has been closed since it was opened in October, 1935. The closing in no way affects the regular commercial and sustaining programs which will be presented daily at 1 nightly on their regular schedules. Those who have obtained tickets for August programs may return them and receive substitutes for audience shows in September when the studio is reopened.

Following are the regular nightly programs which will not be seen in the audience studio until the renovation is completed; Monday, Pageant of Melody, directed by Henry Weber; Tuesday, The Northerners; Wednesday, Harold Stoke's Variety show; Thursday, Concert Revue, directed by Henry Weber; Friday, Henry Weber's Friday Night Promenade, and Sunday, Your Sunday Night Date, directed by Harold Stokes.

Act Today on Henneman Gun Toting Case Pleas

Hearing on preliminary motions in the case of George Henneman, boss of the painters' union, was postponed yesterday in Criminal court when Judge John F. Haas was absent because of the death of a brother. The motions will be heard today. Henneman, who was arrested June 27, is accused of carrying weapons.

Court to Hear Traction Franchise Report Today

The negotiating committee for the transit lines will report to the Federal court today on the progress it has made with the city for a unified traction franchise. The report was due yesterday but Judge James H. Wilkerson postponed the hearing because of another case. The negotiators, in a letter to Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the city council's local transportation committee, said they are ready to continue negotiations at once.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE
Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.
Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

GOV. LONG OUSTS COMMISSIONER IN HOT OIL SCANDAL

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., July 24.—At Gov. Earl Long's request, William G. Rankin resigned today as conservation commissioner. The governor, after a conference with Mayor Robert S. Maestri, announced he had appointed State Senator Ernest Clements of Oberlin as Rankin's successor.

The conservation department has supervision over oil allotments and drillings for oil wells. It is under scruting in the investigation of alleged hot oil violations. Hot oil is oil moved secretly to avoid federal regulations. Records of the department were seized tonight on orders of the federal court.

Missing $67,500 Is Located.

Rankin has been under criticism in connection with the methods by which funds were handled for the building of Geology hall on the state university campus at Baton Rouge. A. P. Tugwell, state treasurer and a candidate for governor in next January's primaries, recently charged that records of the conservation department show it paid $342,500 in state funds for Geology hall, while records of the university show only $275,000 received.

Tugwell said $67,500 had gone astray. Later, after a conference between Gov. Long and Rankin, it was announced that unexpended funds for Geology hall remained in the department, and that Rankin would send the university a check for the balance due it.

Weiss Trial Date Set.

The trials of five men involved in the wave of scandals at Louisiana State university were set today for Sept. 5. Heading the list is Seymour Weiss, hotel man and one of the "big three" in the old Long state machine, and Dr. James M. Smith, ex-president of the university.

The five were indicted by a federal grand jury last week, charged with mail fraud in an alleged $75,000 equipment swindle in connection with the purchase by the university of the Bienville hotel here. The other three are Monte Hart, contractor who has had a share of state building contracts; Louis Lesage, Standard Oil company official, and J. Emory Adams, nephew of Dr. Smith's wife.

ATLANTIC CLIPPER DAMAGED AS IT LANDS AT AZORES

HORTA, The Azores, July 24 (AP).—Damage to the hull of the Atlantic Clipper, Pan-American Airways flying boat bound from Marseilles, France, to New York, tonight caused the first delay of a regularly scheduled trans-Atlantic passenger flight.

The Clipper was slightly damaged when it alighted. A Pan-American spokesman said the cause of the accident was not known. Witnesses said the descent may have been at too sharp an angle. The boat was beached to ascertain the extent of damage.

[Pan-American officials at Baltimore said the examination would determine whether repairs would be made at Horta or at Baltimore. Passengers of the Atlantic Clipper will complete their trip aboard the Dixie Clipper, which is leaving Port Washington, N. Y., for Lisbon Wednesday afternoon and is scheduled to touch Horta on the return trip Saturday.]

RETRIAL OF WIFE SLAYING SUSPECT DEFERRED AGAIN

The second trial of James K. Matter, an industrial engineer charged with slaying his wife, Marguerite, was continued yesterday to Aug. 1 because of the absence on vacation of Assistant State's Attorney Emmett Moynihan. The state must bring Matter to trial by Aug. 17 or nol pros the case, because of a provision in the law that a defendant who is in custody must be prosecuted within four calendar months of the date on which a new trial is ordered.

Mrs. Matter was found shot to death in the Matters' home in Brookfield last Oct. 1. At the first trial the chief witness against the engineer was his daughter, Martha Jean, 10 years old. Matter was sentenced to 20 years in prison but the conviction was overruled.

The second trial, set for June 15, was first delayed when Martha Jean disappeared mysteriously from an aunt's home in Harrisburg, Pa.

Lulu, only woman circus clown in world, getting finishing touches on her makeup from her husband before going on with Ringling Brothers' act at Soldiers' field.

Every afternoon and evening in the big tent of Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey circus, pitched south of Soldiers' field, a woman in kilts walks around the ring feeding a professor goldfish. The crowd howls. A few minutes later she comes by, puffing at an oversized set of bagpipes. The crowd howls again, as it should. The only thing that bothers the woman is what they are laughing at. She hopes it is she, because she is paid to be funny.

The lady known as Lulu, is the only woman circus clown in the world. She appears with her husband, Albertino Adams, a carrot-haired, red-nosed clown who discussed religion and international politics in his spare time. They are English, third generation circus people, and both of them were reared backstage in vaudeville houses and one ring circuses. Lulu, slender, attractive and 35 years old, speaks three languages and plays several musical instruments. She chose clowning as a profession [and is glad of it] because, she says, it is the only business age doesn't ruin.

LITTLE N. Y. MILK DEALERS TO GET THEIR LICENSES

New York, July 24 [Special].—William Fellowes Morgan Jr., commissioner of markets, informed about 700 independent milk dealers today that if they are unable to obtain licenses to sell milk from the board of health, the department of markets will grant such licenses to those who are qualified. The dealers, members of the New York Retail Milk Distributors, Inc., deliver bottled milk to doorsteps at from 1 to 2 cents per quart under the price charged by the large distributors.

The dealers' organization has withheld licenses because of pressure by the Milk Drivers' union of the American Federation of Labor. The union is seeking to have a clause included in its new contract with large milk companies providing no milk be sold to unlicensed dealers. The independents, regarded as subdealers, have been delivering milk for several years without licenses.

Commissioner Morgan said he was notifying Dr. John L. Rice, commissioner of health, that if the board of health turns down the request of the sub-dealers, the markets department would grant licenses to those qualified. "Put these seven hundred peddlers out of business," the commissioner wrote, "and the price of milk delivered to the home will jump at least 2 cents per quart."

JAILED FOR SUICIDE ATTEMPT.

EXPOSE LOTTERY RING USING NAME OF WILL ROGERS

Widow of Humorist Goes Before Federal Jury.

Boston, Mass., July 24 [Special].—Mrs. Will Rogers, widow of the cowboy humorist who was killed in a plane crash in 1935, testified before the federal grand jury here today in an investigation of a $20,000,000 lottery racket which is said to have included a fake scheme to raise funds for a memorial to Rogers.

The grand jury inquiry is the result of an investigation for more than a year in which postal agents uncovered a lottery with headquarters in Chicago and branches in twenty states. Postal inspectors already have seized six tons of tickets in the Chicago headquarters of the ring and also a large printing press.

Mrs. Rogers' testimony before the grand jury was kept secret, but it was understood she was called to tell of her refusal to approve the proposal of an unnamed Chicago man to use Rogers' name in the sale of lottery tickets.

Also testifying today were Capt. Charles G. Essig and Detectives William Lawler and Joseph Keating of the Chicago police and Postal Inspector John J. McCarthy of Chicago.

Owen D. Young to Testify.

Owen D. Young, chairman of the Will Rogers Memorial commission, has been called to appear before the grand jury later this week to tell of a similar proposal from the same man and his refusal to approve the scheme.

United States Attorney Edmond J. Brandon, who is presenting the case to the grand jury, said thousands of persons throughout the nation paid 50 cents each for lottery tickets supposedly for the benefit of the Will Rogers Memorial hospital.

The lottery promoters promised 400 prizes totaling $20,000, with a first prize of $8,000, Brandon said. Although winners were announced and published in a booklet, postal inspectors were unable to find any winners except in the case of small prizes.

Legitimate Campaign Cited.

The lottery scheme, it was said, is not to be confused with the drive headed by Young to raise money for a memorial to Rogers. The memorial commission gave $100,000 last February to the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation. Three years ago the National Variety Artists fund donated a hospital at Saranac, N. Y., to the Will Rogers memorial fund and contributions have been asked for its support. But all drives for funds have been made on the basis of outright contributions.

In the investigation here, it was learned, indictments will be sought against 70 men, 20 of whom are alleged to be New England agents for the ring, on charges of using the mails to defraud, in connection with the Rogers lotteries and a dozen other lotteries.

The lotteries, it was said, were based on horse race results, treasury balance figures, baseball and football pools, and other sports results.

RECALL CHICAGO CASE.

It was recalled in Chicago last night in connection with the Boston lottery inquiry that the Will Rogers Memorial hospital at 6970 Clark street was charged with operating a lottery in violation of its charter in February, 1938. The Will Rogers Memorial commission soon afterward obtained a consent decree in Federal court forbidding the hospital to use Rogers' name. In April last year the hospital was reorganized as the Physicians Memorial hospital. New directors and officers took charge.

ATTORNEYS TOLD TO GIVE JURORS ANNENBERG FILES

Attorneys for Moses L. Annenberg, wealthy Philadelphia newspaper publisher and critic of the New Deal, were ordered yesterday by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to produce before the federal grand jury certain records and documents demanded by the jury.

The jury is investigating Annenberg's income tax affairs. The documents are account books, copies of wills, trust agreements relating to Annenberg's holding firm, the Cecelia company, and attorneys' memoranda. They are in the possession of Attorney Weymouth Kirkland of the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin, and Ellis, which represents Annenberg in the tax matter.

Kirkland contended that the documents are privileged. William J. Campbell, United States attorney, argued that they are not.

O. John Rogge, assistant United States attorney general, said in Washington, D. C., yesterday that he would be in Chicago the week of Aug. 14 to confer with Campbell on the Annenberg case.

TWO BOY SAILORS RETURN; FATHER DRYDOCKS KAYAK

Edward Flesch, 17 years old, won't do any voyaging in his sail-equipped kayak for the next month. The ban was imposed by his father, Arthur, because of the scare Edward and a friend, Bernard Wagner, 18, of 1035 Lill avenue, caused their families.

Edward and young Wagner sailed Sunday from Diversey beach to Fort Sheridan to visit a relative at the C. M. T. C. encampment. They failed to return late at night and coast guardsmen were asked to search for them.

Chief Mate Albert Delamater and a crew found the boys yesterday morning sailing leisurely homeward south of Wilmette. They said they had failed to find the relative and had slept on the beach. Edward's home is at 1029 Lill avenue.

ABSOLVE LASKER IN $250,000 LOAN TO MANTON FIRM

Lord & Thomas Man Tells His Story.

New York, July 24 [Special.]—Albert D. Lasker, former advertising magnate, told in federal court today the story of the $250,000 loan his firm [Lord & Thomas] made to a business associate of former Federal Judge Martin T. Manton.

Previous to Lasker's testimony, United States Attorney John C. Cahill in his opening statement in disbarment proceedings against two attorneys had absolved the former advertising executive of any wrongdoing in connection with the loan.

The loan was made to the late James J. Sullivan, a business associate of former Judge Manton, for a firm in which Manton was the controling stockholder.

Lasker's testimony was as a government witness in disbarment proceedings against Louis S. Levy of the law firm of Stanchfield & Levy and against Paul M. Hahn, formerly associated with the firm and now a vice president of the American Tobacco company.

$10,000,000 Suit Involved.

The loan was negotiated while a 10 million dollar suit against the tobacco company, a client of Lord & Thomas, was pending in Judge Manton's court. Manton, under an appealed sentence of two years in the penitentiary and $100,000 fine for selling justice, is under call as a witness.

Lasker testified that Levy, then counsel for the tobacco company, approached him for the loan, which was to be repaid in four months. A note was given to Lasker by Sullivan and some stock in the National Cellulose corporation as security, Lasker testified.

When the loan was not paid Lasker said he examined the collateral. He was surprised, he said, to discover that the cellulose company manufactured products in competition with one of Lord & Thomas' clients. His client's firm, Lasker revealed, was one in which he had invested $1,500,000.

Gets Letter from Manton.

Lasker testified he voiced his indignation to Hahn and insisted that the loan be collected. Hahn said it wasn't convenient to pay the loan. Lasker said he did not know who Sullivan was and that he did not know that the cellulose company was controled by Manton.

After he had engaged an attorney to press for collection Lasker said he received a letter from Manton saying that the judge desired to see him. Lasker testified that he then told his attorney to get in touch with Manton. Lasker said the loan never has been repaid.

Manton testified at his conspiracy trial that all of the $250,000 loan except $32,000 found its way to Manton controled firms.

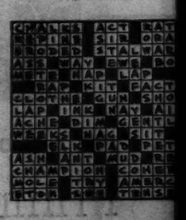
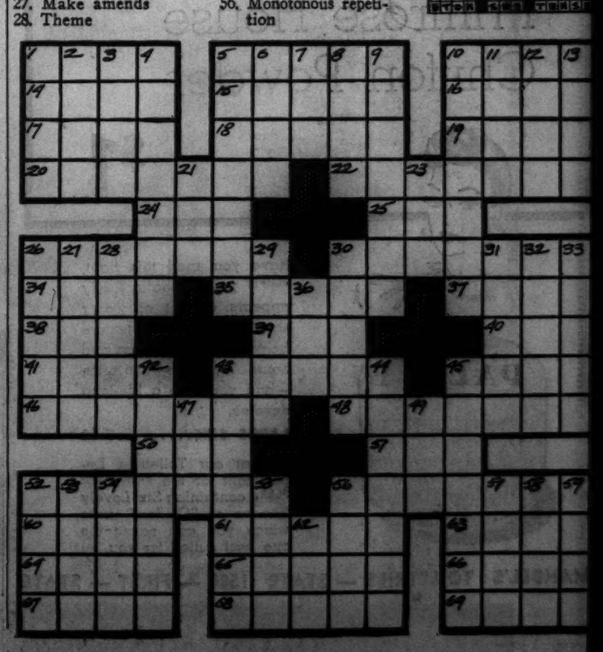
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





BLAME N. Y. FAIR HIGH PRICES ON LABOR RACKETS

Foreign Exhibitors Make Withdrawal Threat.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 24.—High prices at the New York World's Fair are blamed by concessionaires and exhibitors on a number of rackets which sprang up during the building of the exposition and which have spread since its gates opened.

Exhibitors at the fair, trying to stretch their original budgets to cover shortened receipts due to unexpectedly low attendance, charge that the exposition management either has condoned labor excesses or fears to curb them.

Dr. Neil Van Aken, president of the Foreign Government Commissioners' club, representing more than fifty nations, has declared that unless a great change is brought about in labor conditions the various participating countries will not take part next summer, if the exposition runs another year. It is estimated the cost of building and equipping the foreign pavilions was at least $10,000,000 above expectations.

Doubling of Costs Charged.

Dr. Van Aken said in some cases the cost of putting up the pavilions had doubled. The foreign countries brought over their own artists and technicians to do specialized jobs. The local unions insisted their members be hired at full union rates to stand by in idleness while the foreigners did the work. If they stood around after quitting time they were paid time and a half.

Many electricians were paid as high as $300 and $400 a week. After completion of the jobs, the unions forced the hiring of maintenance men, even though some nations had brought over regular employés and the only maintenance required was the throwing of an electric switch twice a day. Refusal to meet the demands resulted in sabotage, Van Aken charged.

Other Exhibitors Angered.

The criticism has not been confined to foreign exhibitors. Domestic concerns are privately as wrathful about racket conditions as the foreign participants but are loathe to talk for publication because they don't wish to upset their relations with the unions.

These companies have been centering their drive on the fair management to reduce charges for garbage removal and water supply, charges which they contend are exhorbitant.

Jay Downer, a member of the world's fair board of design, asserted that near the opening of the exposition labor became "like a tiger after his first taste of blood."

Reflecting these conditions, the prices of some of the meals in the fair restaurants, notably French and Italian, run between $5 and $10. This does not include the drinks. Fancy named cocktails and vintage wines are correspondingly high priced.

Protest Admission Price.

Crowds still kick at the 75 cents a person admission charge. The ordinary pocketbook can't afford the drain of admission plus some of the prices inside the fair grounds. Because of this a number of attractions have been forced to fold up.

Merrie England's Globe theater, which drew throngs at "A Century of Progress" in Chicago, with its streamlined Shakespeare, collapsed a week ago. Previously the elaborate program for the Hall of Music had expired. Few persons were willing to pay 75 cents to get inside the fair and then fork over $2.20 a seat to hear a symphony or an operetta.

As it happens there is no symphony playing at the New York exposition, while at the Chicago fair there were two great symphony orchestras giving free concerts to the public. The fair management is offering no free shows, other than fireworks and fountain displays, another reason for the protests over the admission charge.

At the same time in New York City hotel rates have been raised 50 cents to $1 a room for a night, and garage prices also have gone up. Rooming houses and tourist homes, especially those near the fair, have likewise raised their prices.

Glacier, Wash., July 24 (AP).—Shouts of twenty-five mountain climbers may have caused the avalanche that roared down the north slope of Mount Baker Saturday, killing three young men and three girls.

Four bodies remained buried in the snow today as two experienced mountain guides, Robert H. Hayes and Fred Gleason, suggested the voices of the climbing group may have caused vibrations enough to start the terrifying slide.

As twenty-eight searchers with long poles probed the snow for the bodies, a hot sun sent the temperature above 90 and threatened new slides at the point where the six lost their lives, within 400 feet of the top of the 10,750 foot peak.

The search party based at Kulshan cabin, four miles from the bottom of the slide, and kept in communication with a lookout station at Church mountain by portable radio.

Ex-Follies Girl Reaches Accord in Custody Fight

Cleveland, O., July 24 (AP).—The former Peggy Peacock of the Ziegfeld Follies agreed today to give up her 3 year old son to her divorced husband for three weeks every year. She previosuly had charged her former husband, Edward P. Simon, with kidnaping after he took the boy from her San Antonio, Tex., home. The kidnaping charge collapsed with today's agreement. The Simons' divorce last year permitted the father, an oil salesman, to visit the boy at reasonable times in Texas. The agreement provides he may bring the child to Cleveland. Since the divorce Mrs. Simon has married Capt. Sarrati Hames, United States army.

RETAILERS PLAN FIGHT TO UPSET LIQUOR SALE BAN

Merchants Study Action Against New Ordinance.

A committee of retail merchants will go into court soon in an effort to prevent the city from enforcing provisions of the new liquor sales regulations voted last month by the city council. This was announced yesterday by Maclay Hoyne, counsel for the committee, which represents 1,000 groceries, drug stores, department stores, and delicatessens.

The council's action limits the sale of liquor after Oct. 31 to taverns and bona fide liquor stores. The new ordinance will ban the sale of packaged liquor by other retailers.

In a letter to Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel, Hoyne stated the position of the retailers and expressed his opinion that the ordinance is unconstitutional.

Injunction Suit Considered.

Hoyne said the retailers would file either injunction or mandamus proceedings against the city. An injunction suit would seek to restrain the city from interfering with the sale of liquor by retailers. The city, by its licensing authority, controls the stores where liquor is sold. The suit, Hoyne said, would charge that the recent ordinance discriminates against certain retailers by refusing to grant them licenses to sell packaged liquor.

If mandamus proceedings are started, the retailers will seek a court order directing the city collector to issue licenses to them.

Hodes Studies Test Case.

Corporation Counsel Hodes said he was investigating the advisability of a test case. He informed the city council license committee at the time the ordinance was being considered, Hodes said, that there was a question of its constitutionality.

Hoyne said that attorneys for the retailers will cite the precedent set by the so-called Netcher case decided by the Illinois supreme court in 1899. In this case, brought by the Boston Store against the city, the court held that the city could not refuse to issue a liquor license to the store merely because it handled hardware, dry goods, or jewelry.

First Jobless Check

The first 500 unemployment insurance checks in Illinois were mailed last night from a special state treasury office established in the Merchandise Mart. Peter T. Swanish, unemployment compensation commissioner, said that about 3,000 more checks are to be prepared and mailed today.

Check No. 1 was prepared Sunday and received yesterday by James J. Sredl, 618 South Ashland avenue, who lost his job as foreman in a machine shop last October. He had worked there for fourteen years. He will receive the maximum benefit of $16 a week for sixteen weeks unless he finds a job in the meantime.

The insurance, which ranges from the $16 maximum down to $7 a week, is to be paid only to those who earned at least $225 from insured employers during 1938. Unemployed persons must wait at least three weeks after a successful application for insurance before receiving their first check.

FORT SHERIDAN TO DEMONSTRATE GUNNERY TODAY

Brig. Gen. Karl Truesdell, commandant of Fort Sheridan, yesterday announced two public demonstrations to be given by the 61st coast artillery anti-aircraft. Today the battery will fire 3 inch guns at targets towed by airplanes at 12,000 feet. Thursday the soldiers will shoot .50 caliber machine guns at hydrogen filled balloons. Each performance will begin at 3:30 o'clock on the lake front. They are designed primarily for the instruction of 300 reserve officers and 250 R. O. T. C. cadets in summer training at the post.

BAPTISTS URGED TO FIGHT INROADS ON FREE CHURCH

Warned of Dangers That Confront America.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlanta, Ga., July 24.—Spiritual descendants of Roger Williams—liberty loving Baptist founder of Rhode Island—today heard a plea for religious and political liberty for Baptists and others of present day Spain, Rumania, China, Japan, Germany, and Russia. They also were warned to defend themselves against dictatorial trends in America.

The plea was made at the sixth quintennial congress of the World Baptist alliance here, which gave enthusiastic assent to the call of vigilance lest hard won liberties be lost to Americans.

The Roger Williams view was brought down to date by Dr. James H. Rushbrooke of London, England, general secretary of the alliance, in his report covering the five years since the congress met in Berlin, Germany.

Slated for Presidency.

Dr. Rushbrooke's name is known in Baptist households throughout the world. He voices Baptist opinion with almost final authority. Leaders of the congress predict his unanimous election as president of the alliance for the next five years to succeed Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, Tex.

Dr. Rushbrooke pointed to the effects of highly centralized government control in religious liberties in Germany and Russia, and declared that America and other democratic countries are in danger of getting into the same plight.

"We know democracy is doomed to failure unless two conditions are satisfied," he said. "One condition is a high standard of character.

"Democracy also fails through lack of knowledge, through want or distortion of information. That is why a controlled and muzzled press is a universal feature of totalitarian systems."

Wins Ground in Fight.

Pointing specifically to Rumania, Russia, and Spain in his report, Dr. Rushbrooke said: "Among all evil omens of the last five years the most menacing is the activity of secular and ecclesiastical powers in narrowing the bounds of liberty."

Dr. Rushbrooke said the alliance is slowly gaining ground in its fight for religious liberty in these countries. He turned to recent activities of the northern and southern Baptist conventions in America and praised their joint action against taxation of churches and trends toward union of state and church.

The Baptist leader told of far reaching effects in Germany of the congress of the alliance held five years ago in Berlin.

"The congress condemned war, exaggerated nationalism and social discrimination with specific reference to Jews and contained other inconvenient and disturbing matter," Dr. Rushbrooke said.

MUST BE A GOOD PLACE TO EAT

Marshall Field & Company
presents here each day observations intended to be of value to those it seeks to serve.

HUMANEST OF ALL—

By CALEB

OVER in London town, in a quiet little shop on a quaint old street, live and work a father and son we often think of as actual Field associates. Their speciality, believe it or otherwise, is barometers. Barometers most of which, sooner or later, find their way to our ninth-floor Galleries, and thence to the appreciative possession of Chicagoland owners.

Barometers, be it known, tell and foretell the weather. Designed in two styles—the "banjo" model, with or without clock, and the "stick" type—some of them also tell of the passing hours. And all, in their several fashion, give one a special feeling of intimacy with owners who must have been like unto ourselves.

For that—indefinable as such matters are, in words—is the sentiment with which a fine antique is suffused . . . like an aroma, an aura, or a halo. Humanest of all things housed and handled is every such craftsman's creation of long ago. It is something alive, that has been lovingly dwelt with, often for generations, and then by legitimate channels gravitates to one's own hearthside.

Reverting to barometers for a moment: the London father and son we mentioned above take searcher's trips to remotest Ireland and Scotland for their "finds." Scouts also report to them any likely discoveries. Then, at a word from us, these prized instruments travel overseas to become part of our own displays.

And so it is that all these "humanest" pieces—barometers, butler's trays, corner washstands, French tole clocks, music boxes, Regency chairs, and a score of like 17th and 18th century items—ultimately reach our antique collection. Operators from our London office are ever on the lookout for unusual offerings and opportunities abroad. . . . Photographs and descriptions arrive several times monthly; code cablegrams flash our selection; and in a figurative instant the pieces are on their way. Riding the high seas as we write are two unusual music boxes sure to find opportune buyers.

For somehow—good antiques never linger! Six sleek and commodious old yew-wood Windsor chairs, for example, recently reaching us on a Saturday were already sold to grace a game room before their Monday price-tags could appear. . . . And now sitting in sedate proximity is a flute-voiced Organophone Celeste, circa 1860, whose future owner, we predict, will happen by before many days pass.

BRITISH PROMISE TO LET JAPAN GO AHEAD IN CHINA

Premier Disowns Plan to 'Buy German Peace.'

had no knowledge of Hudson's proposals.

An indication that Hudson was not alone in the idea to buy off Hitler was seen in his implied threat to spill the beans if he was fired as a result of the disclosure of his proposals to Wohlthat. This appeared in London afternoon papers which quoted him as saying:

"I would like to be able to make a full statement in the house of commons. If I resign I shall make that statement."

Chamberlain admitted that Hudson reported to him after talking with Wohlthat.

"It was in no sense unusual that Hudson and Wohlthat should meet and discuss subjects which they are responsible for in their official capacities," the prime minister said. "I don't see any particular harm in this conversation. The mischief, if mischief was there, was in disclosure of the conversations to the newspapers."

Premier Hunts Tipster.

Asked where the tip concerning the conversations came from, Chamberlain said: "That is a question I would like very much to know the answer to myself."

He explained he had discussed methods of improving trade with Germany and added:

"In this connection, Hudson, pointing out that solution of political questions was a necessary preliminary—by which of course he meant restoration of international confidence—discussed what might be done to remove existing barriers to international trade.

"This led to a discussion of the financial steps which might have to be taken to overcome the initial difficulties. Hudson, who throughout emphasized he was expressing only personal views . . . said he thought, assuming that international confidence had been restored, there should be scope for coöperation in this matter on the part of principal countries."

A Reference to America.

This apparently referred to America which was one of the countries slated for participation in the loan to Hitler, according to published details of the plan.

Chamberlain said "it will be seen from this count that there is no justification whatever for assuming" that the British government was planning to buy off Hitler with a loan.

Chamberlain displayed annoyance when he was asked if any other government official talked with Wohlthat. He said he assumed the question was an attack on Sir Horace Wilson, chief adviser of the government, who had seen Wohlthat but did not discuss any deal.

Since the name of Wilson, who accompanied Chamberlain to Munich, was not mentioned in the question, the prime minister's defense of his right hand man aroused suspicions of opposition members that he was linked with the affair.

Jap-Red Battle Rages

SHANGHAI, July 24 (AP).—Japanese dispatches from Hsinking, Manchukuo, today asserted 1,000 soviet Russian-Outer Mongolian troops had crossed the Khalka river into Manchukuan territory and precipitated heavy fighting with Japanese-Manchukuan forces.

The region, southeast of Lake Bor, has been the scene of sporadic clashes since May 11 over conflicting claims on the location of the Manchukuan-Outer Mongolian boundary. The Japanese say the Khalka river marks the frontier; Russians say the line lies east of the stream.

The Japanese reports said large scale aerial combat also was resumed and asserted forty-four soviet bombing and combat planes were shot down by Japanese aviators. The Hsinking advices said the Japanese lost only four planes in the clash.

An intensified artillery duel was continuing, the dispatches said. They reported fifty of 100 tanks of the soviet-Outer Mongolian forces were damaged by Japanese artillery fire.

GERMANS SCOFF AT BRITISH PLAN TO MAKE A LOAN

BERLIN, July 24 (AP).—The German authorities tonight declared Dr. Helmuth Wohlthat was authorized neither to discuss nor to carry back to Berlin any plan for buying off Germany by economic concessions or a loan on his recent London visit.

A foreign office spokesman said Wohlthat had met R. S. Hudson, British secretary for overseas trade, and other important Englishmen at their request and termed the conversations a purely "private exchange of views concerning economic problems."

Asked whether Wohlthat had brought back a British appeasement plan for submission to the German government, the spokesman replied with a categorical "no." Adolf Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter branded as "insane" the plan said to have been discussed in London for a loan to Germany in return for a pledge of partial disarmament.

Ask Probe of Un-American Activities in Porto Rico

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, July 24.—The Porto Rican post of the American Legion drew up a petition today urging that the activities of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities be extended to include an investigation of Porto Rico.

BARE IRISH PLOT TO BLAST HOUSES OF PARLIAMENT

Britain Learns Terrorists Have Foreign Aid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 24.—A plot to blow up the houses of parliament was attributed today to the outlawed Irish Republican army assisted by foreign organizations.

This was the first major plot of its kind that has been seriously regarded since the famous "gunpowder plot." In that instance Guy Fawkes was hired from the Spanish army by Englishmen who were aroused to a revolutionary pitch by the laws of King James I.

On Nov. 5, 1605, Fawkes was discovered in the cellars of the houses of parliament prepared to set off a huge quantity of gunpowder. Since that time a yeoman of the guard has searched the cellars on each morning of every session.

Referred to as "Plan S."

Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, revealed the I. R. A. plot to the house of commons as he moved the second reading of a bill designed to crush I. R. A. activities. A wave of bombings in Great Britain recently has been traced to the I. R. A.

The I. R. A. plot, which Hoare referred to as "plan S," involved not only the I. R. A., which long has fought under cover for a republican Ireland, but was "closely watched and actively stimulated by foreign organizations," Hoare said.

Details of the plan, Hoare said, coincided with the terroristic acts of the last six months, but had failed to materialize in the design to destroy the parliament buildings, sabotage railways, pollute the water supply, and wreck key industries.

Hoare asserted the plan was timed to coincide with the international crisis and could prove serious in time of war or an emergency.

Works of a General Staff.

"It is not the kind of irresponsible, melodramatic document that one sometimes discovers in searches of this sort," Hoare said.

"It is a very carefully worked out staff plan—the kind of plan that might be worked out by a general staff, setting out in detail the way in which a campaign of sabotage could be successfully carried out against this country."

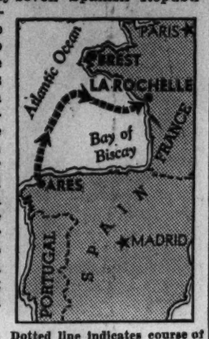
Hoare related that a copy of the plan had been discovered early this year and that police had seized quantities of explosives and detonators.

The bill was passed on second reading by a vote of 218 to 17 and was advanced to third reading.

Scotland Yard meanwhile prepared to start a roundup immediately when the measure becomes law. The detectives have 5,000 I. R. A. members and sympathizers under observation, a government informant said, and about 400 of them who are being watched night and day, may be deported under the new measure.

27 LOYALISTS, HIDDEN 2 YEARS, LEARN WAR IS OVER; FLEE TO FRANCE

LA ROCHELLE, France, July 24 (AP).—Twenty-seven Spanish Republicans [loyalists] who hid for two years in the mountains of northern Spain during the Spanish civil war reached refuge in France today after being rescued from a fishing boat they had seized.



Dotted line indicates course of Loyalists' voyage.

The group was led by the former Republican mayor of El Ferrol who had escaped from Gen. Franco's Nationalists on the eve of his scheduled execution. Two weeks ago they came out of hiding to learn that the civil war was over and that their side had lost. They crept by night into the port of Ares, on the bay of Biscay, and stowed away on the fishing boat.

When the craft returned to the open sea the group overpowered the crew of ten and forced the captain to head for Brest, France. The little fishing boat, however, ran out of coal. Just as their food supply ran out they sighted a French tug. Abandoning the fishing boat they were brought to La Rochelle.

HULL IS AROUSED BY JAP ABUSE OF AMERICAN SAILOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 24.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today the American government is increasingly concerned over the number of incidents in China in which American nationals have been assaulted by Japanese soldiers and police.

Robert A. Baker.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

His comment followed reports of an assault on an American sailor at Hankow by a Japanese sentry. The state department had no further information than that received by the navy department from the commanding officer of the United States gunboat Guam, who said that the assault on Robert A. Baker, warrant officer of the Guam, "was entirely the fault of the Japanese sentry."

The commanding officer of the Guam, through Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, reported to the navy department that the Japanese officers had been informed that the incident was being viewed with "grave concern."

RIVAL FACTIONS IN SPAIN BELIEVED NEAR SHOWDOWN

Franco Reinforces Guard Against Clashes.

PARIS, July 24 (AP).—Spanish sources in Paris tonight expressed the belief that the demotions of Gens. Juan Yague and Gonzalo Queipo de Llano by Generalissimo Francisco Franco were bringing about a long-delayed showdown between two forces that have contended since 1937 for control of the Nationalist movement.

Gen. Franco was said to have taken extraordinary measures to strengthen his army and police control to prevent any political unrest from flaring into open clashes.

Old School Army Officers.

On one side stand Franco's brother-in-law, Ramon Serrano Suner, minister of the interior, with the entire Falangist, or Spanish-Fascist, party, and a few army leaders backing his program of strict dictatorship at home and close ties with Rome.

On the other stand the Carlists who want a monarchy, a greater part of the old school army officers, and numbers of dissatisfied elements whose strength has been increased by a post-war shortage of certain foods in parts of Spain.

Reports from Spain today said a Falangist sergeant who early this month shot and killed a Carlist because the latter cried "Long live the king," had been executed at Irun.

Never Hid Sympathies.

The shooting started a series of clashes between the Falangists and Carlists, forcing authorities to augment military forces in Navarre and Guipuzcoa provinces.

Queipo de Llano and Yague, reports here indicated, never attempted to hide their sympathy with the Carlist group. They were removed from their commands last Friday, Queipo de Llano from his command in Andalusia, and Yague from his command of the Morroccan army corps.

Both the civil war heroes were reported still to be in Burgos province tonight. Reports that Queipo de Llano had crossed the frontier into France tonight proved false when the supposed general turned out to be a surprised Swiss with black moustache giving him an appearance somewhat like the deposed general's.

Queipo de Llano and Yague, it was reported in Paris, had been offered diplomatic posts in South America or commands in Spanish colonies, but that both had refused.

Paris sources said their removal from their commands might strengthen, rather than weaken the opposition to the Falangists. The opposition includes former members of José Maria Gil Robles' Catholic Action party, remnants of Antonio Goicoechea's old line royalist Renovacion Española party, as well as the Carlists and old army leaders.

Dispatches from Spain said a new cabinet decree prohibiting public meetings and demonstrations except religious processions, church services and public gatherings receiving Suner's approval, had been issued.

Other dispatches said military circles in Spain were eagerly awaiting publication tomorrow of a decree reorganizing the army.

Italian Navy Heads for War Games in Mediterranean

ROME, July 24 (AP).—Ships of the Italian navy steamed from their bases toward the Mediterranean today for their summer maneuvers. The press announced that a delegation of German naval officers would watch the games as official observers under the Italian-German military alliance.

Says Byrd Can't Impose Monroe Doctrine.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, July 24. — Argentina is preparing to oppose vigorously any attempt by the United States of America to extend the Monroe Doctrine into the antarctic regions as a result of the new Byrd expedition, it was learned today. Also she will dispute British claims to the South Orkneys, the South Georgia and South Shetland Islands, Graham Land, and all the other islands in the vicinity of Weddell sea.

Argentina will make its bid for ownership of approximately one-seventh of the antarctic region at the international conference of arctic explorers at Bergen, Norway, next year.

Argentina claims sovereignty over everything in the antarctic region between the 20th meridian, west longitude, and the 68th meridian, west, contending that this region clear to the south pole is the natural geographic dependency of the South American continent.

Embraces Byrd's Claims.

The area claimed by Argentina embraces more than a quarter of the region which Admiral Richard E. Byrd is quoted as saying should be put under the Monroe Doctrine. Argentina's claims do not conflict with American claims established by Byrd and Ellsworth expeditions west of the 80th meridian.

Argentina always has been an opponent of the Monroe Doctrine, contending it is a unilateral declaration of the United States of America and has no force as an international policy. One of the strongest contentions for this opposition has been that America did not apply the doctrine to prevent Great Britain from occupying the Falkland Islands in 1833 after they had been settled by Argentinians.

Argentina has refused to recognize Britain's sovereignty over the Falkland Islands, which appear on all Argentine maps as Argentine territory under the name of Malvinas Islands.

At the Bergen conference Argentina is expected to dispute all British sovereignty in the antarctic region which is based on the British decree of July, 1908, declaring Graham Land to be a geographical dependency of the Falklands.

Cite Own Settlement.

One of Argentina's strongest claims, it is said, will be that it is the only country that actually has occupied any territory in the antarctic region.

Argentina has maintained a meteorological and magnetic observatory on Laurie Island, in the South Orkneys, since 1904, and an Argentine navy transport makes the trip to Laurie Island each year taking new personnel and bringing back those who have spent a year there.

Argentina also has done considerable exploring in the region directly south of Tierra del Fuego. In 1903 the Argentine warship, Uruguay, was sent to Snow Hill Island to rescue Capt. Nordenskjold's expedition after his vessel Antarctic had sunk. On that occasion Argentinians explored the region in that vicinity.

Argentina is expected to propound the thesis that actual occupation is required to establish sovereignty over the antarctic region, contending that such sovereignty is not established by merely flying over the land or islands, or by dropping flags from airplanes as the Germans and Norwegians have done, nor by aerial photography, such as Byrd has done.

Britain to Have 145,000 Men in Navy by March, 1940

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—A further increase of 12,000 in the rapidly expanding personnel of Britain's rearmed navy was shown in a government statement issued today calling for an estimated total of 145,000 men for the fiscal year ending next March. The original estimate was for 133,000.

PUT STATE DEPT. FILES UNDER NEW SECRECY CLOAK

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—While J. Edgar Hoover moved to combat a "marked increase" in international espionage by setting up three field offices in Alaska, Hawaii, and Porto Rico, it was disclosed today that the state department has thrown a further cloak of secrecy around its files.

An order just issued by the department says that "in view of the contemporary international situation it will not be possible to make the confidential or unpublished files and records of the department, of a date later than Dec. 31, 1918, available to persons who are not officials of the United States government."

Until now the files up to and including the present year were open to a limited number of persons such as professors, students, and international lawyers under certain conditions. But officials say that with many foreign nations hostile or suspicious toward each other, material from the files might be used to inflict further damage on international amity.

THREAT TO BOMB FATHER DIVINE'S NEW HEAVEN TOLD

Newport, R. I., July 24 (AP).—A warning that the Newport mansion of Mrs. Angela Kaufman, recently offered to Harlem's Father Divine as a "heaven" for his "angels," would be bombed unless the Negro evangelist keeps out of Newport was contained tonight in a crudely printed message police said was found at the residence.

Officers found a dining room pane shattered at Mrs. Kaufman's residence, The Castles. On the window sill was found a piece of grocery paper which, police said, apparently had been disconnected from the rock.

Mrs. Kaufman was not at home. Only two servants were in the house.

The message said in part: "Father Divine will receive a warm reception, 1,000 strong. K. K. K. . . . A bomb will accompany the next warning. . . . Black God Divine must not come here. Beware. . . . Order 6556. Join now."

Arrest Swift Official as Cuban Money Plotter

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, July 24.—An American, M. C. Conn of Indianapolis, Ind., assistant manager for Swift & Co. here, was arrested today in a roundup of fourteen merchants accused of contributing to the depreciation of the Cuban peso through price raising. All were arraigned before a special judge recently appointed to try these cases. All were released without bail to await trial.

Firemen Put Out Grease Blaze in Senate Kitchen

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—A can of grease burning in the senate kitchen brought firemen to the capitol late tonight. The blaze was quickly extinguished, but not until columns of smoke had attracted a crowd to the plaza.

ARAB KIDNAPERS FAIL TO RELEASE OHIO MINISTER

Part of Ransom Is Sent to Kidnapers.

JERUSALEM, July 25 [Tuesday] (AP).—The Rev. G. R. Goldner, kidnaped Ohio preacher, who was reported released by Arab abductors last night, failed to appear at dawn today, but watchers did not give up hope.

A new check of desert sources was begun by officials to ascertain the prospect of Goldner's return. It had been reported that he had been turned over to monks of a Greek monastery on condition that he did not appear in Jerusalem before dawn today. An all night vigil was kept by his friends in hope of greeting him early today.

Donkey Trader Tells Story.

A donkey trader had declared that Mr. Goldner had been released by his abductors while efforts were being made to pay part of a ransom through a Bedouin tribesman.

While the Bedouin messenger slipped out of the old city of Bethlehem with the money for the wandering tribe which kidnaped the clergyman last Tuesday, this story—unconfirmed from any other source—was received here:

Ishak Attia, the donkey trader, said he rented to Goldner and his father, Dr. Jacob Goldner, also a preacher, two donkeys for their trip to the Mar Saba Greek monastery on Tuesday.

When young Goldner was held for ransom and his father was released to arrange payment of the money, the donkeys were kept by the kidnapers.

Ishak began a search and said he found the Arabs who told him they had handed the younger Goldner over to two monks of the Greek monastery, between Hebron and Bethlehem, on condition that Goldner not enter Jerusalem before dawn tomorrow.

A careful check of monasteries was begun while word was awaited also from the Bedouin ransom messenger.

Ransom Reduced.

The sum entrusted to the messenger by A. L. Miller, general secretary of the Jerusalem Y. M. C. A., was not announced but it was said to represent a "down payment" with the remainder to be delivered upon the safe return of Goldner.

A friend of the clergyman said further that the kidnapers had reduced their demands to $2,500 from the $5,000 originally asked.

The burst of activity to pay the ransom started early today when the Bedouin tribesman arrived with a message from the 29 year old Mogadore, O., churchman to his 67 year old father, Dr. Jacob Goldner, whose home church is in Cleveland.

"I am okay," the younger Goldner advised his father. "If you are too ill to come the gang swears by Allah that some one with piastres—money—will receive safe conduct."

Miller, acting for the elder Goldner, went to Bethlehem, where he gave the money to the messenger and delegated intermediaries.

Singing Waiter Shoots 2 Nurses; Ends Own Life

Denver, Colo., July 24 (AP).—Harry Gips, 62 years old, one time "singing waiter" in New York night clubs, shot and killed himself today after wounding two National Jewish hospital nurses. Gips was a patient in the hospital. The nurses wounded are Mrs. Helen Botts, 30, and Miss Jane Lowry, 45. Little hope was held for the recovery of Mrs. Botts, wounded in the head.

Soviet Rejects Japan's Oil Concession Protest

MOSCOW, July 24 (AP).—Soviet Russia tonight rejected a Japanese memorandum of April 27 which alleged obstructionist tactics against Japanese oil and coal concessions in the northern half of Sakhalin island and in turn complained of a long list of violations of concession contracts and laws by the Japanese.

FARM HAND IS GIVEN 14 YEAR SENTENCE IN AUTO BLAST SLAYING

Elizabethtown, Ill., July 24 [Special].—Ira Scott, a Hardin county farm hand, was sentenced today to serve fourteen years in the state penitentiary on a charge of murder in the truck blast killing of Earl Austin, Cave-in-Rock high school janitor, last March 20.

Ira Scott.

The sentence was the same as that imposed on two co-defendants against whom Scott testified. They are Mrs. Alice Austin, widow of the victim, and Theodore Simmons, a neighbor who frequented their home. They were found guilty by a jury in a trial at Carmi and are held in jail at Harrisburg pending disposition of their plea for a new trial scheduled for Aug. 1.

Scott pleaded guilty to a murder charge on July 10. Two days later he testified at the trial of the other two that Simmons hired him to place dynamite under the floor boards of Austin's truck.

Report Danzig Troopers Clash with Polish Guards

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 24.—Berlin newspapers today featured stories of a skirmish between a Polish patrol and Danzig border guards on Danzig soil. The incident, which took place between 2 and 3 a. m. near Benneberg, was alleged to have ended in a "regular battle with shots exchanged." However, no one was injured.

ADVERTISING MAN WHO WAS JAILED BY FRANCE DIES

PARIS, July 24 (AP)—Julien Poirier, one of two Paris newspaper employés arrested in the government's investigation of Nazi propaganda, died last night in the Clamart Military hospital following an operation for a stomach ulcer, the newspaper Le Figaro reported today.

Poirier had held a position in the advertising department of Le Figaro until his arrest about two weeks ago.

"Poirier's death wipes out judicial action in what concerned him personally," Le Figaro said, "but the motives of the charges against him still remain to be made public."

Le Figaro and other newspapers continued to demand that the government make public details of what Le Figaro called "foreign intrigue in France."

GERMANY'S FATS AND AMERICA'S CORN.

A 2½ billion bushel crop of corn has been forecast by the department of agriculture. This large crop will be added in the fall to the record breaking carry-over from 1938, much of last year's corn being sealed in the cribs against "loans" from the government.

We shall then have more corn in the country than at any time since 1932, and perhaps a record for all time. There will be more opportunities than last year to convert the corn into pork, for the spring crop of pigs is back at the pre-AAA level. Then what? What will be the price when all those pigs have eaten most of that corn and are sent to market?

During the coming winter the country is likely to see the lowest hog prices in years and on the gold basis the lowest since 1894. That will take place unless the government sees to it that we get back some of the old customers whose purchases made it possible for farmers to get fair prices for hogs.

The old customer whose purchases from us shrank most is Germany. That country, despite a tremendous endeavor to produce at home all of the goods required by her people, is dependent upon foreign countries for half of the required supply of fats. Germans formerly purchased as much as 300 million pounds of lard from the United States. Last year's purchases were only about one-half of 1 per cent of that amount.

American products can only be bought with gold and free exchange. Germany has practically no gold and is thus obliged to depend upon credits obtained from exports to pay for American goods. We make it very difficult for the Germans to acquire these credits. Because of things which the German government has done of which we disapprove, we impose a tarif against German goods which is 25 per cent higher than against any other country's products. As a result, Germany sold to the United States last year the smallest amount of goods since the war. The 1938 total was only half as much as that for 1931, only one-quarter as much as that of 1929. Exports to Germany this year are running a third behind those of last year.

The result of restricting the sale of German goods here has been that Germany has been obliged to reduce her purchases of American farm products severely. She was able to buy from us last year only 1½ million pounds of lard, instead of the several hundred million pounds she formerly took.

Other countries with which Germany has had trade relations, especially Brazil, Denmark, and Holland, were unable to supply her anything like the total lard requirements. And boats sent out by Hitler to seek whales for their oil, which is a fat substitute, proved unsuccessful.

Germany and the United States have reciprocal needs. Germany badly needs American pork products, and America badly needs customers for pork products. It should be possible to exchange our pork products which are going to be in excess for German goods of which we have need. Among German products we might take in exchange for lard are chemicals, raw furs, glassware, milk separators, and magnesium. If we were to increase our purchases of these articles up to the 1931 level, Germany could readily buy from us as much lard as she did in the best pre-depression year.

To seize an opportunity to trade American products for German is not to approve of Fascism nor to condone military aggression. In attaining the high position which the United States formerly occupied in foreign trade we did not restrict our dealings to those who followed our ideas of government, economics, or morals. Being practical, France last year seized the opportunity to sell Germany as much lard as she could. French exports of lard to Germany in 1938 were twice as much as ours.

Long time considerations also suggest the feasibility of attempting to get back the German lard business. Germany has been seeking substitutes and has been able to find them for a large number of products. If we make it impossible for Germany to obtain her supplies of fats from us, we are offering a bonus to her scientists to develop something to displace our lard. If we do not act to rewin the German market for lard now it may be lost forever.

MILK IN PAPER BOTTLES.

The dairy farmers serving Chicago are insisting on higher prices for their milk and once again there is talk of passing on the increase to consumers. If that happens the farmers will benefit little, if at all, from the advance because the sale of milk to householders will slump. Neither the farmers nor the dairy companies will gain if volume of sales declines as fast or faster than the price rises.

In the circumstances the dairy interests would be well advised to look again into the question of substituting paper bottles for the customary glass containers. The advantage of the glass bottle is that it can be used a number of times before it is lost or broken, but against this must be reckoned the lower original cost of the paper container, its lightness and economy of space, and, of course, the fact that it does not have to be collected, cleaned, and sterilized for further use.

It may be that with the use of paper containers the dairy companies can afford to pay a higher price for milk to farmers without increasing the cost to the consumer. Here would be the ideal solution of the dairy problem. By this time there should be a sufficient accumulation of experience in Chicago's suburbs as well as in other communities where paper bottles are used to permit an accurate estimate of costs if the substitution were made in the city.

BETTING ON THE HORSES.

Gov. Horner has signed the bill increasing the profits of the Illinois race tracks by allowing a larger percentage of the mutuel intake. It is increased from 6½ to 7½ per cent. The estimate is an additional $300,000. The average amount wagered each day of the racing season is $240,000. The governor in his statement said he approved the bill because he wanted the tracks to put up larger purses and attract better horses. If the managements will not do that he will urge the assembly in another session to take the increased allowance away.

Horse racing presents a peculiar anomaly. The gambling at the tracks has state approval and encouragement. The state is a partner in it and takes a percentage of the profits. It is a partner in an enterprise which it sporadically tries to make a monopoly. Law enforcement officers raid the bookies and chop up their furniture. The bookies somehow survive and the furniture makers profit.

The presumption of the statute books is that it is illegal to take bets anywhere unless the state is a partner in the gambling. The law stipulates how much profit the state shall get and how much the tracks may have. The whole reason for the raids on the other gamblers may not be to drive the customers out to the state's gambling institution, but the patronage of the law is extended only to the gamblers who divide with the public treasury.

In this way the state gets in on a daily business of $240,000, which is a considerable income. Other gamblers must take their risks with the law, which occasionally pounces on them. Sometimes it destroys their property and then forgets them. If there is any pretense of a theory about this, it must be that the law regards all gambling as undesirable, if not wicked. Nevertheless, it then acknowledges that human habits are not all reasonable.

People should not do many of the things they will do in their search for excitement, amusement, and gain. They will reprehensibly pursue what they insist on regarding as their happiness. Such pursuit was declared to be their right on a celebrated Fourth of July and the law reluctantly yields them the privilege, but in compromising it endeavors to put a few difficulties in the way, exercising some judicious restraints.

The person who wants to pursue a gambler's happiness legally must go out to the state patronized track, pay at the gate, and get the additional excitement of watching his horse carry his money in the race. To induce the customer to make this personal appearance with his money the state now asks the tracks to boost the amount of the purses and by attracting better entries increase the temptation and the size of the crowd.

An objector might urge that this was very bad business because it lured more people away from their normal gainful occupations out to the tracks, there to yell their heads off when they should be industrious at their desks. If they could step around the corner and get action for their money at the lunch hour, their minds would not be so much preoccupied by the nags. The law has said, however, that it cannot afford to have any business with the bookies. They are not gentry with whom the state can have any truck. It is all very strange when searched for any kind of sense.

No, we were not on Johnstown. He didn't carry this department's week's pay.

APPEASEMENT IN CHINA.

Great Britain officially recognizes that something mighty like a state of war exists between Japan and China. "The actual situation" is one of large scale hostilities. That is more than the Japanese concede. To Tokio the affair is still an incident. The British also recognize that the Japanese forces "have special requirements for the purpose of safeguarding their own security." His majesty's government will not countenance any acts prejudicial to the Japanese maintenance of order.

Apparently that does not mean a withdrawal of support from the Chinese and isn't what the Japanese tried to obtain. It implies that British authorities and subjects in contact with the Japanese in occupied territory may have been throwing out their chests. Their government warns them to refrain. If the Japanese are content with a moral victory they'll probably be satisfied. Their face is superior to the British face. They pushed the empire around and extracted a semi-apologetic confession of error and promise of reformation.

Possibly if congress had not been so cold to the British alliance the British tone in China would have been sterner and louder. Britain does not fight on more fronts than necessary. It does not try to take on all its opponents at once. Herr Hitler is sufficient for the coming season.

Editorial of the Day

[Baltimore Sun.]

There is so little that is diverting in the international news these days that the story of how Mussolini puts his aides through setting-up exercises deserves to be hailed with enthusiasm. It is the theory of Il Duce that rulers must be physically fit, therefore he turns out the Italian equivalent of the cabinet once a year and puts them through it.

Last year they had to leap over bayonets and jump through flaming hoops. One of them fell on a bayonet, and another was burned. This year it was a wet show. They had to swim twenty-five meters under water and dive to bring up a weight from the bottom of a pool. Apparently there were no casualties during the performance, but three of the ministers were unable to take part owing to injuries received in practicing.

Well, it is traditionally part of the business of a dictator to furnish bread and circuses to the people. Mussolini's stunts presumably entertain the Italians acceptably; but he has not yet pulled out of the pool a foreign minister capable of trussing up the sedentary Lord Halifax. Possibly the condition of the striated muscles has something to do with making a great man, but a superficial glance at history shatters the theory that it has much to do with making a terrible one. Most diplomatists would rather face the entire Italian cabinet than come to grips with one man such as Talleyrand, of the broken foot.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

KIPLING AND HIS "VAMPIRE."

Four new Kipling books to read—but we'll have to fix up this column first. Never heard of them, you say? Kipling stopped publishing almost four years ago? Well, these are the last volumes of the Outward Bound edition, which we have been collecting since 1900, in spite of a shortage of shelf space; so now we have everything that he and his executors thought worthy of inclusion in this fine, definitive edition of his work.

These volumes are numbers 33, 34, 35, and 36: "Limits and Renewals," "War Writings and Poems," "Land and Sea Tales," and "Something of Myself" [the sketchy autobiography], with index to the entire edition. "Land and Sea Tales" contains a "Stalky" story that is new to us—the first to be written of that great series of schoolboy tales. It is almost as good as the others, and we do not understand why it was omitted from the elder book, especially since it explains the origin of Stalky's nickname.

"War Writings and Poems" discloses a curious fact. "The Vampire," one of Kipling's most quoted poems, was written in 1897, but the Outward Bound edition ignored it during his life, undoubtedly at his wish. It now appears as the last item in Volume 34.

These rhymes about "a rag and a bone and a hank of hair," alias "the woman who did not care, and never could understand," were, at the turn of the century and for years thereafter, the favorite spouting piece for young males who thought that they had been frustrated in love. They have been recited by drunken collegians in bar rooms and cafés oftener than "The Shooting of Dan McGrew."

The jingle begot a "vampire" type among females, and "vampire" styles of dress, and a play called "The Vampire," and numerous "vampires" among movie actresses, including the round-shouldered, dumpy little person who called herself Theda Bara. And all the while it was apparently giving its author a slight pain in the neck!

FIELDS OF HONOR.

"What are those big men doing, Dad, Threshing with sticks in the dust and grass?"
"Why, those are golfers at play, lad;
Hush! Be still as we pass!"

"Why must we all be still, Dad?
Doesn't a golfer sing as he works?"
"Hush! Don't rouse their wrath, lad; Golfers are savage as Turks!"

"Why did he miss the ball, Dad?
Why is he breaking his stick on his knee?"
"Hush! It's part of the game, lad; Pretend you didn't see!"

"Why are they all so grim, Dad?
What great wrong has been done?"
"Come! You're too young to know, lad.
But they're just having fun."

Geoff.

Picture of "An Easy Pinch."

If you don't know what an "easy pinch" is, just raise your hand. Well, one was under way at an Adams street horse parlor, and the law said, "Send down four men." The bookie said, "Sorry, but I can't spare that many." The law, too, was sorry, but still had to take four men. Then the bookie said, "If you take four men, I'll close up!"

The law took only two.

The Male Leg—For a Change.

Regarding Amy Leslie's friendships, did she not admire Chauncey Olcott as having "the finest leg" of any actor of her day?

This recalls Sir Roger De Coverley's remarks on the "beautiful, perverse widow," "who," he said, "had the finest hand of any woman in the country." Il. Penseroso.

[It also recalls the leg conscious hero of George Meredith's novel, "The Egoist."]

Brings peace. Every joy: the quick glint of a fin
Silver flashing; the lone loon's loud laughter;
Dark firs pointing towers to the sky;
The drowse of a warm sun upon you;
A whippoorwill's far, plaintive cry;
While in the soft purple twilight
Contentment spreads wings over all.

There is a white road in the midst of nothing. The moon is silver and round overhead. There is nothing in the world except a narrowing road and a full moon lighting the silence. Suddenly, from the distance—from the vanishing point of the road—a sound rings out. The faint sound, becoming insistent, materializes into a flash of diamond clearness, and approaches nearer. It is an army, clad in shining armor; a silver army, gleaming in the moonlight.

Nearer it comes, silent except for the clash of metal and the never ceasing sound of marching. As it approaches, the details of a helmet or a shield are clear in the moving mass of men. They cover the road and shatter the silence—all is silver and blue, and chromium. Now they have passed, the tramp of metal feet is receding. Into the distance they shrink, and vanish with a last speark of light.

FRESH AIR TREATMENT OF VARICOSE ULCERS.

THOSE of us who are obliged to stand for many hours daily have learned that we must give special care and attention to the extremities. While water cannot run uphill, blood within the veins and arteries defies gravity. Even when one is erect there is a constant stream from the feet toward the heart. This anomalous condition is brought about by a small amount of pressure from below, but particularly as a result of muscle movements which propel the current onward. Then, too, there are valves which will hold the vital fluid after it has reached a certain level. In other words, it cannot back up.

If anything should happen to weaken the walls of the superficial veins or the skin covering, or should some obstruction lie within the channel higher up, we may expect the tubes to stretch and hence thin out. To such tortuous or twisted conduits the word "varicose" is applied. It means dilated.

Sometimes the epidermis over one of these varicosed veins will break down and ulcerate and every doctor knows the many difficulties incident to healing because the circulation is so poor. Nature will repair her broken fences with great ease if there is a plentiful supply of nourishment. In these lesions, however, such is not the case and many a patient will be afflicted for years despite excellent treatment.

Now comes the suggestion of O. S. and F. P. Jones that exposure to fresh air will succeed where surgery, antiseptics, clean dressings, etc., will not. This harks back to our tree dwelling ancestors. Apparently they followed the example of animals—keeping their wounds clean by immersing the injured parts in running water and permitting nature to finish the job.

These physicians report fifteen instances of cure subsequent to the adoption of the régime. No dressing or covering whatsoever was applied and the affected areas were bared to the ozone continuously twenty-four hours each day. The only precaution taken was to protect the raw surfaces from flies and all vermin.

Strange as it may seem, no secondary infections were observed. The leg was elevated slightly to prevent swelling. In a few subjects it was thought desirable to obliterate neighboring canals and to this end the injection method proved helpful.

The ulcers gradually assumed a reddish but healthy appearance with the production of covering cells which grew at a rapid rate. If a crust or scab formed this was allowed to remain in place. In only three of the cases was there no improvement, and in these the patients co-operated poorly or did not believe in the program. Some resisted because they were afraid the poison would "strike in" or that they would take cold in the sore.

Our authors believe there will be few if any, failures if victims can be persuaded to adhere to the directions faithfully. Their experience indicated that four to six months will be required to bring a bad case to a successful termination. They emphasize the fact that the management must be persisted in. One lesion of eighteen years' duration closed completely.

The only addition to the process was the possible employment of sulfanilamide in relatively small doses provided the drug was well tolerated. An effort was made to increase nutrition as an aid to better circulation. To some individuals they administered baker's, or brewer's, yeast and liver extracts. They stress that neither clothing nor bandages must be employed at any time. Bed rest is not essential although it may be insisted upon for a week or two in the presence of considerable pain. The longest confinement in their series was one month.

Their data are so reassuring that wider trials certainly are in order. Perhaps small doses of ultraviolet or fractional exposures to sunlight may aid this fresh air plan. Outbreaks of this character are the bête noire of some of our elderly friends, and any procedure designed to bring relief will be welcomed wholeheartedly by a large group of sufferers.

POLYPS IN THE COLON.

L. V. C. writes:

1. What are the symptoms of polyps in the colon?
2. How is the condition diagnosed?
3. Is there any home treatment?

REPLY.

1. There may be none. On the other hand, if they are numerous or if irritated, they may cause bleeding or some abdominal discomfort.
2. X-ray films usually will disclose their presence.
3. No. Those low in the colon or in the vicinity of the rectum may be removed without difficulty. Special instruments are required.

PUT ASIDE FALSE MODESTY.

Mrs. M. A. writes: My daughter is constipated and takes laxatives frequently. Her rectum seems greatly inflamed and there is a slight protrusion, causing much discomfort. She is too embarrassed to visit a doctor.

What can we do?

REPLY.

She should put aside her false modesty and consult a skilled physician. Hemorrhoids [piles] may be responsible for the distress as well as constipation. The cathartic habit will make a bad matter worse.

Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on overcoming constipation.

WHY NOT FILE THEM?

Joseph A. L. writes: My finger nails are very long, as well as hard and brittle. Is this a sign of illness?

REPLY.

No. Why not file them to the length you wish?

For the brittleness, you might soak the fingers daily in olive oil. You may need to increase your intake of sulphur.

NO BAR TO SWIMMING.

Mrs. M. O. writes: My children and I had pneumonia last winter. Is it advisable for us to go swimming?

REPLY.

Yes, if recovery is complete, and the water is clean. Contaminated lakes or streams may give rise to infection of the nose, throat, ears, and eyes.

AGAR AS A LAXATIVE.

Mrs. E. W. writes: Is it all right to take powdered agar as a laxative?

REPLY.

Yes, this is a harmless vegetable preparation. One or two glasses of fluid should be taken at the same time.

QUAINT RELIEF PUZZLES.

Chicago, July 23.—I note in the public prints that relief has troubles that would puzzle Solomon. A quaint, incidental one has sprung up in New York in the selection of relief families for the vast Red Hook housing project. One family of seven—on relief—has been found too opulent to be eligible for tenancy in the project. This is how the matter stands: The father, formerly on WPA, was discharged because of physical disabilities. Three of the children are in school. One child just out of high school is unemployed. Another son, 20, gets $22 a month from National Youth administration. This family of seven thus gets a bit more than $102 a month from home relief and, with the $22 a month from NYA, the gross income of the family is $1,492 a year.

But that income is $92 a year more than the maximum income that allows a family to obtain one of the federal project suites of rooms in Red Hook. Consequently the family, all recipients of federal aid and nothing else, remains in the slums.

Turning to work relief, Col. Somervell, WPA director in New York, finds confirmation of the frequently expressed charge that the relief system is developing career men. He discovers that several men on his rolls have been living on relief since the leaf raking days of eight or ten years ago.

"Youths," said Col. Sumervell, "have become near middle aged men on work relief rolls.

"Older men have grown gray on relief and many of them who entered relief as single men have married and produced families." JABEZ.

STATE HOSPITAL'S NEED.

Oak Park, Ill., July 21.—Having noticed a letter in this column complaining about employés at the Chicago State hospital not receiving their pay, it occurs to me this is not the only complaint against this institution.

Why is it that an institution of this size, approximately 5,000 patients, has from fifteen to seventeen doctors on the staff, while the Cook County hospital, with 4,400 patients, has between 500 and 600 staff doctors? We are told that since the discovery of insulin and metrazol 80 per cent of the patients suffering from mental diseases could be cured if they received the proper care and treatment. Yet we keep these unfortunate people confined to state hospitals because there are not the necessary funds to pay doctors and nurses to help restore them to society.

It seems to me that Illinois, instead of spending such large amounts on useless roads and highways, would do better to invest these funds in their state hospitals. There are twenty-two institutions in the state similar to the Chicago State hospital, with enrollments ranging from 2,800 to 5,000 patients. Yet if some of this money that is used so widely for useless things could be directed to the proper channels a great number of these unfortunate patients could be cured and spend the rest of their lives as ordinary individuals instead of being locked in a state hospital until they die. L. S.

ASKS GOVERNOR TO TAKE NOTE.

Chicago, July 22.—I congratulate you on your editorial in today's paper entitled "Licenses to Work." It is well written and is the absolute truth. Your excellency the governor, please take note. H. C. E.

GOVERNMENT BY STOOGES.

Evanston, Ill., July 22.—It is about time the inside track mystery stooges stopped running this government from the dark corners of the White House. The people have a right to expect their government to be conducted by a President and cabinet who have official titles and official responsibility. These mystery knights are only responsible to the whimsies of the executive.

Of course, if our major requisite in a candidate is that he be a glamor boy and a radio crooner, perhaps we can not expect to get also a statesman. In that case we shall have to continue with stooge after stooge, some vaguely known to the public [we did vaguely know about Tugwell, and Moley, and Roseman, and Cohen, and Cocoran, and Howe, and Frankfurter], and some, like the present ones, insisting upon anonymity. FED UP.

AXMEN RESTING?

Chicago, July 22.—What the devil was the meaning of all the kick a few months back concerning gambling? You walk down Madison street tomorrow and spielers will approach you with soft spoken announcements, to wit: "Come inside, fella! Saloon wide open in the back. Stuss, poker, the races, everything! Yes, sir! Come right in!"

Nothing, of course, can be done. If the public doesn't like it all it can do is lump it. Ho hum! S. A.

FRENCH AND BRITISH HOWLS.

Chicago, July 22.—Judging by the angry howls set up by French and British Tories over failure of the administration's neutrality measures, they don't like even a mild form of "non-intervention" when applied to them. For loyalist Spain it was o k even in a concentrated and corrosive form. I'm glad to see them getting a dose of their own medicine. GERALD S. MCQUADE.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Despite the failure of Civilian Defense Minister Sir John Anderson to approve the expenditure of public funds for construction of deep bomb shelters, government officials will seek safety in deep underground dugouts built by their own departments.

This was the charge made here by H. Riley, leader of the Finsbury borough council, when the council decided to proceed with the expenditure of $400,000 for deep shelters regardless of the government's approval.

"Finsbury," said Mr. Riley, "is determined to see that bombproof shelter provision is coming whether the government likes it or not.

"We are told by the government that we wish to provide 'funk holes.' If they are entitled to build wartime 'funk holes' for themselves, we are surely entitled to provide adequate protection for our people."

Finsbury, a London borough, early this year submitted to Sir John details of its $7,000,000 bomb shelter plan with a request for government approval and assistance. On Feb. 7 a reply was received that some time must elapse before a decision could be made. Since then it has become known that Sir John does not look with approval on this type of project.

"We have been told by Sir John that he does not know what a bombproof shelter is," Mr. Riley said. "I suggest he should visit some of the government departments where they are constructing deep bombproof shelters which have not been revealed to the public.

"At the war office they have been excavating to a depth much lower than that proposed in the Finsbury scheme. They have 156 rooms deep down, protected with reënforced concrete, which is made of crushed ballast and much stronger than normal concrete.

"This room strength is of an extent comparable to no other building in the country. There are girders 18x10 inches and six feet apart, solidly underpinned, driven in with oak wedges and concreted in. The partition walls are of solid steel.

"The work at the war office and the admiralty is finished, but is proceeding at the moment at the ministry of health and the ministry of labor."

Ald. C. H. Simmons said that in the light of the international situation the delay on the part of the government was criminal.

Although Sir John's department has not made a final decision on deep shelters, it is known that those responsible hold the view that the drawbacks to deep shelters outweigh the advantages. According to present intentions, deep shelters will be built for special purposes only. Certain civil defense services, centers of communication, control centers, and some first aid posts will be underground, it is reported.

OVERDUE GROCERY BILL.

Chicago, July 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About a year and a half ago, while on relief, I ran into debt on a grocery bill. I promised to pay as soon as I obtained work. Recently I secured a steady job and I should like to pay off the debt $1 per week. I have received a letter stating that if I did not pay the bill my wages would be garnisheed. I earn $25 per week and have a wife and five children. 1. Can my wages be garnisheed for a grocery bill? 2. How much can I force my creditor to accept per week until the debt is paid? J. B.

1. Yes, after obtaining judgment against you. Your garnishment exemption is $20.00 per week.
2. No payment of less than the full amount due will protect you.

JAIL SIREN OF 40 AS MATES TRACE VANISHING FUNDS

Six Year Trail of Nuptial Knots Ends in Cell.

St. Joseph, Mich., July 24 [Special].—A middle aged but vivacious coquette, who allegedly reaped a modest fortune with the aid of Cupid, is in the Berrien county jail here tonight. She is Mrs. Rose Pelikan, 40 years old, who, police assert, has married at least five men under as many aliases, taking their money and leaving them after brief honeymoons.

On a warrant sworn out six years ago by Joseph Brcka, 70 years old, of New Buffalo, Mrs. Pelikan was arraigned today before Justice John W. Rody. The warant charges obtaining money under false pretenses. She demanded an examination, which was set for Aug. 4, and was sent to jail when she could not post bond of $4,000.

Marriage Wrecked in Fortnight.

Brcka identified Mrs. Pelikan as the woman he married in Michigan City, Ind., in 1933. Within two weeks of their wedding day, the elderly man said, his bride disappeared after trading him title to a nonexistent farm for $700 and mortgages worth $3,000.

Undersherif Raymond Granzow said the woman obtained her matrimonial propects by advertising herself in Bohemian language newspapers as a merry and well-to-do widow seeking a husband.

Through such an advertisment, it is alleged, she attracted Gottlieb Holbik, 50 years old, a gardener who lives in Wilmette, Ill., a suburb of Chicago. They were married last April 28 and two days later Holbik was alone again. His bride is wanted in Wilmette on a charge of making off with $775 and a gold watch belonging to Holbik.

Mrs. Pelikan was arrested in Grand Rapids, Mich., a month ago and extradited to Wilmette, but she gained her release on bond and didn't show up for trial. She was serving a jail term in Grand Rapids on a knockout drops case when Wilmette authorities claimed her.

Wanted in Appleton, Wis.

Pending in Appleton, Wis., is a warant charging Mrs. Pelikan fled with $1,800 belonging to Frank Pagac shortly after her marriage to him. Pagac came to Michigan a month ago in search of his bride and his money, but said he discontinued the search under the persuasion of Joseph Domon of Burnips Corners, Mich.

Grand Rapids police subsequently learned that Mrs. Pelikan had been known for years in Burnips Corners as the wife of Domon. She was arrested there today as she and Domon were drawing their money out of a bank. Domon was not held.

On the way to the state police post at Paw Paw, Mich., where she was being driven by a state policeman, Mrs. Pelikan feigned illness. When Policeman Robert Murray stopped the car, she threw the ignition key into a ditch and tried to get away. Murray found the key.

Bible Peddler, Mother of 5, Beaten to Death

Platte City, Mo., July 24.—(AP)—A hitch-hiking woman Bible peddler identified by a social security card as Lillian Gerber Davis, about 45 years old, of Davenport, Ia., was found slain on a lonely byroad tonight. Coroner Leland Francis said she had been beaten on the head. Papers in her effects showed she was the mother of five children.

2 ST. CHARLES PAROLEES, PAL SENT TO PRISON

Three bandits, two of them parolees from the St. Charles School for Boys, pleaded guilty of robbery yesterday and were sentenced to a year to life in the penitentiary by Judge John C. Lewe, sitting in Criminal court. The parolees are Alex Adams, 18 years old, who was paroled from St. Charles eight months ago for the second time, and Herman Smith, 17, who was paroled last April. Sam Finnegan, 22, was the other member of the gang sentenced.

Police testified they had records of thirty-four robberies in which Adams participated, fifteen for Smith, and eleven for Finnegan. The crime for which they were sentenced was the holdup and kidnaping of Charles Michal, 2801 Keating avenue, and Miss Dinah Antz, 1540 Lake Shore drive, on July 10.

HORNER SIGNS BILL TO CONFINE BOY CRIMINALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., July 24. — Gov. Henry Horner today signed three measures. One is for the construction of a new $250,000 security home for young criminals. The others call for reformation of the existing St. Charles School for Boys, long under fire for its many escapes.

The governor had promised to sign the bills when they passed the legislature early this month. He is to appoint a fifteen man commission which will choose a site and supervise architectural plans for the new institution.

Both the new school and the existing institution will come under the same jurisdiction as the Illinois State Training School for Boys. It is expected that the commission will choose a site, other than St. Charles where residents of the Fox river valley often have complained of the danger from the young toughs.

Inmates to Be Classified.

Under the new law the court must transmit to the department of public welfare complete case histories of the boys committed. The welfare division is empowered to classify inmates. The older and harder criminals will be confined in the new school. Mild offenders and dependent children will be sent to St. Charles.

Boys from 10 to 19 years of age [the former limit was 16] may be committed to the Illinois Training school. The age limit for St. Charles remains 16. Courts will retain jurisdiction over the boys, but must ascertain their ages definitly. If inmates are considered incorrigible upon becoming 21, they no longer will be discharged automatically, but may be recommitted by the courts to a penitentiary.

One Reform Bill Defeated.

The bills were sponsored by State Senators A. L. Marovitz [D., Chicago] and Thomas P. Gunning [R., Princeton] after a joint legislative investigation of St. Charles. A fourth bill failed of passage in the house. It would have prohibited the Juvenile court from trying cases involving felonies, and would have placed delinquents in three new classifications.

The governor vetoed a bill which would have provided maximum monthly old age pensions for any person whose application had not been acted upon within sixty days. Gov. Horner said this bill would have caused pensions to be paid to many who later were found not deserving, on the basis of need.

The governor also vetoed the senate bill for an investigation of insurance rates in Illinois, declaring that no provision had been made for employing experts in the detailed study that would be necessary to make the project worthwhile. An appropriation of $1,000 was stricken by the house before the bill was passed.

The governor also vetoed the Flanagan-Ryan bill to prohibit use of armories in Chicago for any marathon dancing or walking contest or for roller skating.

Join Ohio River Compact.

Other bills signed include:

Giving mayors of cities over 50,000 population control of police and legal departments under the cities, villages, civil service, fire, and police commissioners acts.

Authorizing the state department of public works to acquire the necessary lands for Illinois' participation in a national Mississippi river parkway should it be created by congress.

HORNER SIGNS 2 DAY ELECTION PAY MEASURE

Gov. Horner at Springfield yesterday signed a bill authorizing judges and clerks of election to be paid for two days work instead of one, in all congressional off year primaries and elections. Since 1933 they have received two days' credit in presidential voting years only.

The measure will add $175,080 every two years to the cost of elections in Cook county. Of this Chicago will bear $145,920. The cost for officials in a presidential election year is $350,160. They are paid $8 a day.

"They work just as hard, count as many ballots, and stay as late on the odd year elections as they do at presidential elections," said Robert L. Taylor, attorney for the board of election commissioners which sponsored the measure. "The commission for recodification of the election laws also approves. The increase, however, does not include municipal or judicial elections."

KOEPKE, PLAYBOY REALTY BROKER, GRANTED PAROLE

196 Released, 92 from Cook County.

The parole board yesterday ordered the release on parole of 196 prisoners in Illinois penal institutions. Of that number ninety-two were convicted in the Cook County Criminal court. Their release, according to W. C. Jones, chairman of the board, will bring the total number paroled since the first of the year to 703.

Charles G. Koepke.

Among those who will be freed is Charles G. Koepke, play boy real estate broker, who was sentenced to one to ten years in Joliet prison in May, 1936, for embezzling about $75,000 of his clients' funds.

Blame Put on Father.

Koepke has applied for parole several times in the last two years. In one hearing before the board Attorney Reuel Gruenwald asserted that the prisoner had admitted the theft to save the good name of his father, Charles A. Koepke. Gruenwald said the elder Koepke, who was found dead of carbon monoxide in 1931, had embezzled the funds. Young Koepke did not join with the attorney in this plea. Koepke's mother lives at 414 Washington avenue, Wilmette.

Another to be paroled is Boyle Bernot, 33 years old, a former policeman, who was arrested in January, 1934, and charged with seventeen robberies. Bernot confessed. He had been a policeman ten months.

Uses Police Pistol in Holdups.

According to police records, Bernot used his service pistol to intimidate his victims. He worked out of the New City station in uniform, but would change into his citizen's clothes before committing the robberies. He was sentenced to one year to life.

Alvin F. Speece, a Gary garage owner who was convicted of being a fence for automobile thieves, is another to be paroled. He has served one year of a sentence of one to twenty years. He was convicted in April, 1936, but evaded sentence for two years because he was placed on parole in Federal court for violation of the law prohibiting the interstate transportation of stolen automobiles.

Paroles also were ordered for Vincent Smale, who was convicted in 1935 as a hit and run driver, and Miss Katherine Carroll, who embezzled $49,000 from the Hopkins-Benedict company, 80 East Jackson street, in 1936.

GOLF COURSE SLAYER OF GIRL CONVICTED IN PREVIOUS SEX CRIME

Attica, Ind., July 24 [Special].—Thomas Boyce, Attica golf course employé held in the sex slaying of an 11 year old girl, was disclosed today as having been convicted on a previous occasion for an offense against a girl 9 years old.

Four years ago Boyce, who is 26 years old and the father of three children, was arraigned in City court here on a charge of contributing to the child's delinquency. He was fined $11 and given a six months' suspended sentence.

Boyce was being held for safekeeping in the Marion county jail at Indianapolis, where he was taken after a crowd gathered at the county jail here. He confessed early today that he lured Elizabeth De Bruicker last Friday afternoon to a secluded spot on the golf course where he was employed, strangled her and hid her body in a shallow grave.

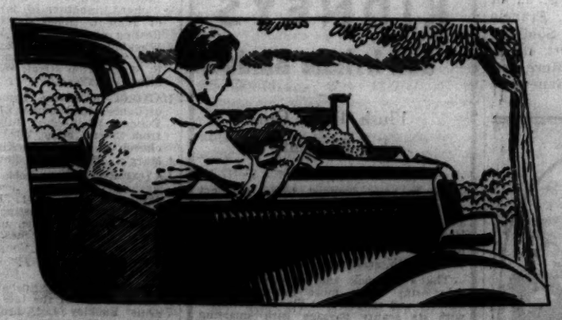
"30,000 MILES?

Own a Ford V-8 and there are two things you can bank on. It'll take you lots of miles. And it'll be careful of your money all the way. Just as important as a Ford V-8's fine car "features" is its record ... written on the road by owners like the 3 quoted here. Whether you buy your next car new or used, you can be sure you've spent your money wisely if you put it in a Ford V-8!

that's just a good beginning for a FORD V-8!"

"IN THE 20,000 MILES I've driven my Ford V-8, I've had my oil changed 20 times—and that's all. Not a drop has been added between drains. I've owned other cars, but never one that made my motoring dollar go as far ..."
—JOHN K. ELLIOTT

"THE CAR HAS 54,500 miles and I am getting 17 miles per gallon ... carrying an average load of 1200 pounds all the time. There has been no major repair done on the car—in fact, only one complete tune up."
—CLARENCE KOEPKE



"I HAVE DRIVEN it (1934 Ford V-8) 60,000 miles ... and have not yet had any major repairs; not even new rings or a valve grinding. I still get 18 miles to a gallon of gasoline ... the Ford V-8 engine makes me dissatisfied with any other car in this price class."

STUDY NEW YORK SUPERROADS FOR USE IN CHICAGO

Engineers May Profit on Others' Errors.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 24.—Chicago and Cook county engineers arrived here today for a survey of superhighways in this area and a study of designs such as might be incorporated in Chicago's superhighway system. Members of the party are Duncan M. Campbell, chief engineer of the Cook county highway department; Harry W. Lockner, engineer of design for the same department, and Le Roy H. Cather, consulting engineer for the city of Chicago.

These technicians are proceeding with their plans for construction while lawyers for the city and county are preparing a test case to get the Illinois Supreme court to rule on the validity of the 60 million dollar road legislation.

Horner to Accept Bill.

Gov. Henry Horner in Springfield has indicated that he will permit the third and last of the series of highway bills to become a law this week as he did with two bills in this series last week, withholding his veto and signature.

New York finished its first section of elevated highway ten years ago. Since then this construction has been extended. In this metropolitan area several other multimillion dollar trafic projects also have been completed in the last decade, including bridges and tunnels for crossing the waters that surround Manhattan.

The bridges and tunnels, on their approaches, brought a concentration of trafic demanding a maximum of efficiency from the pavements. This demand has been met by a variety of designs providing continuous grade separation.

Hope to Avoid Mistakes.

"We want to take full advantage of this pioneering in trafic engineering here," said Campbell. "Mistakes were made in these early superhighway designs due to inexperience anywhere in handling mass movements of express motor travel. We can avoid these mistakes in Chicago.

"In planning the Chicago system we also can take advantage of the ingenuity of the engineers in meeting problems here that also will be found in Chicago. With the background of the engineers' experience here we should be able to design a system for Chicago better than New York's."

TWO KANKAKEE RESIDENTS DIE.

Kankakee, Ill., July 24.—[Special.]—Two elderly Kankakee residents died last night. They are William Schantz, 83 years old, a retired farmer, and Mrs. Minnie Hamilton, 75 years old.

Black lines mark drives completed, under construction or proposed in plan for a complete circumferential highway around Manhattan. Experts have gone to New York to study the system with a view to drafting a plan to fit Chicago's needs.

BUSINESS FORMS AGENCY TO FIGHT STATE SOCIALISM

Transport Group Acts to Halt Burocracy.

Formation of a centralized agency to combat by educational means any threat of socialism in federal and local governments was announced here yesterday by officials of the Transportation Association of America, whose membership is composed of national business and industrial leaders.

The agency, a division of the association, is known as the American Enterprise association. Its officers will disseminate, to large and small communities throughout the country, factual information bearing on government policies, which the announcement said, carry the threat of state socialism.

Organize in 300 Cities.

Local committees, composed of leaders in business, church, school, and labor circles, already have been organized in 300 towns of from 5,000 to 50,000 population to put this information to use, according to Donald D. Conn, executive vice president of the Transportation Association of America.

As an example of the increasing drift toward state socialization, Conn stated that in 1928, 75 per cent of new capital was available for investment in private business, and 25 per cent was used for governmental expenditures. Last year 80 per cent of new capital was used for governmental expenditures and the remaining 20 per cent for expansion of private enterprise.

"With its life blood drained to provide credit for burocracy," Conn said, "business has not been permitted to recover from depression.

"The movement toward state socialism is not only being felt in industry, but it is finding its way into the humblest of homes through the active support by government of semi-socialistic labor organizations, whose activities have increased the cost of the necessities of life, promoted class war propaganda, and destroyed the value of the savings of millions of our people invested in private enterprise."

Business Chiefs on Board.

Directors of the new association, who also are on the board of directors of the Transportation Association of America, include: Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport Association of America; W. J. Hammond, vice president of the Inland Steel company; J. M. Hood, president of the American Short Line Railroad association, Washington, D. C.; R. C. Ingersoll, vice president of Borg-Warner corporation; Fred I. Kent, director of the Bankers Trust company, New York; W. F. Morris Jr., vice president of the Weirton Steel company, Philadelphia; Stuyvesant Peabody, president of the Peabody Coal company; Paul Smith, vice president of Swift & Co., and W. J. Williamson, general trafic manager for Sears, Roebuck & Co.

JOHANN STRAUSS' ESTATE IS TAKEN OVER BY VIENNA

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, July 24.—The Vienna municipality decreed on July 1 that the personal estate and music rights of Johann Strauss, the waltz king, would become the city's property, it was disclosed today.

Strauss died in 1899 leaving his personal property to his stepdaughter, now Mrs. Alice Meyssner-Strauss, and the royalties on his musical works to his widow, Adele Deutsch, who died some time ago. Adele Deutsch was a Jewess who previously had married a bank director, also named Strauss, by whom she had a daughter.

In a loosely worded will Strauss left his widow money and the royalty rights to all his music. Everything else was left to friends and the Vienna Music association. Upon the death of Strauss' widow, the waltz king's stepdaughter inherited the Strauss fortune. She is now 64 years old and the wife of a gentile army officer.

Raymond P. Drymalski to Open Law Office Aug. 1

Raymond P. Drymalski, a former assistant United States district attorney, announced yesterday that he will engage in the general practice of law after Aug. 1, with offices at 10 South La Salle street. He worked in the tax division in the federal district attorney's office. He was appointed in September, 1935, and resigned last June 30. At one time he was an assistant state's attorney. Mr. Drymalski is a son of Paul Drymalski, a member of the county board of tax appeals.

Mike Carrozzo Fined $11 on Reckless Driving Charge

Mike Carrozzo, czar of the street cleaners' union, yesterday pleaded guilty in Michigan City, Ind., to a charge of reckless driving and was fined $11. He was arrested Sunday on the city's main street. Carrozzo, who has a summer estate at Long Beach, gave his occupation as a contractor.

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

BOY BICYCLIST STRUCK BY AUTO, FATALLY HURT

John McCarthy, 14 years old, 3950 Waveland avenue, was injured fatally yesterday when he was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile in Cicero avenue near Catalpa avenue. The driver, Carl Rydell Jr., 101 Clyde avenue, Evanston, took the boy to Swedish Covenant hospital, where he died.

Mrs. Minnie Linke, 65 years old, 2358 Indiana avenue, was killed when the automobile in which she was riding overturned in State Highway 64 near Wasco, in Kane county. Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Johns, 4828 Madison street, her son-in-law, and daughter, who were with her, suffered minor injuries. Mrs. Johns was driving.

Miss Rosalie MacAuley, 31 years old, 635 North Latrobe avenue, died in St. Therese hospital in Waukegan yesterday of injuries suffered Sunday night in an automobile accident in Route 41 near Buckley road, about a mile west of North Chicago.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 454 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 353 were killed in Chicago, where 11,795 were injured in trafic accidents in the same period.

CABBIE'S WIFE GETS TEN DAYS AS TIPSY DRIVER

Mrs. Mary Folz, 22 years old, 727 Monroe street, Evanston, was given her choice of paying a $100 fine or serving ten days in jail when she pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Harry H. Porter in Evanston Municipal court on a charge of driving while intoxicated. She was unable to pay the fine so she had to accept the jail sentence. Mrs. Folz was arrested July 8 while driving her husband's taxicab at Howard street and Ridge avenue. Her husband, Eugene, was booked on a charge of drunkenness. Mrs. Folz told Judge Porter she and her husband were celebrating her return from a visit out of town and she had taken the wheel because she doubted his capacity to drive. The charge against Folz was dismissed.

Michael Kucil, 1262 Augusta boulevard, was sentenced to ten days in the Bridewell yesterday by Judge Frances Borrelli in the Safety court on a charge of reckless driving. He also was fined $5 for failure to have a driver's license. He was arrested Sunday after an automobile accident at Diversey avenue and Clark street.

Three Shifts Start Repaving Michigan Avenue Bridge

City workers yesterday began repaving the Michigan avenue bridge. The resurfacing will take five weeks on a twenty-four hour a day schedule with forty workmen on each of the three shifts, according to Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works. The cost will be $75,000. The bridge will be paved in the middle with a special kind of hard asphalt. Concrete surfacing will be used at the ends. The sidewalks will be resurfaced with asphalt.

Wife Divorced, but Husband Stays Until Lease Expires

Mrs. Rose Tolekis was granted a divorce yesterday, but she will have her husband, Anthony, around their home at 6157 Justine street until the lease expires in October. Judge Walter J. La Buy ruled that Mrs. Tolekis also must cook and serve his meals during that period. Her attorney, Sol R. Friedman, said Tolekis has arranged a settlement of $1,500.

Maj. Gen. Hughes Gives Up Army Command at Manila

MANILA, July 24 (AP).—Maj. Gen. John H. Hughes relinquished command of the Philippine department of the United States army today and sailed aboard the transport Grant for his new tour of duty at Governor's Island, New York.

MARY K. BUSEY, FORMER URBANA RESIDENT, DIES

Urbana, Ill., July 24 [Special.].—Mrs. Mary K. Busey, 78 years old, for many years prominent in the life of this city, died suddenly today in the home of her daughter in Schenectady, N. Y., where she went to live ten years ago. She was the widow of James Busey, to whom she was married in 1880. Both she and her husband were natives of this city.

Mrs. Busey was the daughter of Martin Warner Kaucher and Frances Glasscock Kaucher. The following sons and daughters survive her: Martin K. Busey, Columbus, O.; Simon H. Busey, Champaign; Mrs. Charles F. Green, Schenectady, N. Y.; Mrs. M. A. Smith, Springfield, Mo.; Matthew W. Busey, Glendale, Cal., and Don R. Busey of Farmer City. A son, James B. Busey Jr., died in 1913 following an automobile accident.

Mrs. Busey was a leader in church, club, and lodge work here. She was one of the oldest members of the First Universalist church of Urbana, of Hope chapter, 104, Eastern Star; Unity club of the Eastern Star, and of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Funeral services and burial will be here.

SEEK INDICTMENT TOMORROW IN KIDNAP SLAYING

An indictment charging Jack Russell, Oklahoma desperado, with the kidnap-slaying of Billy Scott Hamilton, 23 years old, will be sought tomorrow before the federal grand jury. Under the so-called Lindbergh law the trial jury may impose the death penalty.

Russell is accused of kidnaping Hamilton, a salesman and university graduate, in Pittsburg, Kas., after his escape July 11 from an Oklahoma prison guard in McAlester. Hamilton was found shot to death July 14 near Ringwood in McHenry county. Russell was captured a week ago in Cass, Ark.

In a letter to United States Attorney William J. Campbell yesterday, Hamilton's uncle, R. F. Scott of Arkansas City, Kas., wrote: "The family of the boy feels that justice can only be done in Illinois, as that is the state in which Billy was murdered. We feel the killer should receive the death penalty. Action should be taken with the officials for the loose handling of this prisoner which caused Billy to be killed."

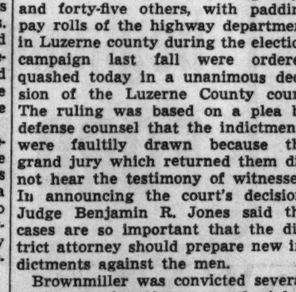
QUASH PAY ROLL PADDING COUNTS IN PENNSYLVANIA

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 24 [Special].—Grand jury indictments charging Roy E. Brownmiller, former Democratic state secretary of highways, and forty-five others, with padding pay rolls of the highway department in Luzerne county during the election campaign last fall were ordered quashed today in a unanimous decision of the Luzerne County court. The ruling was based on a plea by defense counsel that the indictments were faultily drawn because the grand jury which returned them did not hear the testimony of witnesses. In announcing the court's decision, Judge Benjamin R. Jones said the cases are so important that the district attorney should prepare new indictments against the men.

Brownmiller was convicted several weeks ago of malfeasance and misfeasance in office in the Dauphin County court in Harrisburg.

DR. J. H. HACKETT DIES AT AGE 74 IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., July 24 [Special].—Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at Holy Rosary church for Dr. James H. Hackett, 74 years old, whose grandparents came to Milwaukee more than 100 years ago. Dr. Hackett died last night at St. Mary's hospital. He attended old Marquette college before entering the United States Military academy at West Point, where he was a classmate of Gen. John J. Pershing. After attending West Point for two years he resigned and entered Rush Medical college, Chicago in 1890. He is survived by three nephews, the Rev. Thomas A. Finnegan S. J., of Kansas City, Mo.; the Rev. Francis A. Finnegan, chaplain at the Soldiers' home, and Robert E. Hackett, insurance man, and five nieces, Margaret, Mary Bellina, Therese, and Genevieve Finnegan.



OBITUARIES

Frank G. Mathieu.

Funeral services for Frank G. Mathieu, eldest grandson of Mark Beaubien, will be conducted at 9:30 a. m. today in St. Philip Neri church. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery. Beaubien was the famous host of the old Sauganash tavern in Chicago's village days.

Mr. Mathieu, who was 63 years old, died of a heart attack Saturday afternoon in the South Shore hospital. He was associated with his father, George Mathieu, in the stationery business after being graduated from St. Viator college. He had been with A. C. McClurg & company for the last thirty-four years.

His widow, Frances, a son, George, and three daughters survive. The daughters are Mrs. Bernice O'Brien, Mrs. Geraldine Graeber, and Mrs. Elizabeth Mohan.

Herman G. Will.

Herman G. Will, 70 years old, for thirty-five years Chicago representative of the Edward Ermold Labeling Machine company of New York, died yesterday in his home at 706 South Sacramento boulevard. Mr. Will was born in Chicago, and had lived on the west side all his life. He was the son of a civil war aide-de-camp of Gen. William T. Sherman. Mr. Will was a member of the Brewmasters' Club of Chicago. His widow, Marie, survives. Services will be held Thursday in the chapel at 5708 Madison street. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

John J. Murray.

Funeral services for John J. Murray, an employé in the engineering department of the Chicago Public Library for twenty-four years, will be conducted at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow from his home at 10910 Hoyne avenue to St. Cajetan church. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery. Mr. Murray was born eighty years ago at Canal and Taylor streets, near the scene of the start of the Chicago fire in 1871. Surviving are three sons, Thomas G., John J., and Chester J. Murray, and two daughters, Mrs. John Kingsbury of San José, Cal., and Mrs. Charles Sheridan.

Eugene O'Reilly.

Eugene O'Reilly, veteran downtown real estate broker, died yesterday in his apartment in the Windermere West hotel after an illness of about two weeks. He was 75 years old, a native of Chicago, and the son of pioneer settlers. He had offices at 308 West Van Buren street for forty years. Mr. O'Reilly is survived by a sister, Marie, and a brother, Joseph. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow from the brother's residence at 7230 Oglesby avenue to St. Thomas the Apostle church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

George Parker Townsend.

Private services for George Parker Townsend will be held in the family home at 6724 Ridgeland avenue tomorrow. Mr. Townsend, who was 84 years old and a resident of the south side for 45 years, died Sunday in Macatawa, Mich. He was employed by the General Electric company for 35 years. His widow, Mary Josephine, two sons and three daughters survive. Mr. and Mrs. Townsend celebrated their sixty-first wedding anniversary last March 1.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The smart woman makes the application of a sun screening preparation part of the ritual of dressing for the outdoors. A nongreasy lotion that prevents sunburn and encourages a tan, won't stain the clothing and can be applied better at home than on the beach.

One of the joys of the nongreasy sunburn preventives is that you can apply them before you leave the house for the golf links or the beach. You don't have to tote a bottle of stuff around and anoint yourself publicly as you play in the sun.

A new preparation—and an excellent one—is a smooth, white, unscented lotion that vanishes upon application. You simply massage it in well. It leaves no oily traces to stain your clothing or sticky residue to attract grime or sand. You can use it on the face as well as on the body—and you'll find that it's no slouch as a makeup base.

This lotion is insoluble and won't come off in water. This is a great comfort, since most painful burns are usually acquired by sun exposure after a swim. So far as we could learn it isn't irritating to the most sensitive skin. You can use it yourself—and so can the children and the men in the family.

We like the idea of making the application of a sun screening preparation part of the ritual of dressing. You can do a much more thorough job of coating yourself with it if you massage it in before you're dressed for the outdoors. You can use this on your feet—a good trick if you're wearing sheer hose during a long session in the sun. Sunburned feet and legs are extremely painful—and some of the women who screen their faces and arms most carefully forget that the feet can burn too.

Exchange Will Hold Sale at Danforth Lodge

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Woman's Exchange, which makes a specialty of holding sales in brand new homes, or in interesting old ones, will not disappoint its Milwaukee, Oconomowoc, or Lake Geneva friends this summer. On Aug. 3 and 4, one of the most interesting and magnificent old homes on Oconomowoc lake, Danforth lodge, the home of Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, will be the setting for a sale.

The following week, on Aug. 8, Mrs. Robert Tarrant will open her Lake Geneva home, Buena Vista, for a display of Exchange goods.

A trip to Oconomowoc on one of those days would be a pleasant summer interlude, for in addition to the opportunity of visiting unique Danforth lodge, one could spend the evening attending a play at the Coach House theater, where a summer season is now in full swing. The theater formerly was the Victorian coach house at Danforth lodge.

Mrs. Valentine is one of the Exchange's most generous board members, for in addition to lending her Oconomowoc home for a sale, she is opening her Long Island home, Valmay, today and tomorrow for a display of the Exchange pretties. Mrs. Valentine is not expected here from Southampton for the Oconomowoc sale, but her neighbors will lend a helping hand in her absence.

Mrs. Frederick C. Thwaits, Mrs. Walter Faithorn, Mrs. Albert Elser, Mrs. Daniel J. Schuyler Jr., and Mrs. George Baldwin are among those who will help sell at Danforth lodge. Mrs. Thwaits also is among the enthusiastic supporters of the Coach House theater, in which Eleanor Chilton and Herbert Agar's comedy "Ducks and Drakes" is opening tonight, to continue through Saturday.

Mrs. Thwait's daughter, Mrs. Thomas Van Alyea, and Miss Chilton, who is Mrs. Agar in private life, were former schoolmates, and the Van Alyeas are planning a party or two for the playwrights, who arrived in Oconomowoc last week. Among the schools Mrs. Agar attended are Dobbs Ferry, Dana Hall, Smith college, and Oxford university, in England.

Oconomowoc Lake Is Popular with Chicagoans.

Since the introduction of a summer theater season in Oconomowoc last year, it is being observed that Oconomowoc lake long has been the summer home of several Chicago families. Not far from Danforth lodge, along the road that runs around the lake, is the home of Mrs. Thwaits. It was built by her father, the late Albert J. Earling, a railroad man and former president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Young Harriet and Tom Van Alyea, Mrs. Thwaits' grandchildren, are the fifth generation of the family to occupy the home, for Mr. Earling's wife's mother, Mrs. George Peebles, lived there, too. The house was added onto with the arrival of each generation, and now it is a spacious, comfortable place, filled with sunshine.

Next door is the home built by the late Col. George R. Peck. He named his Oconomowoc home Ethisma for his three daughters, Ethel, Isabel, and Mary. Ethel, now Mrs. George P. Earling, is the present owner of Ethisma.

Daughter Occupies Arthur Dixon Home.

Across the road from Mrs. Earling is Arthur's Seat, the summer home of the late Arthur Dixon, now occupied by one of his thirteen grandchildren, Mrs. Faithorn, and her family. Farther around the lake one comes upon the modern, neat buildings of the Fred Pabst farm, where a horse show is held each summer.

The part of the Pabst property that is on the lake shore is occupied by his family. The big house is a stucco one, covered with vines. In a smaller house on the property lives Mrs. August Uihlein Pabst, the former Eugenie Bournique, and her small son. Young Mrs. Pabst's cottage is known for its Hawaiian sun porch.

The Schuylers have a charming new home of stone situated almost directly across the lake from Danforth lodge. Its long, broad, screened in porch commands a lovely view northwards of the sparkling lake. On the other side of the house are several garages, and ample garage space is necessary when one has a large family and many guests coming and going at all times. The Schuylers recently purchased a white frame cottage at the entrance to their property. It is being done over for the use of the younger members of the family.

Tanglewood, the 60 year old summer home of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt W. Buchanan of Lake Forest, is a center of activity for the young crowd. The Buchanans have a debutante this year, Miss Barbara; a college age son, DeWitt Jr., and a subdebutante daughter. All are sailors.

The Horace W. Newcomets are other Chicagoans who summer at Oconomowoc lake. They have their grandchildren, the Beach Clows' youngsters, with them now, and Mr. and Mrs. Clow will go up for a visit later. Next to the Newcomets' is the home of Harry G. Johns, famed for its tulip beds.

Reveal Engagement of Miss Cherie Burnham.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Burnham of Evanston announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Cherie, to Lawrence Kendall Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer K. Morris of Fortuna, Cal.

The marriage will take place quietly on Aug. 12 in Carson City, Nev. Mr.

For Summertime and Autumn

SUITS FOR MISSES.

This pattern may fashion either a summer ensemble or a suit costume for autumn. Its snugly fitted jacket with quartet of buttons in double breasted effect, is figure flattering. The V neckline may be dressed up with a wide or a narrow collar. The sleeves may be short or long, and the skirt swirls rather voluminously.

Styled for summer in gingham or some other heavy cotton, the frock may have contrasting collar and cuffs, as shown in the sketch at the right. Plaids are especially effective for this purpose, with spanking white for frosting. The bonnet hat may be made with pattern No. 2567, available for 10 cents extra, and in one headsize only.

Woolens, heavy silks, and mixed fabrics make up well in the autumn version, with its soft rolled collar of self material. Of course, the sleeves are long, puffed at the shoulders, and snug at the forearms.

A whimsical sort of hat in the Tyrolean spirit may be made with pattern No. 3165, available in one headsize only and for 10 cents extra. It's a grand model to wear with the suit.

Style No. 2925 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 4⅛ yards of 39 inch material for the summer style, and 2⅞ yards of 54 inch fabric for the version in tweed or other woolen.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

"Exile Express" Is Exciting Story of Deportations

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

The "express" referred to in the title is a train that transports Ellis Island-ward—for future deportation—people considered as undesirables by Uncle Sam. [I don't know whether the train is called that in real life, do you?]

Be that as it may—the one in question becomes the scene of strange happenings, sandwiched in between melodramatic sequences that occur before and after lovely Nadine Nikolas finds herself a passenger upon it.

Nadine, about to receive her final citizenship papers, is assistant to a chemist who has in his possession a secret formula wanted by enemy spies. The girl becomes innocently involved with the latter—who murder her employer on the eve of the day he was to appear as one of two witnesses, testifying in her behalf before federal officials who were then to declare here a United States citizen. . . .

She finds herself on the train. And still the demons pursue her. . . . BUT—there is a handsome and upcoming newspaper man popping up efficiently here and there—a nice, kind young man who knows that, married to him—well—?

The picture has quite a bit of excitement and some humor—NOT provided in the scenes between Jed Prouty and Walter Catlett, which are, I am sure, supposed to be the film's comic highlights. . . . Miss Sten is luscious and most appealing in a gentle, hesitant way. Alan Marshal is dashing and likable as the reporter. Leonid Kinsky and Feodor Chaliapin are clever in a couple of character "bits." Maude Eburne does a spot of swell pantomime. Other players are capable. Guess the director did all it was possible to do with his material—which ISN'T hot.

Also on the screen, second run of "The Gorilla"—and on the stage, lovely Esther Ralston, of silent movie days.

Write Now if You Want to Be at Film Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Andy Hardy's always getting himself in some kind of trouble, and he's up to his usual tricks in his latest picture. It's called "Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever" and it's one of the best of the series. All the popular people you like so well—Lewis Stone, Fay Holden, Ann Rutherford, and Cecelia Parker—are in the cast. And there's a new addition—young Terry Kilbourn, who's been in many of the pictures my party guests have seen.

If you'd like to be invited to the United Artists theater to see this funny new film with me on Aug. 3, get busy and write me a letter telling me why you want to come. You can tell me anything at all that you think might help you to win an invitation—but don't forget to tell me those three little things I always want to know—your name, address, and age.

You have until Thursday to get your note to me, but don't wait too long, because bright and early that morning the winners will be selected—50 boys and 50 girls. They'll be the youngsters who write the best letters telling why they want to come.

The names of the winners will be printed in next Sunday's TRIBUNE. So if you want to be in the list, get to work and tell me why you'd like to see "Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever," and send that letter to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Marbles from Rome.

A new collection of ancient marbles to arrive in the middle west is the famous Barberini collection now installed at Cranbrook, recent acquisitions of the famous Swedish sculptor Carl Milles. Milles, who keeps a studio in Rome in the winter, heard the collection was for sale, purchased it, and managed to get it out of Italy. John W. Root, who visited Cranbrook last week, saw the collection, which he says includes fifth century B. C. marbles.

* * *

Milles is himself at work on a group he is carving from wood for a New York locale. Two figures, male and female, a faun, and a bird are in the group. The wood will be polychromed, and the bird really whistles. Faintly reminiscent of the famous clock figures in European towns, this would seem to add a medieval note to the latest creation of a modern sculptor.

G. w. t. W. Sets.

A week-end visitor in town was Joe Platt, New York designer and decorator who did the sets for Gone With the Wind. He did sixty altogether. The first thing we asked about was the curtain Scarlett took down from the window at Tara, the O'Hara homestead, to make a party gown. He used green velvet for that curtain, Mr. Platt said; two shades, light and dark. His favorite of all the sets is the hall at Twelveoaks, which he says has a superb stairway and blue walls.

The picture will have its première in Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 15, with governors of southern states invited and a special trainload of Hollywood stars in attendance.

Which brings to mind, obviously enough, Miss Beatrice Kilroy's query: Have you heard of the girl who acquired a southern accent by drinking out of a Dixie cup?

Juvenile adaptability to modern social conditions, as reported by Alice Monogue: Walking past several children who were playing house, she saw one wave to the others and heard her say, "Well, good-by, I'll see you at the WPA meeting."

Lake Cruise Incident.

One of the cruise ships stopped for a short time in the middle of Lake Michigan Saturday (on account of a broken oil line) and some of the passengers, becoming uneasy, looked tentatively at the life preservers.

"As long as they don't play Nearer My God to Thee it's all right," murmured a passenger, remembering the Titanic.

Looking at Hollywood

This Giddy World.

Hollywood, Cal., July 24.—Brazil rejected the short "Plane Devils" because the script pointed up the fact that the Wright brothers were the first to fly instead of Santos Dumont, Brazil's pioneer airman. . . . In Mexico, Hitler and Mussolini must not be shown on the screen . . . In England the word "bum" is scissored from the sound tracks of any picture unwise enough to use it. . . . Canada was so irked by Carole Lombard's courtroom hijinks in "True Confession" that prefacing the picture was a statement that no such thing could occur in a Canadian court of justice. . . Denmark turns down all pictures in which villains laugh hollowly or eerily enough to frighten children. . . Budapest eliminates all kissing scenes. . . . Australia cuts out any scene in which a man is shown taking a bath or shower.

England bans screen fist fights, unless the fighters wear gloves. . . . In Turkey, Arabs fighting on the screen are scissored. . . . Sweden rejects all closeups of dead bodies. . . . Poland turns down all pictures dealing with racketeer and murder. . . . Italy won't okay any scene depicting a labor strike, because strikes are illegal over there. . . . In Alberta the censors cut out any scene showing a wound being swabbed. . . . British West Indies rejects all gangster flickers. . . . France taboos any scene showing bayonet action. . . . Italy won't permit spaghetti eating to be made as a comedy scene. . . . Canada regards icily any reference to divorce. . . . The United States navy department will not permit any actor who has played villain or "menace" parts in any picture to play the part of a naval officer. . . . Companies never try it, because they've found that the navy just withdraws all coöperation.

In "The Old Maid," Bette Davis has an unfortunate love affair. The Hays office ordered all dialogue and action which pointed up Bette's sin deleted from the picture. Joe Breen's dictum was, "make the point and get away from it." . . . In pictures, a marriage ceremony mustn't be played for comedy, and once the ceremony is started there must be no interruption of the scene. . . . Movie heavies mustn't be shown carrying machine guns. . . . Razzberries and Bronx cheers are taboo on the screen. . . . In "Hell's Kitchen," the expression "It stinks," had to be deleted. . . . In "Juarez," the Hays office tabooed showing the dead face of Maximillian.

In Massachusetts it's taboo to show a man taking a shower. . . . In Pennsylvania an actor can't be shown measuring a girl's thighs. . . . Ohio censors don't permit a gangster to be shown slapping a girl's face. . . . In Maryland a girl mustn't be shown carrying a man on her back. . . . In Ohio it's taboo to show a man setting fire to a building. . . . Ohio and Kansas cut all drinking scenes. . . . In Chicago you can't speak of taking a man "for a ride." . . . In Pennsylvania it is taboo to show blood spurting in a prison riot. . . . In New York, the most sophisticated city in the United States, kissing scenes must be cut down to a minimum.

A comedian can't be shown putting slugs in an automat, a weighing machine, a subway turnstile or a cigaret machine, because "the action is a detail crime which might easily be imitated." . . . Censors don't permit a man to be shown slapping a woman's rear. . . . No reference may be made to "ant paste" or any other poison, because it might give people in the audience ideas. . . . Joan Blondell couldn't use the expression, "The facts of life." . . . All references to Mickey Finns are cut. . . . When dice or roulette games are shown, no money is to be seen around. . . . The expression "What the——" may never be used unless it is completed inoffensively.

In "Dust Be My Destiny," the Hays office ordered a rewrite of the dialogue dealing with pregnancy, advising, "pregnancy is one of the 'sacred intimacies of life' under the code and must be treated with extreme care." . . . Any phase of illicit drug traffic is taboo. . . . In washroom scenes, not even a suggestion of a toilet may be shown. . . . Gladys George couldn't sing "Frankie and Johnnie" because the song is taboo on Pennsylvania and Massachusetts screens. . . . Nudity can't be shown on the screen even in silhouette.

The Hays office warned that Lord Essex couldn't be referred to as Queen Elizabeth's "lover," to avoid suggesting an objectionable relationship between them. . . . No reference may be made to a shotgun in a picture. . . . Girls mustn't be shown kicking each other. . . . The expressions, "make a pass at" and "make a play for" are taboo. . . . The expression, "hell-fire," had to be cut from "Dodge City." . . . Traveling salesman and farmer's daughter jokes are taboo. . . . In England, operating room scenes are deleted. . . . India cuts all reference to prohibition. . . . Insane people can't be depicted on the screen in England. Police must never be portrayed as stupid, and never are to be shown striking a criminal without a reprimand. . . . Screen characters never can be shown as drug addicts. . . . Actors can't give an effeminate reading to lines, even for comedy. . . . "Carbon monoxide" never is used in dialogue because it might suggest a way to commit suicide. . . . Tabooed words include: "Bumped-off," "nuts," "nerts," "cripes," "jeez," "bushwa," "in your hat," "broad," "dame," "stench." . . . Federal prison guards never can be portrayed as bribe takers. . . . But it's okay to show a state prison guard taking a bribe. . . . Ministers, rabbis or priests must never be ridiculed.

Ice Fund Saves a Baby, Restores Mother's Hope

The Free Ice fund maintained by TRIBUNE readers restored hope yesterday to a grateful young south side mother who had despaired last week of her baby's life. The infant, born prematurely in the family's shabby basement flat, required a special food formula. Extreme poverty precluded the purchase of ice to keep the food fresh.

The attending physician called Miss Edna Mae Wray of the United Charities, administrator of the ice fund. With a special delivery stamp on the envelope, ice coupons were in the next mail out of Miss Wray's office. The last warm wave has brought hundreds of emergency calls for ice, particularly for the aged and sufferers from heart disease.

Contributions to the ice fund were received from:

Mrs. Lillie Anderson	$5.00
Ben F. Greenwald	2.00

Mrs. Anderson's and Mr. Greenwald's donations bring the ice fund total to $772.05. Also gratefully acknowledged are the following recent contributions to the fund which provides vacations for needy mothers and children at Camp Algonquin on the Fox river:

In Memory of My Dear Mother, Mary Karnes	$ 15.00
Ben F. Greenwald	10.00
Anonymous	10.00
Total	$ 35.00
Previously acknowledged	590.72
Total	$625.72

Those desiring to contribute to either fund should send their donations to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower.

British Methodist Conference Condemns 'Careless Parenthood'

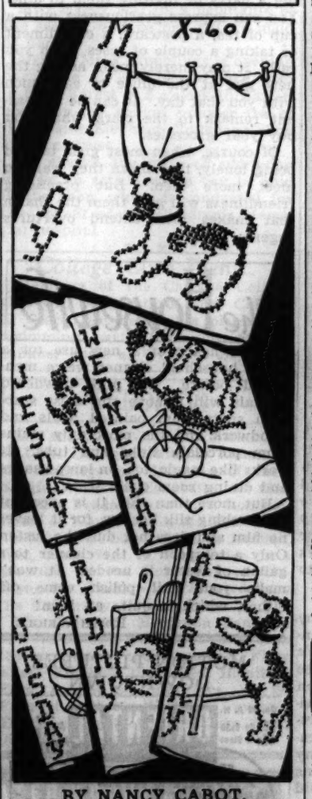
LIVERPOOL, England, July 24 (AP).—The Methodist conference of Great Britain condemned careless parenthood as injurious to social order tonight and indorsed birth control "in the positive aim of producing the healthiest family in the healthiest possible way."

The report, called by one commentator the most frank ever made by a Christian church on the subject, was adopted by a large majority after long debate.

It said "scripture can be cited either for or against contraception" and added that "to Christian judgment" it is commendable for rearing a healthy family.

Sex education from early childhood was indorsed.

Active Canines Furnish Theme in Cross-Stitch



BY NANCY CABOT.

Fido may have his moments of peace and quiet, but in this series of cross-stitch towels they are not apparent. These days of the week towels use a new treatment in the lettering for the days. The horizontal arrangement allows the use of the days of the week alone. Embroidering the pooches' activities on pillows or wall pictures gives the readers two embroidery designs for the price of one.

Good-bye To Vienna

By Olga L. Rosmanith

(Copyright: 1939: By News Syndicate Company, Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

An American girl and her Viennese sweetheart, Franz Gruenwald, in a café in Vienna hear a radio announcement of Hitler's entry into Austria. The girl, Marian Taylor, has been staying in Franz's home, studying voice. Franz fears for his foster father, Prof. von Plasy, author of a recent anti-Nazi book. He refuses to flee the country and leave his wife, Gisela, and son Johann, who has the mind of a child. Leopoldine, a pro-Nazi woman surgeon, in love with Franz, warns him to send the American girl home. Von Plasy is taken off to jail to die from shock. In order to take Gisela's money out of the country to deliver to her friend, Herr Wiedermann, in Riga, Marian invests it in rare stamps. Herr Speyer, the stamp merchant, guesses her purpose, but is sympathetic and asks her to deliver a picture to a friend of his in Riga, a Mme. Sayonara Lonska. Franz loses his job. When Leopoldine secures one for him he accepts it for the sake of his dependents. In Riga Marian learns Herr Wiedermann is in love with Gisela and wants to arrange for her and Johann to come there. Mme. Lonska, she discovers, is a spy and that the picture from Herr Speyer was a message in code. Marian returns to Vienna. Gisela goes to Riga. She and Herr Wiedermann are married and he adopts Johann. Franz spurns Leopoldine's offer to be his mistress. Next day Franz is seized by the Gestapo. Leopoldine's brother, Karl, a Storm Trooper, intrigued by Marian's beauty, offers to help locate Franz, though she doubts his sincerity. He falls madly in love with her, though she tells him she can love no one but Franz. Leopoldine calls on Franz in prison.

INSTALMENT XXXVIII.

NOT A GLIMMER OF HOPE.

There was silence again while the violence of Leopoldine's emotion seemed to ripple in unseen eddies around the sordid room.

Franz said finally out of a bottomless exhaustion, "I don't know what you want of me. It can't be love——"

"Love!" Leopoldine's tone was scaldingly contemptuous. "That adolescent word. We are adults. You know what passion is. You know you can enjoy it just as well with one as with another. Then why endure this indignity for a childish fixed idea?"

He gave her the retort she had asked for. "Then why do you do it?"

"For a reason which is a part of my individual nature, the part of me that is Leopoldine Steinweg and no other. A thing you wouldn't understand."

"You could try me."

She lost her patience. "Listen, Franz, I want to settle things between us now. Do you or do you not want to get out?"

"What a damn fool question. Of course I want to get out."

"On my terms?"

He said, "What are those terms?"

"That we become lovers when you get out and you promise on your oath to get rid of that American woman."

"What is the alternative?"

"Removal to a concentration camp. A trial when certain evidence is complete. A few years at Dachau maybe, or imprisonment for life, sudden death—that would depend on the result of the trial. I wouldn't know."

"You're a fiend, Leopoldine."

She was not angry. She smiled at him: "Yes. I know."

There was not the smallest glimmer of hope. She was not only inhumanly unscrupulous, but she gloried in it. She considered it her strength.

He said, "Do you mind leaving me alone a few minutes? I must be alone to think."

She crossed the room jauntily and rattled at the door handle. A trooper on guard unlocked it and she went out.

Franz got off his bed and threw up the window. The stinking air from the rotting garden seemed at the moment better than no air. He swung heavily on the bars. No use. He'd tried it before. They were stout enough to confine a charging elephant. There was no hope elsewhere either—those brutal toughs hanging about outside with their guns.

No, the bitter choice was up to him—or rather to Marian.

She loved him. Franz knew the strength of her love was not due to any particular worthiness in himself, but to the deep capacity of her own nature. She was going to lose him anyhow. No matter at what cost to himself, he must leave her with the most easily supported form of loss.

This was no time to deceive himself. Leopoldine was that rare type—a woman capable of doing more than she said. He had wounded her vanity by holding out against her—O, yes, he knew at least part of her individual reason for her fanatical persistence—and she spoke the truth when she said she would rather see him dead than living in love with somebody else.

He was choosing death or life—for life in a concentration camp was death. You could eat, sleep—perhaps a little—see and think, but what difference did that make?

But if he bought his freedom at Leopoldine's price, he could not look in Marian's eyes and tell her what a coward he was.

He rattled at the door handle and Leopoldine opened it immediately and stepped into the room. "Well?"

"No use. I can't do it."

She showed her astounded disappointment. "You don't believe me. You think it's bluff——"

"I do believe you. I know you are capable of anything. That's all we have to say, I think. Will you be a little kind and go away now?"

Woman of surprises she leaned towards him and kissed him before he had time to guess her intention and drew back. "That's because it's the last time you'll ever feel a woman's kiss. And it's got to be mine."

The roses wilted and died and no more came. Karl dropped out of Marian's life as suddenly as he had entered it. For a day or two her feeling was entirely relief, then she began to miss him. She had been able to talk to him about Franz and keep her own hope living by encouraging his efforts. Now she was enmeshed in a loneliness like a form of death. Vienna was full and busy, but to her it felt blackly empty. Her American friends had left the city, the Foreign Students' club had closed, her singing teacher at the conservatory had left Austria, the fate of the conservatory was still in the balance. Her father wrote:

"I don't understand the delay. You have the affidavit. Your letters are very vague. When are you coming home? Seems to me there is no reason why you should cling to Vienna any more."

She did not write of Franz's disappearance because she feared his natural reaction—an agitated cable telling her to leave politics alone and come home at once.

She wrote temporizing, "We have the visa all right, darling, but there are other rituals to be observed. Franz must get permission from the reich officials to leave the country. This may take a little time. [True, only too true.] Don't worry, dear. All is well. [That may be true also.]"

She mailed the letter and then she walked along to the Sluka Conditorei, facing the Rathaus gardens, famous for sandwiches that were eatable objets d'art and pastry that melted almost before you got it into your mouth. She sat at a pavement table under the arches and ordered a far too slender lunch of coffee and two diminutive egg salad sandwiches. Her mind was back on its treadmill of what to do next to find Franz.

An old gentleman came sauntering along the pavement with his bright eyed dachshund on a lead and sat down. He was thin and elegant and wore a monocle, but Marian was not conscious of his existence till she heard his voice. The high bred accent and meticulous speech struck so sharp a note in her memory that she started and turned round. She expected to see Herr Otto Speyer, but it did not matter that she did not.

She drank the delicious coffee with Philistine lack of appreciation. Her heart was galloping with a mixture of excitement and anticipatory joy. Herr Speyer had said he would help her if she were in trouble—any kind of trouble. Why hadn't she thought of him before?

Standing under the striped awning over his doorstep, Marian rang several times before she heard sounds of footsteps on the marble floored vestibule inside. The one servant greeted her with her ingrained old world politeness. "Grüss Gott, gnadiges fraulein, Herr Speyer sleeps at this hour. Can you not return later?"

Marian pleaded with her. "I don't mind how long he is, but please let me wait."

She opened the door wide and invited Marian in. This time Marian waited on an awning shaded terrace in the garden, lying in her host's comfortable cane lounging chair.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Have You Yarn for Afghan?

Mrs. S. writes from a far-distant city: "I wonder if you could help me out, even though I don't live in your state. I am alone all day, and am unable to go out much because of a painful form of rheumatism. Time passes very slowly for me, and I would like to crochet a wool afghan if I had the thread. If any one has odds and ends of wool thread, even as short as one yard, and of any color, which could be passed on to me, I would be most grateful."

The address will be provided upon request.

Family in Need of Furniture.

Mr. M. was able to work and support his wife and four children until five years ago, when he lost his sight. Totally blind, he now is dependent upon public charity for support. The budget is a meagre one, and they were forced to move into very poor living quarters. The house was vermin infested, and the family is most uncomfortable and anxious to move to cleaner quarters. Their furniture has been contaminated, and most of it is worn beyond repair. Their needs include almost everything except beds—living room furniture, kitchen table and chairs, linens, utensils, dishes, etc.

In Traveling Pay Great Heed to Baby's Food

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Did you decide only this morning that you would take a trip with the baby this month? Did you decide on your mode of travel—in your own car, perhaps, or by boat [which has much to recommend it], or air conditioned train? Or perhaps you're taking a real flyer in vacation plans and are going by airplane.

If you are you'll have planning to do. If this is your first sally forth into the great, wide, wonderful world with your baby you'll want it to be successful for his sake and your own. And if you've never done this particular stunt before, you may want some advice. If so, you may want to know that yesterday this column was devoted to the subject in part and so you may want to get the paper and read it, as it supplements today's suggestions.

Of all things connected with the baby en route his food is by far the most important. If he is breast-fed your task is simplified for then you have only his drinking water, extra foods or juices, and utensils to be vigilant about.

All bottles, nipples and cooking utensils must be rendered sterile clean by boiling. His drinking water must be boiled and cooled. His formula, if he's not breast-fed, is a chapter, or at least a paragraph in itself, to appear later.

For a trip of not longer than one day and one night it is not necessary to go through a lot of elaborate motions on the train, and they are rather elaborate. For this period everything can be done ahead. This means boiling the milk mixture and water for drinking, and the bottles. Vacuum bottles will serve to keep the cold mixture and water.

Be sure that the prepared milk mixture is chilled before being put into the vacuum bottle or it will sour. I hardly need add that the vacuum bottle must be thoroughly cleansed and cooled before filling. For each feeding warm as much as is needed, using your alcohol stove, or obtaining for the purpose hot water from the dining car steward.

Your work on the train for this twenty-four hour trip will be simplified if you plan to make use of the refrigerator of the dining car. In that case your bottles can be filled at home, stoppered, and covered with sterile rubber caps or wax paper snapped tight with rubber bands. Wrap each bottle in a clean cloth. Of course, the nipples must be boiled and wrapped in sterile gauze; or put into a closely covered jar.

Tomorrow's article will contain the remaining suggestions for the physical care of the baby when traveling.

Get Out in the Sun and Air if You'd Be Young

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you want to stay young, take advantage of the summer and the sunshine and the outdoors. We read somewhere that our bodies age more in winter. So now is the time to counteract the effects of an indoor life and overheated houses and hours of sitting down. Now is the time to renew our youth in the fresh air.

The young girls don't need any urging. They take to sports and suntans and nature spontaneously. We are talking to the older woman whose family or work is likely to infringe on her playtime. Perhaps the responsibilities of both a home and a profession make her incline to take a vacation sitting down in a car. To many mothers, a holiday trip merely means extra work, but these women should neglect housework and spur themselves into some outdoor play.

We know a woman who is close to fifty. But she rides and swims and likes gardening and takes a special pride in her suntan. No one would believe her to be over 37. Another young woman of 83 in our locality looks fifty and gets her beauty culture in gardening. For exercise she climbs up and paints her roof.

Many a mother could eliminate much dishwashing by going along with her youngsters on picnics. She could get the whole family helping by cooking dinner over an outdoor fireplace. The overburdened business woman will find she is rested by exercise.

A good suntan—acquired with oil—will hide wrinkles. And the vitamins and vitality will add their quota of youth. Swimming is not only relaxing, but it builds up the good posture that takes off years. The habit of outdoor play will make you forget your birthdays and make them merely a date on a calendar instead of a droop in your walk.

Lonely? Try Initiative for Social Success

BY DORIS BLAKE.

(Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

Loneliness can be as painful as a real illness. It gnaws at your vitals worse than a stomach ache. It's as depressing as a chill. It's too bad doctors don't prescribe for it.

If doctors did, we are pretty sure the medicine they would recommend for loneliness would be—social initiative. The girl who is lonely in a crowd need only make the first move, speak the first word. Before she knows it, she will be one of them. The girl who longs for invitations and entertainment can find a remedy by doing some inviting and entertaining herself.

A great many girls depend on an attractive face, charming manners, the telephone or just plain chance for their fun. They may be conscientious about returning social obligations. But if they are often lonely, you can be pretty sure they always wait and let some one else make the first gesture.

If you want to escape a dateless, isolated life, put on a campaign of expansiveness. Make a list of all your friends and acquaintances. Put down people you merely know casually. Include even the people you dislike. Then extend to each of them—one after another—some gesture of friendliness.

It does not always necessitate giving a party or inviting them to dine. You can express graciousness with a cup of tea, a postcard, a compliment or taking a couple of roses when you call. It may merely mean asking the new girl at the office to eat lunch with you that day. It can be a pleasant remark to the clerk when you buy your groceries.

Of course, when most girls talk of being lonely, they mean they want to meet more men. But practicing friendliness will give them the charm that makes men extend overtures eagerly.

The Housewife

We've heard of a new use for a grand household cleaner we've mentioned before. Its pink powdered crystals will remove the most stubborn spots from painted walls and woodwork and the most ugly stains from porcelain sinks and tubs. It works like magic, too, on lamp shades and dining room chair seats.

But more than this, it is excellent for washing silk hosiery, for it leaves no film and does not dull the luster. Only a teaspoon of the cleaner to a gallon of water is needed. It won't make your nail polish come off, either, which is quite an item!

Shipments of peaches are growing greater by the week, and the quality of the fruit is improving. Already this office has received requests for peach canning information in anticipation of the time, not so far off, when we'll be buying luscious peaches by the bushel to pack and store away in jars.

The open kettle method works beautifully for peaches, and some persons think that the flavor of the fruit is better when canned by the open kettle process than it is when the jar cooked method is used. If you are finicky about how your peach slices look, however, you probably will prefer the jar cooked process, which doesn't permit any fraying at the edges.

OPEN KETTLE METHOD FOR CANNING PEACHES

Select firm, ripe fruit. Pour boiling water over the peaches, let stand a minute, turning fruit so that hot water reaches all portions. Drain and pour in cold water. Drain again and strip off skins. Leave whole, cut in halves, or slice. Cook in thin, medium, or heavy sirup [see recipes at end of column] in a large kettle, not too many at a time, until fruit may be easily pierced with a toothpick, but not until it begins to soften and break. About 20 minutes is plenty long enough. Pack carefully and tightly into clean, hot jars, cut side down. Fill to within ½ inch of the top with hot sirup. Seal each jar before filling the next.

JAR COOK METHOD FOR CANNING PEACHES

Select firm, ripe peaches. Pour boiling water over them, or dip into boiling water and leave a minute. Drain and pour over cold water or dip into cold water. Remove from water and slip off skins. Leave clingstones whole. Cut freestones in half or slice if desired. Prepare medium or heavy sirup and float the peaches in the boiling sirup for a minute to facilitate packing. Drain and pack closely, cut side down, in hot, sterile jars. Fill jars to within ½ inch of the top with the hot sirup, and process in a hot water bath for 20 minutes. Water should come over the tops of the jars and be kept at a rapid boil while processing.

SIRUPS FOR CANNING FRUITS.

THIN SIRUP: Use three cups of water, or water and fruit juice, to 1 cup sugar. Bring to a boil and drop in fruits. This sirup is suitable for small, soft fruits which are naturally sweet.

MEDIUM SIRUP: Use 2 cups water, or water and fruit juice, for each cup of sugar. Bring to a boil. Suitable for small, sour fruits and large sweet fruits.

HEAVY SIRUP: Equal parts sugar and water or juice are used for heavy sirup. Larger sour fruits and other fruits which are preferred very sweet are canned in this sirup.

Usually one does not start canning with less than two quarts of sirup made in thin, medium, or heavy proportions. It always is simple to make more sirup if it is needed.

"Homemaker's Guide to Canning" [7 cents by mail], contains all the directions for canning fruits, vegetables, meats, poultry, and fish. It's a good buy for any one who is doing even a little canning.

Serve a dessert that's fresh from the refrigerator. You'll like the recipes in Mary Meade's booklet, "33 Refrigerator Cakes." It's on sale for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, or will be mailed to you for 5 cents in stamps.

De La Salle Alumni Will Close Campaign Tonight

De La Salle alumni will close their golden jubilee fund campaign tonight with a meeting at the Chicago Athletic association. More than $62,000 has been raised among the 6,000 Chicago alumni, Martin H. Kennelly, general chairman, said yesterday.

Morris and his bride will live in Hanford, Cal.

Miss Burnham, whose marriage to James W. L. Stone of Pasadena, ended in divorce, has been pursuing a business career in Chicago for the last several months. Her fiancé is a graduate of Leland Stanford university.

The bride's parents will not go west for the wedding. Mrs. Burnham and Hubert Jr., are spending the summer at the Burnham home on Mackinac island. The Burnham's younger daughter, Mardi, was married last June to Neil Williams. Mr. and Mrs. Williams live in Evanston.

Munroe-Martin Nuptials Sept. 16.

The date for the marriage of Miss Jean S. Martin, daughter of the Henry C. Martins of New York City and Glen Cove, to Logan Munroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Munroe of Chicago and Greenwich, Conn., has been set for Sept. 16. The ceremony will take place in the Little Church of St. John's in Lattingtown, and will be followed by a large reception at the Martin summer home.

Miss Nancy Martin, a debutante of the season, will be her sister's maid of honor.

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings is opening her home at 1455 North Lake road in Lake Forest at 3 o'clock this afternoon for the annual summer tea of the White Elephant Rummage shop on Erie street.

As always, the price of admission will be an article which can be sold in the shop, which is conducted for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital.

Mr. Pradt and his bride will be at home in Neenah, Wis., after Sept. 1. The bride is a graduate of the University of Chicago. Mr. Pradt was graduated from the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Sampson of 7942 Loomis boulevard announce the marriage of their daughter, Flora Ellen Findlay, to Judge Hamilton Fern, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fern of 7726 South Union avenue. The wedding took place July 15 at the Hotel Windermere East.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

July 25, 1939.

Those born on the 25th are individual and not always easily understood. July being the seventh month, and the day also being a seven, accents these qualities. Analytical, philosophical, and often religious, the seven type stands on his dignity and is individually ambitious to perfect and attain ideals which he has formulated. A good example of this combination of numbers was expressed by the late David Belasco, theatrical producer, whose eccentricities of dress accented the typical religious trend often found in this type. He had the two sevens and the erratic five in his birthdate, which was July 25, 1859.

On the House

For that porch or terrace where you expect to enjoy refreshing night air in the weeks ahead there are special electrical outlets, weather protected against summer rains. Such an outlet will serve for light or for a chafing dish at an evening snack—or even, getting down to the prosaic—it can serve as an outlet for a mosquito killing fixture.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	2 clubs	2 hearts	3 clubs
3 spades	5 clubs	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bidding was a bit peculiar, but is reported exactly as made.

West, for reasons best known to himself, chose to open the four of spades rather than the ace of East's first bid suit, hearts. It was this lead, and the implications it had for East, that caused the subsequent fight. Dummy played low and East, after profound thought, put up the ace and returned the deuce of spades. To East's horror, South discarded the jack of hearts. After that, South lost only one club and two diamonds, and the 500 point penalty involved was not adequate reward to East-West for their abandoned game. Therefore, their match-point score on this board was not impressive.

It is hard to say who was the more bitter over this result, East or West. East maintained that it had seemed inconceivable that West should have opened a spade when holding five of them, in preference to a heart, which was East's first bid and in which suit West had only three cards. West, just as bitterly, said that he had had no assurance of East's holding the heart king, despite the fact that the suit had been bid first, and, therefore, that a spade lead from the queen had seemed just as constructive and a great deal safer. Furthermore [West wanted to know] how could East have figured the spade lead a singleton, since in that case declarer would have had five spades?

East's answer to this seemed perfectly reasonable to me. He wrote down the following hand which, from the bidding and all other evidence, especially including West's lead, had seemed a logical holding for West and declarer:

NORTH
♠ K 10 6
♥ 7 4 3

SOUTH

East pointed out that if this had been the situation, West would have bid exactly the same and, of course, would have opened the singleton four of spades. Moreover, that South's bidding would have been better in this case than with the hand actually held. [South would not bother to double three spades, since he would know very well that East-West would go back to hearts.]

East pointed out that if the second hand actually were the case, any defense except the ace of spades and a low spade return would give South his contract. A heart return, for example, would be ruffed, trumps drawn, and declarer would then finesse against the jack of spades and discard two of dummy's diamonds on his own long spades, eventually conceding only one diamond trick.

I must say that I am completely in accord with East's viewpoint. When partner has bid two suits and the opening leader selects the second named, there is a tacit implication that he is making a short suit opening and hopes to get ruffs in that suit. In my opinion, West's opening lead was completely responsible for the debacle. The heart ace was the proper lead.

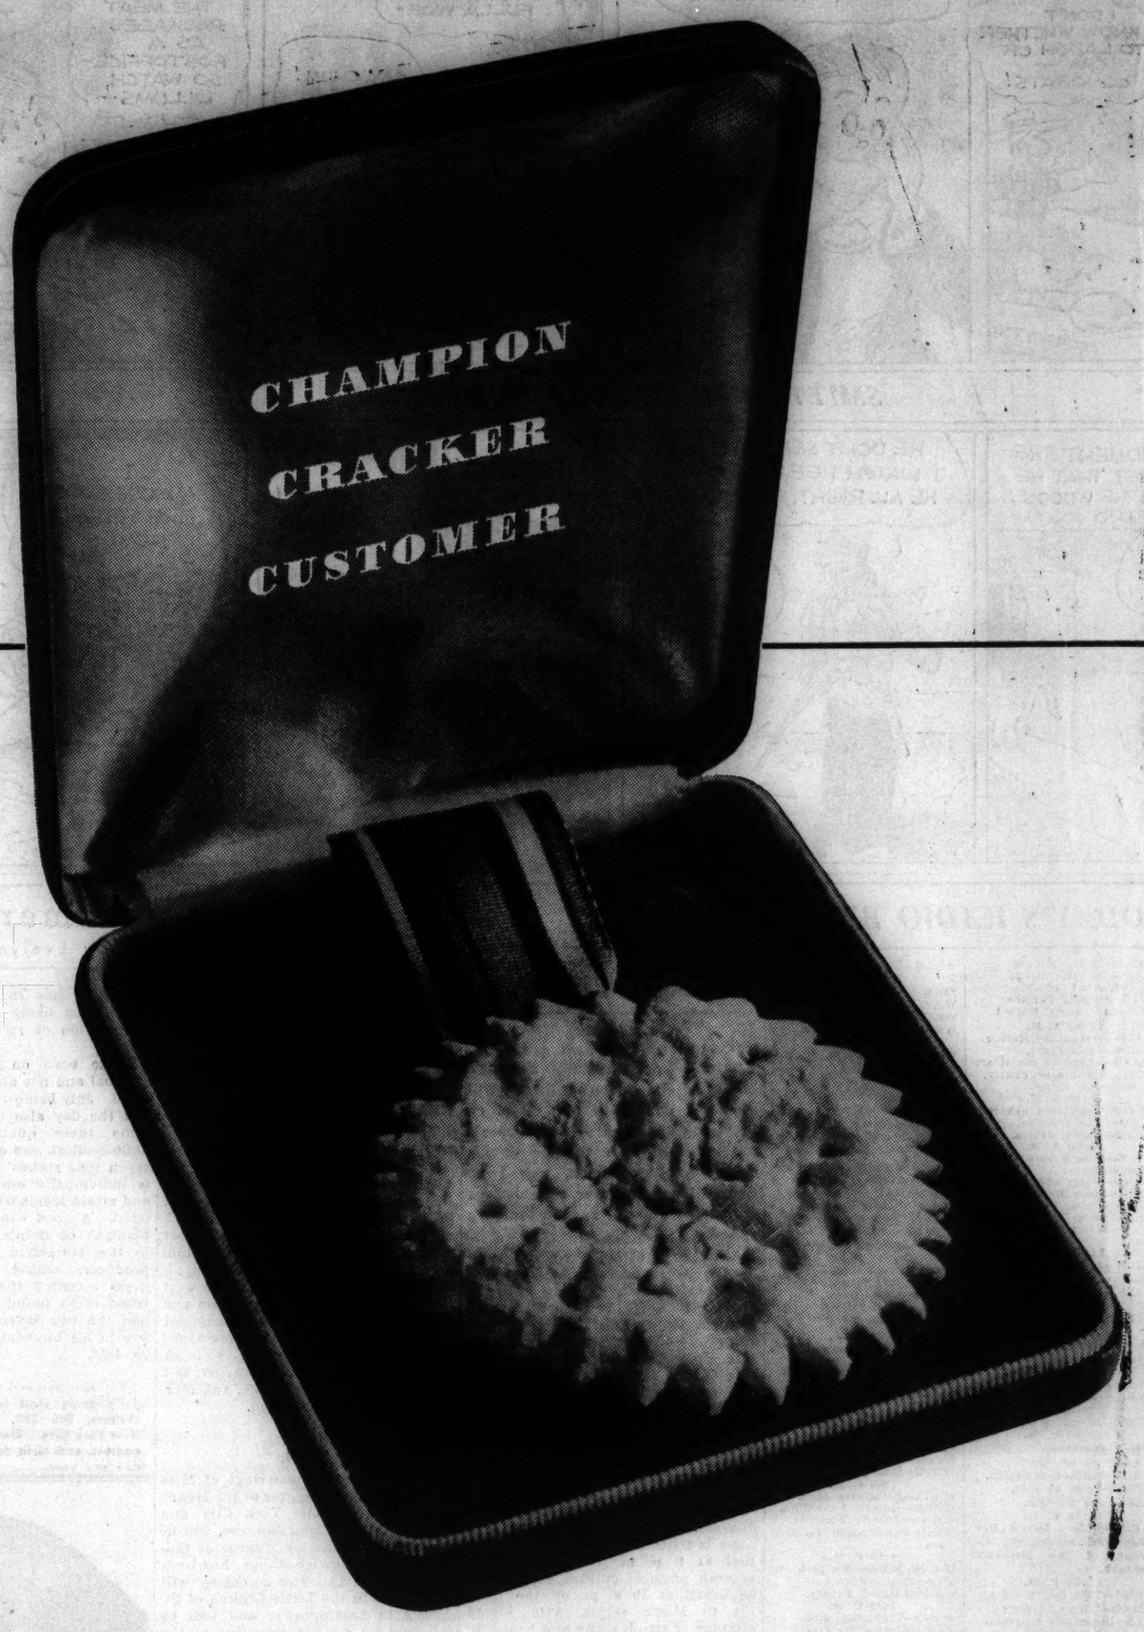
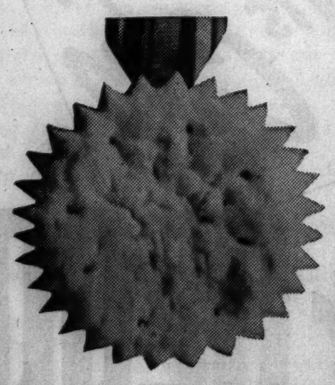
SERVING CHICAGO FOR 82 YEARS



WHO DESERVES THIS MEDAL?



We don't know the name of the Champion Cracker Customer in New York. But we do know that you would find her somewhere among the thousands of housewives who live in the high-income neighborhoods of the city.

You can discover that quickly from the facts contained in The Times Research Department's recent market study of packaged cracker sales in New York City. For this survey shows that the residents of high-income sections buy more crackers per family than any other group . . . more than 2½ times as much as families in low-income districts. It discloses, too, that one grocery store serving high-income customers sells almost as many crackers each week as four grocers with low-income patrons.

These findings bear out the important merchandising fundamental demonstrated by other Times market studies. They prove that practically all advertised merchandise—even low-priced, high-volume staples—sell faster in those sections of the city where incomes are high.

If you want profitable volume in New York, why not concentrate on the families who buy more of your goods? The thousands and thousands of high-income families in the city, who buy from only 14% of the grocery stores, can give you higher sales per outlet . . . with lower distribution costs, and a better opportunity for profit.

Your logical basic advertising medium for reaching this more profitable "mass market" is The New York Times. More high-income families in New York City read The Times than any other newspaper . . . and it also reaches a large segment of the best of the average-income group.

GLOOMY CUBS (DIZ, TOO) PLAY 2 WITH DODGERS

Dean Is Ready—If Hartnett's Willing.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, who still have a hazy idea that they will be able to make their voices heard in the National league pennant chorus which just now is exclusively a Cincinnati sangerbund affair, will reappear on their home premises today in a program involving two games with Brooklyn's one time funny Dodgers.

Dizzy Dean.

Manager Gabby Hartnett led his somewhat frayed charges back into town yesterday, but it was just one of those quiet homecomings notable for its absence of hilarity. The trip record of nine victories against seven defeats and the fact that the champions are, according to the latest averages, the weakest hitting outfit in the league didn't encourage jesting. The current situation in the percentage column also may have contributed to the depression. The third place Cubs are nine games behind the Rhinelanders.

Root, Page to Pitch.

Upon his arrival Manager Hartnett announced that he would start Charley Root in the first game and Vance Page in the second today. Gabby then retired to his north side residence, not even taking the trouble to find out how his problem boy, Diz Dean, is getting along. Diz was in the headlines a few days ago because of a mysterious cut on his left arm, a mishap which the manager figured warranted shipping the $185,000 chattel home from New York.

Diz, at least this is his claim, has been running around the Cubs' park the last few days hoping to keep his legs and his public speaking power in working order. He also paid a visit to his employer, P. K. Wrigley, but if Diz hoped for a chance to explain how the arm was crashed he was disappointed. Wrigley enjoyed a laugh over the newspaper explanations in connection with Diz's latest episode and didn't care for further details. Diz is expected to show up in the clubhouse today, but Hartnett hasn't made any plans for a gala reception.

Nicholson Due Aug. 1.

The mystery as to why the Cubs, who aren't carrying all the players the baseball law allows and who have a few cripples as well, haven't brought up Outfielder Bill Nicholson, purchased from Chattanooga several weeks ago, will be cleared up Aug. 1. That's the day Nicholson is supposed to appear, according to terms of the $5,000 deal. He'd have been here sooner if the Cubs could have given Chattanooga a fly chaser to fill Nicholson's place. The Cubs offered several fellows, but they weren't acceptable.

COMISKEY WILL TO BE READ TO FAMILY TODAY

Believe Heirs Will Keep Sox Property.

Contents of the will of J. Louis Comiskey, president-owner of the White Sox, who died last Tuesday at his Eagle River, Wis., summer camp, will be made public this afternoon. After the will has been read to members of the family, Mrs. Grace Comiskey, the widow, and the three children, Dorothy, Gracie Lou, and Charles II., a formal statement will be issued by Attorney Paul Godehn of the firm of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt.

Will Go to Direct Heirs.

It is generally believed that the entire baseball club as well as other parcels of the estate will be shared by the direct heirs, the business management of the club being placed in the hands of a board of trustees. One of the trustees is expected to be Vice President Harry Grabiner. Reports were circulated yesterday that Comiskey had provided for the appointment of Dick Walsh, an old friend, to the club presidency.

Another possibility is that James Dykes, team manager, who in a few seasons has built up the Sox almost to a pennant contending status, might, in recognition of his work, be named one of the trustees or be made an officer in the corporation. If Comiskey provided for such a move it would not affect Dykes' present status as field boss.

Club Not For Sale.

Various syndicates which during the last dozen years made futile bids of as high as $3,000,000 for the baseball property are still interested, but it is not considered likely that the Comiskey will includes a request the club be sold.

It was the desire of Charles A. Comiskey that his grandson, Charles II., now 13 years old, would one day become president of the club and Lou Comiskey may have carried out this wish. Under such a proviso the club would be operated by trustees until Charles II. reaches his majority.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

ONE grand feature of the All-Star football game, writes Helper Raymond Moore of Lake Forest, is that the players don't have to worry about the semester exams after it's over. . . . Bronko Smilanich of Arizona, who has earned a place on the All-America squad because of the tremendous support he received from the Rocky Mountain area and his native Minnesota, is the son of an iron ore miner. . . . Insall B. Hale, Texas Christian's 240 pound tackle, is going to be pretty mad at everybody if the menu at Northwestern doesn't include chicken and gravy every day. . . . Warren Brunner, Tulane half back, is a champion table tennis player in New Orleans. . . . His mother may come to Chicago to see him climax his football career in the game against the New York Giants Aug. 30. . . . Ralph Heikkinnen of Michigan, who led all candidates for guard in the coast to coast poll, will enter law school at Ann Arbor in the fall. . . . The ticket sale is the heaviest since the All-Star series was inaugurated in 1934. . . . All profits are divided equally among the United Charities, Catholic Charities, and Jewish Charities of Chicago.

Ki Aldrich.

Roland Young, Oklahoma end, was a varsity wrestler for two years. . . . He delights in decorating his room and is a colonel on the staff of the governor of Oklahoma. . . . The favorite amusements of Ki Aldrich, center from the Texas Christian, are pitch and pocket billiards. . . . Marshall Goldberg, who was voted a starting position at half back, is spending the summer as a counselor in a boys' camp in Maine. . . . Bob MacLeod of Dartmouth, the other starting half back for the All-Stars, refuses to wear a noseguard, though he recently underwent a minor nasal operation. . . . "I can't see with one of those things on my nose," Bob explains. . . . Dave Anderson, California full back, earned a varsity letter in rugby in addition to three in football. . . . Everett Kischer, quarter back, financed his way through Iowa State by serving as student representative for a nationally known grocery and confectionery concern. . . . Carl Erickson of Northwestern again will serve as the All-Stars' trainer.

IT'S LUCKMAN'S LUCKY DAY; HE SIGNS WITH BEARS

Columbia Player Also Is Named on All-Stars.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Sid Luckman came, saw and was conquered by Chicago and George Halas yesterday. It's an old Chicago custom.

The Columbia university triple threat half back, who finished fifth in THE TRIBUNE'S nation-wide All-Star poll with 676,418 votes, signed a two year contract in the Bears' office late yesterday after a day of sight seeing and luncheon appointments. The amount of the contract was not announced, but Luckman said it was better than he had expected.

Mr. Luckman's Impressed.

Simultaneous with his signing, Luckman, seeing the United States west of Buffalo for the first time in his life, was notified that he had been elected to a place on the All-Star squad which meets the New York Giants, professional champions of the world, in Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 30.

"That," said Luckman, "climaxes one of the most memorable days of my life. I'm going to like Chicago. You do big things in a hurry around here. Take a young drug store cowboy from Brooklyn and in one short day sign him to an attractive contract with one of the best of the big league teams, sell him the city and then wind up inviting him to take part in football's greatest game. I'm not being kidded, am I?"

An Old Dream Comes True.

"I guess the biggest thrill is the invitation to play in the All-Star game," he said. "Ever since I was in Erasmus High school in Brooklyn I've been hearing about the Chicago All-Star game and hoping that some day I might play with the rest of the All-Americans as one of the people's choices. I hope I can be for-

O'BRIEN LEADS FIELD IN RECORD NATIONAL POLL

69 Named to Face Giants Aug. 30.

BY ARCH WARD.

The eleven All-America football players who will come out individually in the spotlight's white glare at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 30 will represent eleven different universities.

Sammy Baugh.

They are the winners of the coast to coast poll, conducted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and 332 associated newspapers and radio stations in 47 states and the District of Columbia. Under the rules of the contest they must comprise the starting lineup against the New York Giants, champions of the National Professional league, in Chicago's sixth annual charity All-Star game.

If for any reason any player chosen by the fans is unable to take his place in the starting battle front, the athlete next in line in the national poll must be moved into the position.

Vote Establishes Record High.

The total vote shattered all records for sports promotions. The final figure—10,916,366—exceeded last year's by almost 2,400,000. The increase is attributed to the greater number of polling centers and to the unusual popularity of several of the more prominent candidates. THE TRIBUNE had only 138 associates in the 1938 poll.

This is the way the All-Stars will line up for the opening kickoff:

CENTER—Charles Brock, Nebraska.

FULL BACK—Howie Weiss, Wisconsin.

The above group will be supported by the strongest array of talent ever assembled in a football camp. Invitations were sent last night to sixty-nine players. They will report at Northwestern university Aug. 12 to a staff of coaches who also will be picked by the fans. The coaches' poll is in operation now.

Seven of Eleven from Middle West.

Seven of the eleven starting players are from the middle west, five from the Big Ten and two from outside the conference. The south will be represented by O'Brien of Texas Christian and Wyatt of Tennessee, and the east by MacLeod of Dartmouth and Goldberg of Pittsburgh. This is the first year no player from the Pacific coast has been chosen for the opening lineup.

The fact that an athlete was not named to the starting team does not mean he has little or no opportunity to get into the game. The coaches are free to make substitutions any time after the completion of one play. Sammy Baugh wasn't a starter in the 1937 game. Tuffy Leemans didn't come out under the spotlight in 1936. Yet these two players stand out among the most brilliant the All-Star series has developed.

The honor of receiving more votes than any other player in the country goes to the diminutive O'Brien, who rolled up 1,204,516. The other players whose total exceeded a million were Howie Weiss of Wisconsin with

STANDS ALONE IS STANDING ALONE AT END OF RACE

Wins Handicap Trial at Arlington.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

W. B. Simpson's 4 year old colt, Stands Alone, established himself as a strong contender in next Saturday's Arlington handicap by showing remarkable speed in winning the Lockport purse, feature event on yesterday's program. He ran the mile and an eight in 1:50, three-fifths of a second off the track record. After going to the post at better than 6 to 1, he beat the favorite, Robert L., by a nose while Burning Star and Eagle Pass, other handicap candidates, finished third and fourth respectively.

The pace for the first three-quarters was so slow—1:15—that the field of six was closely bunched as it came around the last turn. All had plenty of energy to do some sharp running in the stretch. They went the last furlong in :11 3-5. Head and head, Stands Alone and Robert L. charged through the last sixteenth and it was anybody's race until the photo was snapped at the finish line.

Stands Alone returned $14.40 to win, $6.00 to place and $4.00 to show. Robert L.'s prices were $4.00 and $3.00 and show tickets on Burning Star were worth $3.40.

Futurity Candidates Compete.

Five eligibles for next Saturday's $50,000 Futurity will run today in the Danville purse, a 5½ furlong dash for two year old colts and geldings. They are Dollarville, Star Chance, Clyde Tolson, Sir Milland, and Tough Hombre. There is a possibility that one or more of these may start in Saturday's big race, depending on the outcome of this afternoon's event.

Arnold Hanger's Roman Flag, which has given some outstanding performances recently in the east, was on the track yesterday for his first tuneup since his arrival Saturday. Breezing five furlongs in 1:01 4-5, he impressed observers with his fitness. He will draw heavy backing in the Futurity.

Skin Deep May Run.

Arlington officials have received word that E. R. Bradley's Bimelech and Mrs. Charles S. Selden's Boy Angler, two unbeaten colts bred at the Idle Hour farm near Lexington, Ky., will be shipped here from New York to run Saturday.

There is a possibility that Alfred G. Vanderbilt may attempt to sweep both of Arlington's big stakes for two year olds by sending his excellent colt, Skin Deep, into the Futurity. His speedy filly, Now What, won the Lassie stakes earlier in the meeting. He will make a decision on Skin Deep in a day or two.

Joseph E. Widener's Roman, the outstanding colt of the Kentucky and Illinois season, is recuperating from an attack of fever and is not considered a likely starter, though he has not yet been declared out.

Longshots Come Through.

A remarkable succession of longshots kept the ladies' day crowd of 15,000 in an uproar yesterday. Drift On returned $26.40 to win the first race while the second horse, Chispa, returned $196.20 to place.

Car-Rou scored in the second and returned $51, $25, and $14.60. In the third, Jockaway paid $38, $14.80, and $7.80, and in the fourth, Wise Decision was good for $43.40, $13.40, and $11.00. Favorites were finishing clear out of the money.

Gold Cup to Be Run Again Over Hawthorne Track

The Hawthorne Gold Cup again will feature the twenty-four day meeting at the west side track. At a special meeting yesterday of the executive committee, composed of President Charles Krutchkoff, chairman of the board, Charles W. Bidwill, and Vice President Joseph A. Murphy, it was decided to hold the Gold Cup.

The stake, which will be a handicap race, will have an added value of $15,000 and the Gold Cup. It will be run Saturday, Sept. 16.

The Hawthorne meeting opens on Labor day, Monday, Sept. 4, and closes Saturday, Sept. 30. Other stake races will be approved by the executive committee within the next few days.

The first Gold Cup was won by Display in 1928, and behind him were such sterling performers as Crusader, Mike Hall, Sun Beau, Misstep, and others. In later years it was won by the record money-earner Sun Beau, who took it as a 4, 5, and 6 year old. Plucky Play won in 1932, and Equipoise was first under the wire in 1933. Discovery was the victor in 1935. The race was discontinued in 1934 and 1936, but was resumed in 1937 when Sahib II. won. Last year Esposa was the victor. The distance is 1¼ miles.

Time, :22 4-5, :46 1-5, 1:11 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Wise Decision, $43.40 straight, $19.40 place, $11.00 show; Sonny John, $21.60 place, $11.00 show; Ottoman, $10.60 show. Winner trained by R. A. Kindred. Went to post at 3:46. At post 2 minutes. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

WISE DECISION drew clear quickly and held sway easily to the final quarter, gamely resisted the challenge of SONNY JOHN, lost the lead in the last fifty yards but came again and got up in the last stride. SONNY JOHN, reserved off the pace under good restraint, came out after reaching the stretch, slowly wore down WISE DECISION but faltered in the final strides. OTTOMAN, a forward factor from the start, was directed between horses much of the race and held on fairly well.

Time, :25, :49 1-5, 1:15, 1:38 2-5, 1:50. Two dollar mutuels paid: Stands Alone, $14.40 straight, $6.00 place, $4.00 show; Robert L, $4.00 place, $3.00 show; Burning Star, $3.40 show. Winner trained by D. Jefferson. Went to post at 4:17½. At post 1 minute. Start good from Bahr gate. Won driving; place same.

STANDS ALONE, reserved off the pace under strong restraint and always clear, responded willingly when called upon, withstood an extended drive with fine courage and outfinished ROBERT L at the end. Latter was taken back repeatedly while forcing the early pace under almost choking restraint, was still in hand as he took command approaching the stretch, swerved slightly while holding on stubbornly in the drive and barely failed to last. BURNING STAR, never a great distance back, was under strong urging after reaching the final five-sixteenths and fought it out courageously to the end.

SIXTH RACE—Seven furlongs. Allowance. Three year olds and up. Purse $1,200. Net value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :23 1-5, :46, 1:10 3-5, 1:23 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Easy Mon, $6.60 straight, $3.60 place, $2.80 show; Tiger, $3.80 place, $3.00 show; Journey On, $4.20 show. Winner trained by F. J. Kearns. Went to post at 4:49. At post ½ minute. Start good from permanent stall. Won driving; place driving.

EASY MON, reserved off the pace and raced wide, rallied to light pressure after reaching the last five-sixteenths, was put to a stiff drive after straightening up in the stretch and swerved out while coming away in the last eighth. TIGER, away fast and having speed, crossed to the inside after drawing clear, took command easily on the turn and was hung on well under much punishment the final quarter but could not withstand the winner. JOURNEY ON, taken in hand when unable to outrun TIGER, failed to keep up on the stretch turn but came again in the late stages and was slowly wearing down TIGER.

HOLL IMAGE saved much ground early, raced to DEAD CALM gradually after reaching the last three-eighths, got to the front under punishment and drew out under a hand ride as Robertson lost his whip about fifty yards from the finish. DEAD CALM took command easily, was kept on the inside while making an easy pace to the stretch turn, came out in the last three-sixteenths and held on well but was not good enough. RUSSIA, a mild factor early, responded to Yarberry's urging after reaching the final half mile but shook off SHOT PUT in the last sixteenth.

BOILING POINT crossed over to the inside sharply soon after reaching the first turn, was steadied along as SIR AJAX made the pace, responded strongly after reaching the final straightaway, hung after getting to the front, yet held the race safe but was disqualified for fouling. BERETT began fast and was racing strongly when forced back as BOILING POINT came over on the first turn, was steadied along to the last quarter, closed well and overlook SIR AJAX in the final stride. The latter took command easily, increased his advantage on the last turn, bore out in the final straightaway and otherwise might have lasted. CORKER raced well.

COLLEGE SPIRIT PROVES ITSELF IN ALL-STAR GAME

Kizer Lauds Teamwork of 1934 Group.

BY NOBLE E. KIZER.

Lafayette, Ind., July 24.—The first All-Star game in 1934 was in a sense the proving ground of college spirit.

When the coaching staff assembled for that initial game to take inventory of possibilities and material, it must be admitted that there were many qualms on the part of Jimmy Crowley, Dick Hanley, Mal Elward and myself, who were charged with the responsibility of preparing the collegiate contingent.

The burly professional champions, the Chicago Bears, ruled as almost prohibitive favorites. The man in the street waxed loud over the plunging of Bronko Nagurski. The college boys, admittedly stars in their own right, were untried as a team. Few of our players were even acquainted with each other, and yet they were to be pitted against a well-knit professional combination that had won the championship the year previous, a team that could almost play by ear.

Task Looks Hopeless.

To say that problems were anticipated would be putting it mildly. In that first year, there was no background to serve as a basis for planning, and before practice started the task looked almost impossible.

Our anticipated problems started to fade away once the great group of college boys reported for practice. The players were aware that they were "on the spot" and prepared to uphold the tradition of college football. Almost without exception, they reported in excellent physical condition, and in the proper frame of mind. There was no disparaging of the professionals' ability, but rather a determination to match ability with ability and spirit.

Those unaccustomed to working with college players might have anticipated they would show "prima donna" tendencies. Actually, the coaches received the finest type of coöperation from every member of the squad. The same type of college spirit that accounts for many of the thrills during the regular fall schedule was much in evidence on the practice field.

Interested in Team Play.

Although every member of the squad was a star in his own right, the players were much more interested in the success of the squad as a whole than they were in their own individual achievements. There was that same desire to win that characterizes all college men, regardless of the odds.

The game itself, of course, is a matter of history. The All-Stars surprised possibly every one but themselves and their coaches by playing the Bears to a standstill. There were many thrills, but the greatest thrill for the coaches came from watching the collegians more than match the team play of the professionals, despite the fact that many of the players had only a nodding acquaintance with the style of play finally selected. I must admit, however, that I received a lot of personal satisfaction from watching such men as Ed Krause, Mike Mikulak, and Chuck Bernard stopping the line plunges of Nagurski.

They'll Be Back.

Since that first game the enthusiasm of the college players at being chosen for the team in nation-wide polls has been mounting year by year, and I feel safe in saying that enthusiasm and spirit has been, and will be, the outstanding characteristic of the collegiate squads as the series is continued.

That first game in 1934 may be a matter of past history, but the many pleasant associations formed during the training period are still a thing of the present. Every member of that first coaching staff hears frequently from the players. Without exception, they never lose a chance to express their appreciation of the opportunity that they were afforded by the All-Star game, not only for competition, but for pleasant association.

SEATTLE BOY, 18, LEADS IN PUBLIC LINKS WITH A 70

Baltimore, Md., July 24 (AP).—Two boys a month out or high school—from Seattle, Wash., and Atlanta, Ga.—outscored almost 200 of the nation's best public links golfers today to lead at the halfway mark in the national tournament qualifying round over the Mount Pleasant golf course. Gerry Bert Jr., 18, of Seattle, was the leader with 70, two under par. Next was Luke Barnes, 19, of Atlanta, with 71.

Teams from all over the country completed the first half of competition for the Harding cup, awarded to the three-man squad with the lowest gross for 36 holes. The defending Los Angeles team posted 221 to lead Seattle by three strokes. Lincoln, Neb., had 226, and Utica, N. Y., 231. Al Leach of Cleveland, O., defending champion, had 38—37—75 leaving him in an apparently safe position to start the second qualifying round tomorrow. Leading first round scores:

Luke Barnes, Atlanta, Ga.	36	35	71
Ralph A. Reed, Lincoln, Neb.	35	37	72
Arthur Armstrong, Honolulu	37	35	72

JUDGE RULES ON ERROR; MAKES PUTOUT FOR BEES

Boston, Mass., July 24 [Special].—Hereafter Ferdinand Brahant, 38 years old, of Prospect street, Woburn, won't have to watch the Bees make any errors. Nor will he be privileged either to watch them pull off fielding gems.

Brahant, whose indignation at an error by Al Lopez led him to hop the infield fence for combat on Saturday, acknowledged today in Brighton court that he became overexcited.

Such excitement being bad for one, Judge Thomas H. Connolly placed the charge of disturbing a public assembly on file, but banned Brahant from the National league park for the balance of the schedule.

It's bad enough being upset by your own errors without being challenged to fight about them, the judge intimated.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Sid Luckman (right), happy over a two year contract, shakes hands with Owner George Halas of the Bears after signing yesterday. Luckman broke out in another big smile a bit later when he was informed he had been elected to a place on the Tribune's All-Star squad.

given for being proud of the fact that more than 600,000 people thought enough of my ability to vote for me.

"I saw every game the Giants played last year. They are a great football team. But from what I have heard and what I know about some of the members of the All-Star team, I don't see how even the champion Giants can win in Soldiers' field."

Watch Those Bears Pass Now!

Signing of Luckman gives the Bears two of the three outstanding passers in 1939 college graduating classes. They already have Billy Patterson of Baylor under contract. The third member of the trio, Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian, who led The Tribune's poll, belongs to Philadelphia.

Patterson and Luckman round out a quartet of triple threat rookies under contract to the Bears, Solly Sherman of Chicago and Butch Stolfa of Luther having been signed earlier. Halas plans on adding Bernie Masterson, veteran quarter back, to this quartet and turning over quarter back and left half back to the five. Each man will be required to learn both positions and will alternate between the two assignments, indicating that Halas plans some changes in his aerial attack this season. Heretofore, virtually all the Bears' passing has been done from the quarter back position.

Luckman Has the Size.

Luckman's passing record last year was among the best in football. He threw 132, completing 66 for nine touchdowns and 866 yards on a Columbia team that lost six out of nine games. He averaged 4.6 yards in 92 attempts to carry the ball behind a mediocre line. Six feet tall and weighing 195 pounds, Luckman possesses the physical requirements for professional stardom and will be given ample opportunity to carry as well as pass the ball.

Luckman was the luncheon guest of J. J. Lipp at the Standard club yesterday before meeting Halas and was taken on a tour of the city by Ald. Jacob Arvey, who presented him to Mayor Kelly.

Nation's Fans Pick College All-Star Team

An Amazing Growth.

A brief résumé of the All-Star promotion will give you an idea of its amazing development. When this department originated the enterprise in 1934 as a followup to the All-Star baseball game it had the coöperation of thirty other newspapers. This year we had 332. The player vote in 1934 totaled 167,000 and this year almost 11 million. The squad in 1934 numbered thirty-five. This year there will be sixty-nine.

In addition to the eleven who won starting positions THE TRIBUNE has invited the following players to join the All-Star squad:

CENTERS—Ki Aldrich, Texas Christian; Paul Humphrey, Purdue; Dan Hill, Duke; Ed Longhi, Notre Dame; Jim McDonald, Illinois; Tony Calvelli, Stanford; Al Van Ranst, Cornell; Jerry Dowd, St. Mary's [Cal.]

Forty Are from Middlewest.

The squad of 69 includes 23 from the Big Ten and 17 from schools in the middlewest outside the conference. There are eleven from the east, nine from the south and nine from the far west. Thirty-nine schools will be represented on the squad.

All players have been notified to get themselves in condition before reporting on Aug. 12. The coaches, as usual, will begin work on team play almost immediately after the introductory workout and those physically equipped to carry on naturally will have the advantage when the instructors begin to form complete units.

First return in the coaches' poll will be published tomorrow.

Use Camera Four Times to Decide Latonia Races

Latonia, Ky., July 24 (AP).—They had to use the camera four times today to decide close finishes at Latonia race track. In the feature fifth a half dozen horses were heads and noses apart at the finish and the camera gave it to Winnataska, which finished on the outside. Master Frank, which had set all the early pace, was second and Morisco third.

BROOKLYN BUYS DIXIE WALKER; LOSES VAN MUNGO

New York, July 24 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers today announced the purchase of Outfielder Dixie Walker from Detroit, to bolster their faltering team, and the loss of Pitcher Van Mungo.

While the team was heading west, President Larry MacPhail revealed the purchase of Walker from the Detroit Tigers for an unannounced price and that Mungo has suffered a broken ankle in Sunday's game with the Cardinals and would be out at least six weeks.

Mungo was injured sliding into second base while running for Art Parks in yesterday's second game. X-rays revealed the fracture today.

Walker, who will join the club in Chicago tomorrow, played with the Yankees and Chicago White Sox before being traded to Detroit in 1937 along with Tony Piet and Vernon Kennedy for Gerald Walker, Marvin Owen, and Mike Tresh. He has been a consistent .300 hitter and has a mark of .308 for 43 games this season.

Manitou Lead in Yacht Race Fades in Calm

ABOARD COAST GUARD CUTTER ESCANABA, July 24 [Special].—The spurt of Manitou, 62 foot yawl owned by James R. Lowe of Chicago, was halted late tonight when it became virtually becalmed at buoy No. 5, near White Shoal lighthouse, twenty-six miles from the finish line at Mackinac Island. Manitou was first to finish in last year's Chicago-Mackinac race.

Earlier in the day, Manitou had passed the early leader in the cruising division, Southern Cross, owned by Robert P. Benedict of Jackson Park club. The Chicago craft also yielded to Windigo, a 71 footer sailing for the Seewanhaka-Corinthian Yacht club of New York. Tonight Windigo was only a mile astern of Manitou and apparently closing in. Southern Cross and Tomahawk were two miles back of Manitou.

With a normal ten mile wind, Manitou could have negotiated the remaining distance by midnight, but unless a sudden breeze came up it was improbable that it would cross the finish line until after daybreak. There was little hope, however, for an improvement in the wind conditions.

Hope, representing the Columbia Yacht club of Chicago, and Gloriant of the Racine, Wis., Yacht club, were holding to their lead in the Universal division, with a two mile advantage over Revenge, Hornet, and Warrior, which followed in that order.

BOSTWICK FIELD DEFEATS ROSLYN IN 20 GOAL POLO

Roslyn, N. Y., July 24 [Special].—Semi-final brackets in the national twenty goal polo tournament were filled this afternoon when the last two matches of the second round were completed.

Bostwick Field came from behind to defeat Roslyn, 7 to 5, and the League of Nations team, with the Australian, Bob Skene, starring, stopped Tommy Hitchcock's Sands Point four, 12 to 8.

RAMPAGING SOX MEET BOSTON IN 2 GAMES TODAY

Knott and Marcum Slated to Do Pitching.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass, July 24.—The triumphant and highly skilled White Sox reached Boston this afternoon determined to see what can be done about second place in the American league standings. If everything goes as well as expected here, they will start leveling on first place next Friday, when they enter the home of the Yanks.

John Marcum.

Jack Knott and Johnny Marcum, who have done their part in the Sox's drive which has seen them win seventeen of their last twenty-two games, are slated to pitch in tomorrow's double-header.

They Did It Once.

Beyond that the lads have sweet memories of what they did against the Red Sox last week. Four out of five that series went, you remember, with shutouts in the last two games and only one run in the last twenty-nine innings.

The Sox will play six teams ere they return to Chicago to inspect their new light plant and prepare for a flock of night games in Comiskey park. From here they go to New York, then to Philadelphia, Washington, Detroit, and Cleveland. They should have second place clinched when they get home to entertain the St. Louis Browns on Aug. 14 and 15.

Popular in East.

The Sox will find they have been attracting a great deal of interest throughout the east. In their sprints of two and three seasons ago there was considerable scoffing at the Sox attainments by fans and observers along the Atlantic seaboard.

Moreover, there are thousands, apparently, who want to see the Yankees hauled down and would like to have either the Sox of white or the Sox of red do the pulling.

There's an amazing DIFFERENCE in beers!

ILLINOIS CENTRAL NET OPERATING INCOME HIGHER

$5,828,871 in Half Year; Lower in June.

Net operating income of the Illinois Central railroad for the six months ended June 30 rose to $5,828,871, from $5,601,921 in the corresponding period of 1938, the road reported yesterday. June net operating income, however, declined to $676,199, compared with $827,857 in the similar month last year.

Higher net operating income in the first six months of 1939 was also reported by the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad. Its net operating income of $176,771 compared with $107,221 in the corresponding period last year. In June the road's net operating income declined to $18,551, against $24,563 during June, 1938.

Soo Line Earns More.

The Soo Line announced June net operating income of $243,803, compared with $22,806 for the corresponding month of 1938. Its net operating loss for the first half of the year was reduced to $419,863 from $1,154,687 in the first six months last year.

The St. Louis-San Francisco railroad reported June net operating income nearly double that of the corresponding month last year. It totaled $483,461, against $203,271 for June, 1938. In the first six months of the current year, net operating income was $382,826, against net operating loss of $831,075 in the first half of 1938.

NEW YORK GROUP DROPS FIGHT ON COAL HEARINGS

Washington, D. C., July 24.—(AP)—The Associated Industries of New York contended briefly today that the interior department's new coal division could not fix prices, but later withdrew its motion to quash a hearing begun this morning.

First, Counsel John W. Kilbourn argued that any hearing would be invalid, on the ground that the old bituminous coal commission, which was abolished in recent government reorganization, could not transfer its powers. He withdrew his motion when he said he had found the new division had issued necessary orders ratifying action of the old commission.

Fifty coal companies and twelve consumers organizations sent representatives to the hearing, which involves coördinated minimum prices for soft coal in the area stretching from Pennsylvania to Kansas and Oklahoma, and from Canada to Alabama.

BLAST FURNACE THEORY.

Investors' Guide: I recently ran across a reference to the "blast furnace theory" of predicting stock prices. I've heard of numerous schemes to foretell stock prices, but not of this one. What is it?—H. N.

Answer: The blast furnace barometer of stock prices was originally offered by Col. Leonard P. Ayres of the Cleveland Trust company. It enjoyed considerable popularity for a time, but is not well known today. The theory is simplicity itself: It is:

When more than 60 per cent of the blast furnaces of the country are in operation, the country is in a prosperous period. Stocks are at or near their high points and should be sold. When the number of blast furnaces falls below the 60 per cent mark, stocks are at or near their low points and should be bought.

"LOUSY ARKS."

Investors' Guide: In a recent conversation with some bond traders I heard a reference to the "Lousy Ark" bonds. What are they, and are they really that bad?—J. D.

Answer: Traders on the New York Bond market have a set of abbreviated titles for certain issues. This is one of them. The term "Lousy Arks" refers to the Louisiana and Arkansas railway first 5s of 1969. It is strictly an abbreviated form, and not descriptive. The bonds have a fairly good rating.

MARMON MOTOR.

Investors' Guide: I bought 100 shares of Marmon Motor just two days before trading was suspended in the stock. Can you inform me if it has any value today?—N. V.

Answer: You got the wrong stock at the wrong time in the automobile field. Marmon is among the many dead in that competitive industry. The stock has no value today.

GRAINS PLUNGE TO NEW LOWS IN SELLING FLOOD

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$0.60½	$0.63½	$0.68
Corn	.38⅞	.39⅞	.56⅞
Oats	.24¾	.25½	.24½
Rye	.39¼	.40⅜	.48⅝
Soy beans	.66½	.68⅝	.83½

A wave of selling to liquidate holdings of grain futures engulfed buyers on North American exchanges yesterday. All deliveries of wheat, corn, and other grains declined to new low prices for the season. In many instances it was necessary to go back to 1933 to find prices as low as they were yesterday.

Wheat led the decline. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at losses of 2⅞ to 3 cents a bushel. Corn was 1 to 1¼ cents lower. Oats declined ¾ cent. Wheat futures in Minneapolis closed with losses of 3⅛ to 3¼ cents. Winnipeg wheat was 1⅝ to 1¾ cents lower.

Wheat Declines Steadily.

Wheat prices have been declining for a number of months. The September delivery sold yesterday as low as 60¾ cents, or within ¾ cent of the lowest price at which any future has been quoted since 1933 on the Chicago Board of Trade.

The surplus of wheat in the United States and other countries is responsible for the steady decline in the market, grain men said. The world's wheat crop in 1938-'39 was 4,471,000,000 bushels. In addition 602,000,000 bushels were carried over from the preceding season, making a total available supply of more than 5 billion bushels, by far the largest on record.

It is estimated that approximately 1,100,000,000 bushels of old wheat were carried over into 1939-'40, or current season. The world's wheat harvest this year is expected to be about 4 billion bushels.

Markets Lack Rallying Power.

At no time yesterday did the grain markets show a disposition to rally, and closing trades were at the bottom. Brokers who stood in the trading pits on the Chicago Board of Trade said a large part of the selling orders for futures was in small lots, indicating that "tired" speculators were liquidating their holdings.

Reports that England had filled all available storage space in that country and would seek to accumulate a substantial emergency reserve of wheat in Canada had much influence on sentiment. Speculators construed this as indicating that there would be difficulty in selling large quantities of wheat to England.

Favorable crop reports from a large part of the Canadian northwest also were a factor in depressing the wheat market.

Liverpool Wheat Declines.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ¾ to 1 cent a bushel lower, and came within a small fraction of the all-time low prices established in the English market last week.

Routine news attracted little attention from traders. An increase of 3 788,000 bushels of wheat in the domestic visible supply swelled the total to 129,515,000 bushels, a gain of about 63,000,000 bushels in the last four weeks. The movement to terminal markets, however, has fallen sharply. Receipts at Chicago yesterday were about 300 cars, or less than one-third of the 1,010 cars received a week ago.

There were reports that a fair amount of American corn was sold for export yesterday. The decline in prices was said to have put American corn at a discount under Argentine grain for August shipment to Liverpool.

Plan to Store Loan Corn.

Announcement that the department of agriculture would buy steel storage bins in an effort to hold back 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels of corn expected to be turned over to the AAA on Aug. 1 on defaulted loans to farmers failed to affect the market. About 257,000,000 bushels of corn are pledged to the government for loans. This was less than one-third of the farm reserves, as officially estimated on July 1.

Following yesterday's sharp break in wheat prices, flour brokers in most milling centers reduced the price of wheat flour 10 cents a barrel of 196 pounds. Rye flour was reduced 5 cents a barrel. At the same time the Agricultural Adjustment administration announced an increase of 15 cents a barrel in the export subsidy on flour.

Big Holders Shift Stocks in Own Firms

Officers, directors, and principal stockholders disposed of more of their companies' securities in May than they acquired during the month, it was indicated yesterday by the Securities and Exchange commission. The SEC released a supplemental summary of securities transactions during May reported by corporation officials and by stockholders owning more than 10 per cent of the firms' securities.

Give Away Many Shares.

L. A. Warren, Oakland, Cal., president and treasurer of the Safeway Stores, Inc., gave away 2,000 common shares of his company, retaining 2,400.

Another gift was that of Robert C. Graham, Detroit, Mich., vice president of Graham Paige Motors corporation. He gave away 3,800 shares of the company's common stock and held 51,853 at the end of the month.

George Hay Whigham, New York, purchased 2,000 shares of Celanese Corporation of America 7 per cent first participating preferred stock. He had not held any of the preferred stock on May 1. As director of the company, he owned 8,293 shares of common stock during May.

W. P. Chrysler Jr., New York, received 450 shares of common stock of the Chrysler corporation as a distribution from a trust. This increased his holdings to 500 shares. He is a director.

Puts Shares in Trusts.

John A. McCormick, Chicago, transferred to trusts 1,300 shares of common stock of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company, and 1,300 shares of common stock of the Independent Pneumatic Tool company. He is chairman of the board of both companies. The transactions reduced his holdings of Great Lakes Dredge and Dock to 17,632 shares and of Independent Pneumatic Tool to 18,158 shares.

A. P. de Seversky, Northport, Long Island, N. Y., reduced his holdings of common stock of the Seversky Aircraft corporation by 2,500 to 74,229 shares. In April he had received 35,714 shares in exchange for a note. He is a director.

NEW PWA LOANS, GRANTS OPPOSED BY MORGENTHAU

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP) — Secretary Morgenthau said today he was "against" any new appropriations for PWA grants and loans.

The treasury head made the statement to reporters after talking to a delegation led by Representative Starnes [D., Ala.], author of a bill to appropriate $350,000,000 for new PWA grants and loans. The Starnes bill would give municipalities a 30 per cent grant and 70 per cent loan, in contrast to the 45 per cent grant and 55 per cent loan formerly extended by the Public Works administration.

"I am for the self-liquidating bill," Morgenthau said, "and I can't be for that and the Starnes bill at the same time."

Process for Making Rubber from Sugar Cane Patented

New York, July 24 [Special.]—A process for making synthetic rubber from sugar cane, perfected by Ernest Kleiber, Swiss chemist, has been patented in the United States, the National Farm Chemurgic council reported today. The formula includes cane sugar, hydrochloric acid, nitric acid, and oil of turpentine. Louisiana cane growers are investigating the product.

Dutch, Swiss Currencies Gain; Others Unchanged

Swiss and Dutch currencies rose in value in terms of the dollar yesterday in foreign exchange transactions at New York. The Dutch guilder gained 0.09 cent, closing at 53.63 cents. The Swiss franc advanced 0.02½ cent to 22.58 cents. Other major European currencies were unchanged.

Board of Education Calls $464,000 of Tax Warants

Board of education tax anticipation warants totaling $464,000, with $12,561 interest, were called for payment yesterday. The warants are from the 1938 educational, building, and playground funds, and are numbered E-4325 to 4443, B-3561 to 3656, and P-225 to 228.

STEEL INDUSTRY SWINGING INTO HIGHER SPEED

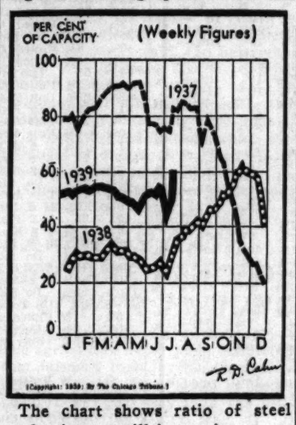
Output Is Largest in Eight Months.

The nation's steel industry is swinging into higher gear this week with mills producing at 60.6 per cent of capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday. The scheduled rate shows a gain of 4.2 points, or 7.4 per cent, over last week's rate and establishes a new 1939 peak for the second consecutive week.

In the last three weeks, steel operations have swung up more than 20 points. A month ago operations were at 54.3 per cent of capacity, but in the following week a slump to about 40 per cent was recorded. The rate for the current week will be the highest since the week of Nov. 28, 1938, when it was 60.7 per cent. A year ago the rate was 37.0 per cent.

Auto Steel Market Stabilized.

Detroit dispatches yesterday said the market for flat rolled sheet steel appears to have stabilized at the low levels established during the May price war. Automobile manufacturers at that time placed blanket orders for 1940 requirements, with the privilege of releasing specifications and tonnages as needed. Firms which did not order then were assured they could buy for 1940 models later at the May prices.



The chart shows ratio of steel production to mills' capacity.

It was understood the Ford Motor company is in the market for 100,000 tons of flat rolled sheets to supplement its own mill production. Ford is not receiving any concessions other than those available since May, it was said.

Structural Awards Fair.

The structural steel business last week was marked by a fair volume of smaller awards, although no individually large contracts were placed. Awards included 4,200 tons of structural shapes for a Washington, D. C., office building, 2,000 tons for a New Orleans stadium, about 3,500 tons for various bridges, 1,300 tons for an air line terminal at Pershing square, New York, and 1,000 tons of reënforcing bars for the Panama canal.

Awards to be let soon include about 8,000 tons of various types of steel to be used in construction of the Chicago subway.

Erie Splits 4,047 Ton Rail Order Between Two Firms

The Erie railroad yesterday placed orders for 4,047 tons of heavy rail, dividing the business between the Bethlehem and the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporations.

Bill Drafted to Let Rails Adjust Debts

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—Railroads would be permitted during the next year to modify and adjust their debts with consent of three-fourths of their creditors under a compromise bill approved by a house-senate committee today.

Terms of the bill were not made public pending completion of work by a legislative draftsman.

The house previously had enacted a measure which would have permitted all roads not now in bankruptcy to work out agreements with their creditors. The senate imposed restrictions which would have limited the effect of the bill to the Baltimore and Ohio and Lehigh Valley railroads.

Fourth of Creditors Could Act.

Under the compromise bill 25 per cent of a road's creditors could petition the Interstate Commerce commission for authority to effect a debt adjustment plan and issue securities.

After the I. C. C. had been satisfied that standards set forth in the bill had been met, and after two-thirds of the creditors, including at least a majority of each class, approved, a debt adjustment plan could be submitted to a federal court.

The court might then put it into effect after 75 per cent of the creditors, including 60 per cent of each class, had given assent.

Amend Transportation Bill.

Meantime farm blocs, in at least temporary control of the house, wrote into pending transportation legislation two amendments intended to equalize freight rates on agricultural and industrial products.

House members tentatively approved a declaration that rate reductions allowed on manufactured products for export be applied also to exportable supplies from the farm.

Then they rewrote the authorization for the I. C. C. to investigate freight rate differentials between sections of the country so as to include farm products in the study, as well as manufactured commodities.

Vote Near on Waterway Issue.

Earlier, the bi-partisan bloc which has pledged itself to eliminate provisions for I. C. C. control of waterways won a preliminary skirmish. It put into the bill instructions that the I. C. C. administer the act to "maintain the inherent rights of rail, water and truck carriers." A vote is expected tomorrow on the question of eliminating the section which would bring waterways under the I. C. C.

The house added tentatively an amendment forbidding the commission to approve any consolidation which would "cause unemployment of workers or impair their rights."

BENDIX' DEBTS EXCEED ASSETS BY 12½ MILLIONS

South Bend, Ind., July 24 (AP).—Vincent Bendix, president of the Bendix Aviation corporation, who has admitted bankruptcy in his personal finances, filed a schedule of assets and liabilities in United States District court here today. He listed liabilities of $14,435,979 and assets of $1,868,279.

The bankruptcy action against Bendix was filed several weeks ago by a group of Chicago real estate bond holders whose investments were personally guaranteed by Bendix more than ten years ago.

The indebtedness to the Chicago bondholders makes up the larger part of the liabilities. These obligations are included in unsecured claims totaling $13,616,369. Other large obligations are secured claims of $366,777 and accommodation paper totaling $371,222.

Negotiable and non-negotiable instruments and securities totaling $1,296,709 make up most of the assets.

AIRCRAFT FIRMS ARE PREPARED TO LIFT OUTPUT

Can Meet All Needs, Officials Say.

With production already boosted by 40 per cent within less than a year, American airplane manufacturing plants are prepared to key their operations to a still higher pitch, company spokesmen reported yesterday. They said the plants will be able to turn out military craft being ordered by the United States government in volume running into several hundred million dollars, and still produce civil and military craft for domestic and foreign interests which are being ordered in unprecedented volume.

Operators of air transportation systems expressed confidence that the manufacturing industry will be able to supply their increasingly large demands for equipment.

Assure Requisite Production.

Queried on the industry's ability to keep abreast of the flood of orders, a representative of the Douglas Aircraft company said: "Barring unforeseen emergencies, there is nothing to prevent this company from continuing its world-wide share of production and delivery of transport planes." This company has had a generous share of the recent orders for military craft.

"We see no reason why transport production cannot continue to go on parallel to military production," the Boeing Aircraft company announced. This company is now producing a fleet of thirty-nine "flying fortresses" for the United States government.

J. H. Kindelberger, president of North American Aviation, Inc., which is reported to be producing more than 800 military planes this year, said: "Few people have any conception of the industry's productive capacity."

Air Lines Expect Equipment.

Representatives of United Air Lines, American Air Lines, and Transcontinental and Western Air concurred in the expression of one of their officials that no difficulty was expected in obtaining "any reasonable amount of equipment" within three or four months.

So impressed with the industry's productive power is Clinton M. Hester, administrator of the Civil Aeronautics authority, that he has predicted that within five years the United States will have a productive capacity in airplanes equal to that

COMMITTEE OF 100 TO PUSH DRIVE FOR 'GREATER CHICAGO'

Organization of a special committee of one hundred members to continue the campaign for civic improvement begun by the "Greater Chicago" committee was announced yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce. The new committee includes those most active among a larger group which recently obtained pledges totaling $541,000 to finance the "Greater Chicago" campaign.

Oscar G. Mayer, association president, announced that Donald M. Nelson, executive vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., will continue as general chairman of the campaign. The new group will hold its first meeting tomorrow afternoon in the Hotel La Salle.

Another of various meetings to map specific steps in the campaign was held last night in the Palmer House. Mayer announced that a special committee to investigate the feasibility of establishing an annual summer event for Chicago will be named this week. An event of the type of New Orleans' Mardi Gras is contemplated. He suggested Avery Brundage, American representative on the international Olympic committee, as chairman of the new Chicago group.

Austin Bank Will Repay 20% on Waived Deposits

Repayment of 20 per cent on the waived deposits of the Austin State bank of Chicago was authorized yesterday by Edward J. Barrett, state auditor. The repayment, totaling $165,5$7, is the first since depositors waived 60 per cent of their claims to aid the bank's reopening following the moratorium in 1933. Depositors will be notified as to when they may receive checks.

FOUR DIVIDENDS OF 25C ORDERED BY SUPERIOR OIL

The Superior Oil Company of California yesterday declared four 25 cent dividends on the common stock, payable Aug. 20, Nov. 20, Feb. 20, and May 20. The last dividend paid by the company was 75 cents on Aug. 20, 1937.

CHICAGO HOME BUILDING CLIMBS IN HALF YEAR

Contracts awarded for residential building in the Chicago metropolitan area during the first half of this year were valued at $22,137,000, the F. W. Dodge corporation reported yesterday. For the first six months of 1938 the total was only $9,683,000.

Nonresidential building in the Chicago area moved much slower than residential construction during the half year. Contracts totaled $13,898,000. For the corresponding six months of 1938 the total was $11,536,000.

QUARTER PROFIT OF PEOPLES GAS DIPS TO $521,686

But 6 Month Income Exceeds Year Ago.

The Peoples Gas Light and Coke company and subsidiaries yesterday reported net income of $521,686 in the quarter ended June 30, compared with net income of $672,178 in the corresponding period last year. Earnings per share amounted to 80 cents, against $1.02 in the 1938 quarter.

R. F. Bensinger reports gain for Brunswick-Balke-Collender.

In the six months ended last month, however, the company's profit rose to $1,527,132, equal to $2.33 a share, from $1,371,969, equal to $2.09 a share, in the 1938 period. For the twelve months ended June 30 net income declined to $1,782,487, or $2.72 a share, from $1,860,765, or $2.84 a share, in the twelve months ended June 30, 1938.

Part of Income Impounded.

The net income figures in each case are after deductions of reserves set aside pending final decision in rate litigation. The funds set aside represent revenue resulting from rate increases made effective Feb. 5, 1938.

The amounts impounded were as follows: $630,212 in the quarter ended last June 30; $633,994 in the corresponding 1938 quarter; $1,261,187 in

RECENTLY The Chicago Stock Exchange set out to bring home a number of the stocks of corporations that had originated in this section of the country or now have extensive interests in the Central West ... so that investors and traders might buy and sell them here.

Thirty-four Companies accepted our invitation in 1938 ... and now, under our Optional Odd-Lot System, the stocks of 65 of the country's largest corporations can be bought and sold on The Chicago Stock Exchange. This system has advantages for the investor and trader in the Central West ... prompt service in executing and reporting orders. .. settlement on the second business day ... and no State Transfer tax to pay in selling transactions or purchases of odd lots made on the Exchange.

Most brokerage firms in Chicago are members of The Chicago Stock Exchange. Any one of them will be glad to explain these advantages more fully on request. And ask specifically for the Optional Odd Lot Folder.

THE CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE ESTABLISHED 1882

Commemorating a half century of progress and expanding service

Michigan Boulevard as The Northern Trust Company first knew it in 1889

"The secret of success is constancy to purpose." So wrote Benjamin Disraeli. And so thought the founders of The Northern Trust Company. They resolved to be satisfied with nothing less than continuous adherence to their basic policies—friendliness and sound banking and trust practice. Chicagoans of 1889, responsive to the warm personal character of the new institution, were quick to give it their support and patronage.

This year, The Northern Trust Company celebrates its Golden Anniversary. With Chicago, it has grown step by step, always prepared to expand its facilities to meet the increasing financial and estate needs of business and individuals. But today, you will find here the same personal attention—the same high standards—that made the first customers of The Northern Trust Company so enthusiastic about their banking and trust relationship.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

Fractionally higher were Pennsylvania railroad general 4½s of '65 at 100⅝, Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s of '62 at 21½, American Telephone 3¼s of '66 at 109¾, Western Union 5s of '60 at 70⅞, and Montana Power 3¾s at 100⅝.

Down part of a point were Delaware & Hudson 4s at 59⅝, Northern Pacific 4s at 71, Anaconda Copper 4½s at 106⅜, International Paper 5s at 98½, and International Hydro-Electric 6s at 85½.

Off sharply, touching record lows, were loans of Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway as Wall street heard a hitch might arise in the carrier's efforts to get interstate commerce commission approval of a $7,500,000 note issue, to be guaranteed by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

United States government issues closed 12-32s a of a point higher to 4-32ds lower. Japanese 5½s closed 2½ higher at 57, but the 6½s lost ½ at 75½.

Chicago Stocks.

American Public Service preferred stock advanced 7 points in trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. It reached its highest price of the year, as did seven other issues. Muskegon Motor advanced more than a point.

Among other issues, Aviation corporation, Fuller Manufacturing, and Mickelberry's Food Products were up fractionally. Small losses were shown by Commonwealth Edison, Middle West, and other trading favorites.

Trading involved 38,000 shares. Of 113 issues traded, fifty-three advanced, thirty-two declined, and the others were unchanged.

Bank Stocks.

STOCKS WEAKEN AFTER UPSURGE OF LAST WEEK

Losses in Active Issues Mostly Fractional.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 24.—Light selling, apparently prompted by last week's sharp advance, forced the stock market today to close irregularly lower. There was sufficient underlying strength, however, to prevent prices from slipping too much. Losses among active issues were mostly fractional.

The list opened lower under some relatively large offerings, attempted to rally around midday, but drifted lower again in the afternoon. After the brisk opening trading quieted. Volume was 1,069,210 shares.

In the face of continued better statistical business information observers attributed today's slight reaction to the fact that numerous traders chose to realize profits on shares bought before prices started to climb.

Business News Cheerful.

Rated the day's most important news was the additional spurt in steel production to the highest level of the year. The federal reserve report of a sharp rise in industrial production for June and indications of a firmer copper market, also contributed to the optimistic but cautious attitude in Wall street. Foreign political developments were largely ignored.

Standard industrial stocks, notably United States Steel, Chrysler, United States Rubber, Sears-Roebuck, General Electric, Republic Steel, Bethlehem Steel, and Montgomery Ward declined fractions to about a point.

Reflecting the spread of labor difficulties to Fisher Body plant No. 1 of Buick, General Motors lost 1¼ points.

Loft Active and Lower.

Loft again was the most active issue. The stock broke 2 points shortly after the opening, but pared that loss to 1⅜ points.

Two buying splurges in power and light shares gave that section a relatively firm trend. The rise in electric power output helped, it was said. Columbia Gas and Electric, United Corporation, Engineers Public Service, and Electric Power and Light edged active turnover. Consolidated Edison, American Water Works, Commonwealth Edison, and North American company closed lower.

Fractional price changes ruled in the carrier section. Aviation issues closed uniformly lower, with Douglas, Boeing, and Bendix losing a point or so each. Oils closed mixed in a narrow range.

FIRM MAY USE RECOVERED TAX AS PENSION FUND

Minneapolis, Minn., July 24 (AP)—A proposal to utilize a settlement of $1,659,522 of processing taxes for establishment of a pension fund for its 7,531 employés was announced today by General Mills, Inc., in its annual report to stockholders.

The taxes were paid under the agricultural adjustment act of 1933, which was subsequently invalidated. A settlement was made to the company by the government last year.

The company said unexpected recovery of the fund seemed to afford a particularly suitable opportunity for utilizing these unanticipated funds, plus an approximately equal amount from earned surplus, because of the unusual earnings of the year," to inaugurate the pension program.

The proposal will be submitted to the stockholders at a special meeting. The total fund proposed is $3,300,000.

Pick Des Moines as Fifth City for Food Stamp Plan

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP)—The agricultural department announced today the selection of Des Moines, Ia., as the fifth city for trial of its food stamp plan to distribute surplus farm products to persons on relief. One group of 2,500 relief recipients will receive free blue stamps. The stamps will be accepted by merchants for food designated as surplus. The other 10,700 relief clients will buy, for cash, orange colored stamps with which to purchase any food product. The purchasers will get free a dollar's worth of blue stamps for each $2 of orange stamps.

Treasury Borrows at Cost Equal to 0.019 Per Cent

The treasury department announced late yesterday that its weekly offering of ninety-one day bills was sold earlier in the day at an average price of 99.995, compared with 99.996 last week. On an interest basis the price was equivalent to borrowing at 0.019 per cent. Subscriptions to the $200,000,000 offering of Commodity Credit corporation ⅝ per cent notes ended yesterday at the close of business. Announcement of the amount of subscriptions and the basis of allotment probably will be made July 27, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said.

Utility Asks Confirmation of Property Sale to TVA

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP)—The Tennessee Utilities corporation has asked the federal power commission for a supplemental order authorizing consummation, as of Aug. 15, of the sale of its properties to the Tennessee Valley authority, the cities of Nashville and Chattanooga and 24 other purchasers for $78,600,000. The original sale agreement called for the closing of the deal by June 20 but a congressional deadlock over enabling legislation prevented consummation at that time.

Limit on Jap Cotton Trade in Philippines Is Renewed

Washington, D. C., July 24.—(AP)—The state department and the Japanese embassy agreed today to extend for one year an existing arrangement limiting Philippine imports of Japanese cotton goods to 45,000,000 square meters a year. The present agreement expires Aug. 1.

Du Pont Considers Converting Large Debenture Stock Issue

Directors of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., chemical and munitions producer, are considering the conversion of outstanding debenture stock into preferred shares, officials of the company announced yesterday at Wilmington, Del. Their announcement confirmed reports which were circulated when the price of the debentures declined on the New York Stock exchange late last week.

The announcement indicated that a decision may be delayed because the debenture stock cannot be redeemed until next Jan. 25. The stock, which closed yesterday above $133, is redeemable at $125 a share and accrued dividends.

Stock Has Priority.

The statement did not indicate the dividend rate on preferred shares which may be offered in exchange for the debenture stock, of which 1,098,495 shares were shown as outstanding in the company's most recent report. The debenture stock has priority over other classes and pays 6 per cent annually in dividends. Outstanding also are 500,000 shares of $4.50 cumulative preferred stock and more than 11 million shares of common.

The conversion, if undertaken, would mark an important step in the financial affairs of du Pont, which holds a substantial stock interest in General Motors corporation. Du Pont's common stock closed yesterday at 158½ and its 4½ per cent preferred at 133⅜.

Shell Union Oil Calls Issue.

Following the recent offering of $85,000,000 in 2½ per cent debentures, the Shell Union Oil corporation announced it will redeem $57,427,000 of outstanding 3½ per cent debentures. The issue will be redeemed at 102½ on or before Aug. 24.

In an amendment to its registration statement filed with the Securities and Exchange commission, the Kansas Power and Light company announced its proposed issue of $26,500,000 of first mortgage 3½ per cent bonds would be offered at 108½.

EXCHANGE'S MEMBER FIRMS ASKED TO LIST FUNDS OF CUSTOMERS

New York, July 24 (AP)—The New York Stock exchange has asked member firms to take inventory of all customers' cash, securities and credits in their custody, and report the amount to the exchange by Aug. 10, it was disclosed today.

The purpose of the inventory was not stated, but there were reports in Wall street that information was being collected in connection with a study by a four-man board of feasibility of creating a "brokerage bank."

There were reports that the data might be submitted to insurance companies to ascertain whether a blanket insurance policy covering security holdings and credit balances of brokerage customers might be obtained to substitute for the bank suggested by Jerome Frank, chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission.

Frank recently said he thought such a bank should be established as a further safeguard to investors against loss in firm failures.

PERMIT BRANIFF'S CHICAGO-TEXAS LINE TO CONTINUE

The Civil Aeronautics authority at Washington, D. C., announced yesterday it had issued certificates permitting Braniff Airways, Inc., to continue its passenger, mail, and express service between Chicago and points in Texas. Operations heretofore had been conducted with the approval of postal and other authorities.

No announcement was made on the line's petitions to extend its service beyond the Texas points already served, or the establishment of service between Kansas City, Mo., and Minneapolis, Minn., by way of Des Moines, Ia.

San Antonio, Houston, Dallas, and Brownsville are the Texas cities already on the company's routes. Unless permission is granted to extend service to Minneapolis the line's northermost point will remain at Chicago.

Motions Heard at Inquiry on Cargill's Grain Charge

Preliminary motions before the oral arguments on the plea of the Chicago Board of Trade to dismiss manipulation charges filed against it by Cargill, Inc., were heard yesterday at the Hotel Sherman. The oral arguments will begin today. If Referee S. Abbot Maginnis denies the plea, the hearing will be resumed and the exchange will present its defense before the Commodity Exchange commission. Thus far the hearings have been occupied with the presentation of Cargill's charges that the board manipulated corn prices in September, 1937.

C.I.O. Steel Union Leaders Discuss Contract Program

Leaders of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, met in Chicago yesterday to discuss efforts to obtain contracts with the smaller steel companies against which the union struck in 1937. They were headed by Philip Murray, S. W. O. C. chief and vice president of the C. I. O. He said there was little likelihood of a renewal of the strike, which affected 100,000 workers in the Calumet area and in Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Michigan. Murray said the union's problems throughout the nation also would be discussed.

But Six Months' Earnings Exceed Year Ago.

the first half of 1939; $894,537 in the first half of 1938; $2,506,951 in the twelve months ended last June 30, and $894,537 in the preceding twelve months.

George A. Ranney, chairman of the company, told stockholders total gas sales in therms during the second quarter of the year were 14.44 per cent above those of the corresponding quarter of 1934. Gas sales revenue, including that from the increased rates, rose 4.34 per cent.

General Mills Has Increase.

General Mills, Inc., and subsidiaries yesterday reported net income of $6,451,226 in the fiscal year ended May 31. Earnings per share amounted to $7.69. This compared with net income of $4,110,631, or $4.17 a share, in the preceding fiscal year. The company, with headquarters in Minneapolis, makes flour and cereal products.

Phillips Petroleum company, Bartlesville, Okla., reported lower earnings for the first half of 1939 than a year earlier. The company had net income of $3,774,069, equal to 85 cents a share, in the first six months this year, compared with profit of $5,585,140, or $1.26 a share, in the corresponding 1938 period.

Frank Phillips, chairman, said in a semi-annual statement to stockholders that the company's earnings for the second quarter were 54 per cent above those of the first quarter because of improvement in the market prices for motor fuel and an increased volume of sales.

Reports Earnings Gain.

Improved earnings for the six months ended in June were announced by Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, Chicago manufacturer of billiard tables and supplies. Net income rose to $374,831, equal to 67 cents a share, compared with profit of $123,578, or 9 cents a share, in the first half of 1938. For the quarter ended June 30 net income increased to $239,632, against $21,795 in the second quarter last year and $135,199 in the quarter ended March 31, 1939.

Brunswick-Balke-Collender's sales in the first half of 1939 increased 25.1 per cent over those of the corresponding period last year. In dollar volume sales totaled $4,918,210, against $3,931,249 in the first half of 1938.

"The third quarter of the year ordinarily reflects the largest sales volume of any quarter, and is the quarter in which operations are most profitable," R. F. Bensinger, president of the company, said. "It appears reasonable to expect that 1939 will be no exception in this regard. The amount of unshipped orders on hand June 29 was 29 per cent larger than a year earlier, and new business continues to come in at a satisfactory rate."

DISCOVER METAL ALLOY NEARLY AS HARD AS DIAMOND

New York, July 24 [Special].—The American Chemical society today announced discovery of a metallic compound almost as hard as diamonds and capable of producing alloys strong enough to withstand pressures of 200,000 to 300,000 pounds per square inch.

This compound, formed of tungsten, titanium, and carbon, was reported to the society by Philip M. McKenna of the McKennna Metals company of Latrobe, Pa.

Because of its ability to retain a sharp cutting edge at high temperatures, the report said, the new compound will increase the speed with which stainless steels can be machined and will make possible the production of extremely hard metals. In a metallurgical scale in which the hardness of diamonds is rated at 10, the new compound is rated at 9.8. It was produced in crucibles made from pure graphite.

FARMERS' CASH INCOME PLACED LOWER IN JUNE

Washington, D. C., July 24 (AP).—The agriculture department estimated that farmers' cash income from marketings totaled $501,000,000 in June, about 1 per cent less than the estimate of $508,000,000 in May.

Usually, the department said, the reverse is true with incomes, increasing slightly from May to June. Income this June was 3 per cent smaller than the $514,000,000 reported for June, 1938.

Government payments to farmers amounted to $51,000,000 in June, about $30,000,000 less than in May. Including government payments, the farmers June income totaled $552,000,000, compared with $589,000,000 in May and $559,000,000 in June, 1938.

The June estimates brought income from marketing to $2,967,000,000 for the first half of 1939, or about 4 per cent less than the estimate of $3,084,000,000 from January through June a year ago.

WEEK'S BUSINESS FAILURES AT LOW MARK FOR YEAR

New York, July 24.—[Special.]—Business failures in the week ended July 20 totaled 200, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today. This was the smallest number reported for any full week this year.

In the corresponding week last year failures numbered 215 and in the preceding week, which was the first full week following Independence day, the figure was 212.

Insolvencies with liabilities exceeding $5,000 in the latest week numbered 105, compared with 123 in the preceding week and 145 in the corresponding week in 1938.

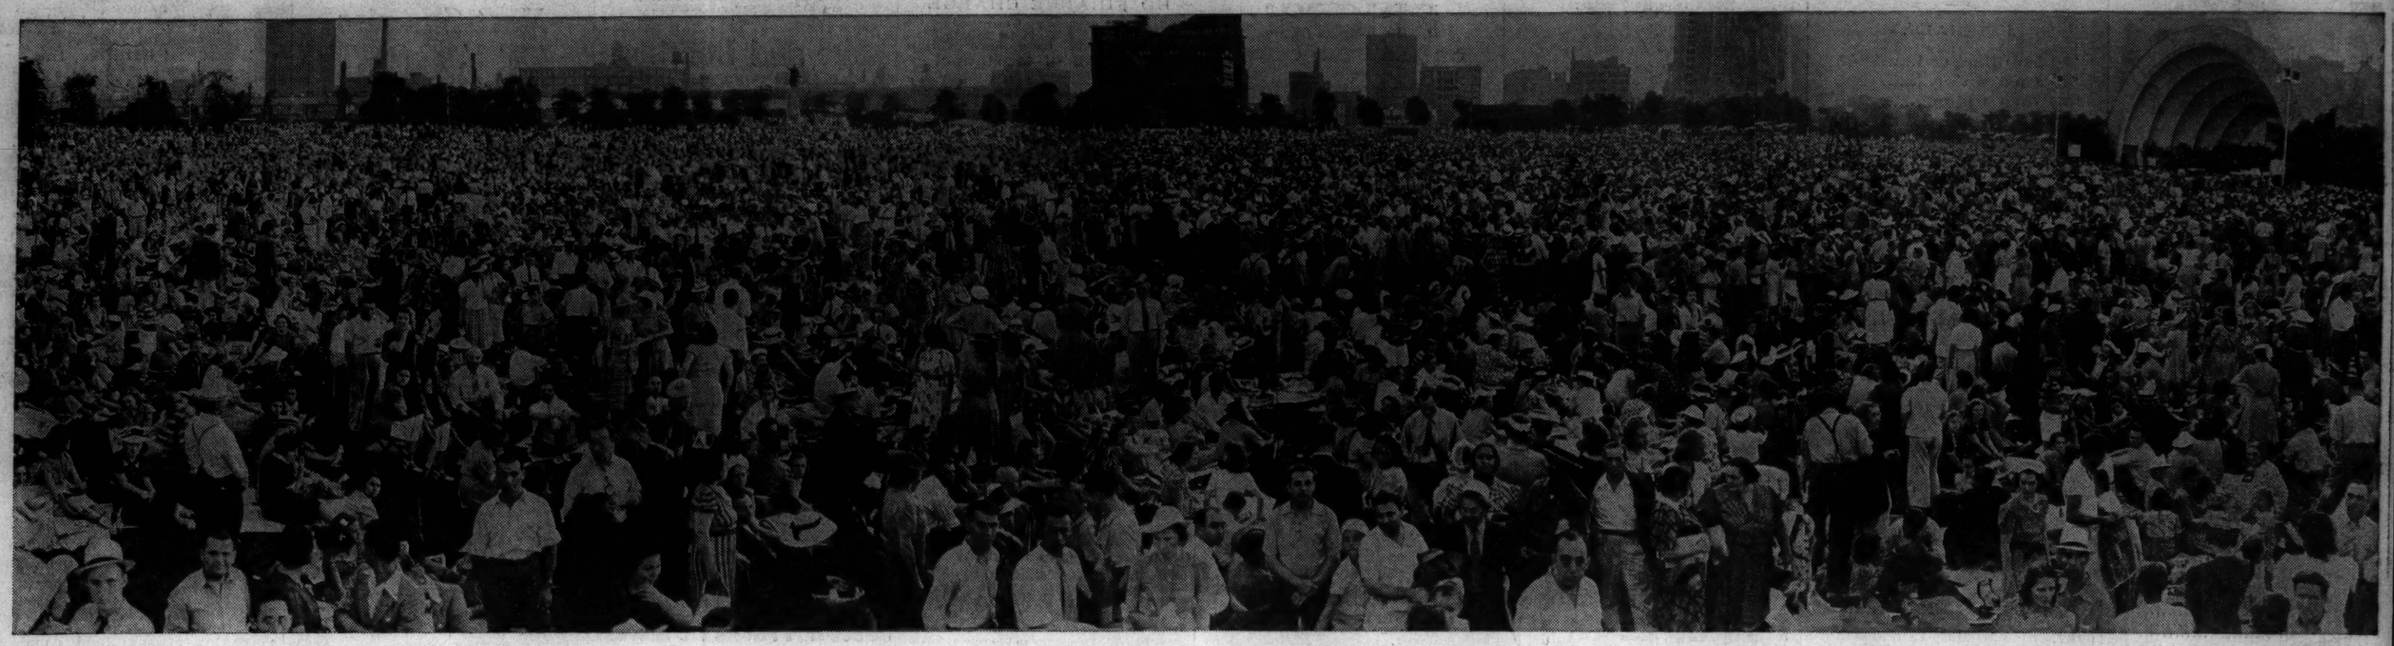
Record Breaking Crowd Hears Lily Pons in Grant Park—Horner Takes Summer Home in Highland Park



Part of the huge throng which filled Grant park from the bandshell at 11th street to Field museum last night to hear Lily Pons, guest soloist, and her husband, Andre Kostelanetz, guest conductor. The crowd also extended from Columbus drive to Leif Ericson drive. It was the largest in the five year history of the Grant park concert series. Several hundred persons sat on steps of Field museum, two blocks from the stage, to hear Miss Pons.
